

ENTERED, according to Act of Congress, in the year 1876, by
D. APPLETON AND COMPANY,
In the Office of the Librarian of Congress, at Washington.

Uniform with this volume:

"HAND-BOOK OF SUMMER RESORTS." ILLUSTRATED.

"HAND-BOOK OF WINTER RESORTS." ILLUSTRATED.

ENC
A67

A F 1908 W 1000

THE main object of this "HAND-BOOK OF AMERICAN RESORTS" is the presentation of information in a concise and accessible form. It presents the information in a concise and accessible form, and the diffuseness of the information is a defect of a book which presents information which is more voluminous in dimension and consequence, omitting material of unimportant matter.

In order to make the system of classification throughout the volume for any particular street and the quest is further from the description in italics or in black thought worth the trouble even among notes the relative typography places whose names are selection; or, to put distinguished from wipitious.

The illustrations selected with an eye however, that, as a whole, idea of American cities scenery and engineering.

Much care has been up to date in its facts it is probable that omissions. The book thorough annual revision or suggestions. CON APPLETONS' HAND-BOOK New York.

M., mile or miles; sq. cor., corner; St., street; S