The Frenzied Finance of Squires & Coaker.

Unable to stamper the independent electors on the worn out cries of Reids and Confederation, the Guppyite editors are now harping on the financial affairs of the country. The argument they are advancing in this direction, however, will prove just as futile, for they are too silly and illogical to impress the minds of any man, no matter how illiterate. The Squires organ denounces the taxing of the profits of the big business man, in one column of the paper, and states this is a wrong proceeding as when you tax a man thus he gets it off the consumer by forcing up prices. In another column of his paper, the "Star" editor puts forth the plea that Squires is going to reduce taxation on the consumer by adjusting it so that the rich man will pay more taxes. Was there ever read such nonsense as this. He abuses the Government now for taxing the rich man, because he says the poor man must pay this tax in the end, and then follows up this argument in another far-off corner of his paper by declaring that if you put Squires in he will make the rich man pay much more even than he is doing now, so that, as he says, the poor will need to pay less. If the rich man under this Government is collecting his taxation off the poor consumer upon the tariff now in force as Squires is preaching, it must certainly follow as a natural consequence that if Squires is going to collect more taxation from the rich man, the poor man will be bled to death entirely. Take a concrete case for instance. Under the present tariff a rich man pays say, $100 duty on certain articles. Squires says the poor man must pay this back to the rich one. Put Squires in power and he says "I am going to make that rich man pay $200 on these goods." Isn't it clear millions would play havoc amongst the fishermen themselves, and farmers, laborers, tradesmen and everybody else in city and outport would suffer a proportionate share. The people of St. John's have enough to do now to pay their share of city and public revenue without having extra taxation imposed upon them by the frenzied finance schemes of Coaker and Squires, and are not going to run any risk of having their property, homes, savings and earnings swamped by the Guppyites who want to get in power. With such an undesirable element in control of the Government no wealthy capitalist abroad would spend a dollar in this country for developing purposes fearing the Bolshevik element amongst them would start a riot and swoop down upon it all for their own designs. The Colony would also see the last of obtaining any loans on our own behalf to meet maturing obligations, for Coakerism would put us in a hole that we should never get out of. In such a hole we would be at the mercy of the arch-Confederate W. D. Reid, who would buy us for a song and then get millions himself for selling us holus bolus to the Canadian Government. No such miserable, pitiable destiny will follow the return of the present Government to power, for there is a sound, solid, independent man at the helm just now who will not stand for any frenzied methods of finance such as Squires and Coaker plan. He is a man who commands the respect and confidence of the leading financiers abroad as witness his successful floating of the Colony's Victory Loan; he is a man of such outstanding high repute that, should conditions be disturbed to the extent that we would be obliged to seek further help from outside, wealthy investors would not hesitate to come to our assistance were he still at the helm. A man of sensible attainments and high rating, commercial and otherwise, such as Prime Minister Cashin, backed by a steady and stable Government, in any grave crisis that may arise, would be able to so help this Colony, because of the respect entertained for him and his Government abroad, that we need have no fear of the clutches of W. D. Reid or any other Confederation shark who is out to get us in his clutches. To sum up then, it is advisable for all voters to beware of Coaker and Squires with their frenzied finance and elect instead the Liberal Progressives.

No Strikes There!

Who is the highest-paid workman in the world? Probably the Cuban cigar-maker.
He is as skilled a workman as the blower of Venetian glass. He takes his trade very seriously, and his daily output represents at least a hundred cigars, identical in shape, size, and weight. His only implements are a block of maple and a small, curved knife. He smokes incessantly, and draws inspiration from a skilled electrician, whose business it is to read to the men while they are at work.
A traveller returning from Havana records the strange sight of hundreds of dusky Cubans hard at their task, while a reader, on a small, raised dais, entertains them with the weekly news or the latest novel. The reader's salary is drawn from the men themselves, but the Cuban's expensive tastes in the smoking line are the result of his employers' generosity. He smokes with the latter's sanction, and at their expense, and earns a good round sum per week into the bargain.

