

adapted to promote great moral and spiritual good. Let them but be conducted with discretion and in faith; then will "the Spirit be poured from on high," the enemies of truth will quail, infidelity be abashed, and the rejoicing church hail the victorious progress of a pure and primitive christianity.