

Mr. Parris, their Minister, in New England. Part IV. Letters of a gentleman uninterested, endeavouring to prove the received opinions about Witchcraft to be orthodox. With short essays to their answers. Part V. A short historical account of matters of fact in that affair. To which is added, a postscript relating to a book entitled, The Life of Sir William Phips. Collected by Robert Calef, Merchant of Boston, in New England..... London. Small 4to. 11. 8s.

The head title after the preface, &c. is, "Another brand pluckt out of the burning." The author gave great offence at the time, by censuring the proceedings of the Courts respecting witches, at a time when most people believed in their existence. He deserves, however, unbounded praise, "for having withstood a delusion so strong, which had such powerful patrons, and was so fatal in its consequences, that most persons were afraid to appear in opposition. In his discussion with Cotton Mather, he is as superior to him in reasoning, as he was in good sense and courage."—N. A. Review, III. p. 316.