McDonald Gains Twenty Pounds Taking Tanlac

Also Gets Rid of Rheumatism After Tanlac Builds Him Up.

"If there was ever a time in my life when I felt better than I do since taking this Tanlac I can't remember it," said Rod C. McDonald, the blacksmith, living at 4 Cunard Street, Halifax, in telling of the remarkable results he has obtained from the medicine, recently.
"That spell of 'Flu' I had last fall," explained Mr. McDonald, "left me with stomach trouble and rheumatism and so weak and run-down that I couldn't shoe three horses without being completely exhausted. I had no appetite and my stomach was so upset that I never could eat anything it seemed to do me little or no good, as I fell off twenty-five pounds in weight. My nerves were so shattered that I would wake up at all hours of the night, never getting any sound sleep, and felt so bad in the mornings that it was all I could do to get off to the shop. And besides I was just hurt all over with rheumatism. My legs, arms and shoulders seemed to ache clean to the bone. My joints would get so stiff I could hardly bend them and in damp weather, especially, I couldn't make a move without just suffering agony. There was a constant pain in the small of my back and my arms and shoulders were so stiff and painful that it was difficult for me to raise my hands up to my head. I was so stiff and achy in the mornings that I had trouble getting my clothes on and between the rheumatism and that tired, worn-out feeling I was just about 'all in'."
"Just before I started on Tanlac I had made up my mind to stop trying to work and go to the country and see if that would help me, for I was getting worse all the time. In the meantime, I ran across a Tanlac testimonial that described my case so well that I concluded to see if the medicine would help me. Well, it has not only helped me, it almost made a new man of me. I have taken six bottles now and have gotten back twenty pounds of my lost weight already. My appetite is great and I am eating three hearty meals a day and my stomach never troubles me the least bit. And as to the rheumatism, I haven't had a touch of it since I finished my second bottle of Tanlac. I believe it has left me for good for I can work ten hours a day and never feel a sign of it. I can go to bed at eight o'clock at night and sleep like a log until six in the morning. All that tired, weak feeling is gone and I can now shoe an average of twelve horses a day and still feel fine. I don't feel the effects of the Flu now any more than I had never had it. In fact, I am just feeling fine and can recommend Tanlac as by far the best medicine I have ever used."
Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac Representative—adv.

Should Women Play Games?

CERTAINLY—BUT ONLY IF THEY
SELECT THEM WITH DIS-CRETION.

During the last few years women have taken such a great part in sport, and have proved themselves such adepts at all games, that one is beginning to wonder where it will all end.

So far as athletics are concerned, our girls will probably derive much benefit in some ways. Running, for instance, develops the lower limbs, raises the arches of the feet, and gives graceful carriage to the body; also the rapid movement stimulates the action of the heart, and, by oxygenating the blood, improves the complexion.

Tennis, rowing, and swimming also are games which a girl may take up safely, but the rougher sports, in which personal bodily contact and striving are involved, are not so suitable.

Sports to Avoid.

Such sports as football, tug-of-war, boxing, and wrestling are designed to strengthen a man's will and, in a measure, teach him how to bear pain. If adopted by the fair sex, the purpose will be lost, and an unpleasant hardness inculcated into the feminine temperament. There is a further consideration, too—that of permanent bodily injury, the risk of which is too great for women in men's games.

Another argument, which may be urged against the participation of women in the more violent forms of sport is that her face becomes horribly contorted in her strenuous efforts to win, and although such contortions are but momentary, they are bound to leave their mark upon the features if too often indulged in.

As regards football, the women's teams, which came into existence when the munition works were still running, are still very much alive, and it may be that the day will come when we shall see thousands of people flocking to watch the manoeuvres of twenty-two women players.

From a spectator's point of view, football seems to be taking just as keen a hold of women as it has done of men. It seems a pity that the conditions of the game do not render it more suitable for them as players.
