

INTEREST TO WOMEN

MY PILLOWMOBILE.

It is my delight,
To speed in my Pillow Car;
To dance perchance,
Under sunny France,
Perhaps to the Polar Star.

I linger long
In the hills of Song,
I heard my ship
And take a trip
To glorious yesterday.

My Pillow train
Will jump from Spain
To Saturn, perhaps the Moon;
Then take the track
That leads me back
To the home of Eternal June.

Thru old Japan,
Beloochistan,
And Thibet and gay Pekin;
And thence we leap
Thru the vasty deep
To the haunts of the Tribes of Pin.

My Pillow Car's
Been up to Mars,
It travels both earth and air;
And, like the wind,
It leaves behind
The City of Woe and Care.

So come with me,
On a pillow spree,
For the Land of Dreams awhirl;
Thru joy and earth,
To joy and earth,
In my wonderful Pillowmobile.

Christie Macdonald's Career

Upper Canada province has contributed to the stage several women who have attained distinction in historic art. Notably Julia Arthur, Margaret Anglin, May and Flo Irwin and Roselle Knott. But Providence planned that so far the only Canadian woman who would uphold the Dominion in the sphere of scenic opera and musical comedy should spring from the Kelts in one of the cities by the sea.

Miss Christie Macdonald, now singing the leading female part with Frank Daniels' Co. in "Hook of Holland," was born in Pictou County, Nova Scotia. Strange paradox that this county, famed for the production of preachers and university presidents, should also be the first to send forth from one of its families a well-begotten creature who should adopt a profession which is usually supposed to be the antithesis of the college and church. But be that as it may, the point to remember is that Miss Macdonald in her profession of art has achieved a deserved and enviable distinction, not a whit behind her distinguished countrymen in their sphere and professions.

Miss Macdonald comes from a family which was artistic in temperament thru and thru. She gets her voice from her mother, who before her marriage was "Mrs. Jessie Macdonald," the reigning belle in her day. One of Miss Macdonald's brothers was an instrumentalist of excellent talent. Another brother has a remarkable lyric baritone voice, but has turned to another field of art where he has attained distinction as a designer and craftsman. It was reserved for Miss Macdonald herself to become the bright and shining star of her family and her country in the field of vocal music and operatic art.

From her Nova Scotia home she went to Boston, where she studied under Carl Breneman, who was a distinguished pupil of the Parisian teacher, Strigella, made famous by the fact that it was he who metamorphosed Jean De Heude from a harp into the most celebrated tenor in modern grand opera. Miss Macdonald still studies with Strigella, who has his studio now in New York. Her voice, which ranges from low C to upper E, is a lyric soprano, is remarkable for its purity and sweetness, and by her continued study of voice production and intonation, Miss Macdonald sings always as the linnet sings, artlessly but with perfect control of all vocal mechanism, and thus accomplishes the most difficult passages, runs and trills with the same ease and beautiful vocalism as if she were singing a simple folk song.

Miss Macdonald's first success was with Francis Wilson as Lucinda in "Half a King." Next she scored a triumph as Princess Minette (title role) in "The Bride Elect." Then followed her success in the role of Princess Sheik and with Peter Dally in "Hodge-Podge." She returned as leading woman with Francis Wilson in "The Foreword," and she has kept on achieving distinction and success in every part she has since undertaken.

It is a genuine pleasure for this chronicler to write this short sketch of Miss Macdonald, who has been known since childhood. It is not too much to say that, as a Canadian, she is not only an honor to her native country, but also to her native country.

The simple little apron here shown needs no commendation. It is easily made and laundered, and suited to the many apron fabrics. Broad ties of the material are attached under the arms and serve not only to hold the fullness in place, but add a dressy air to the garment as well. Crossbar muslin, linen, gingham and dimity are all suggested for the making. For a child of 5 years 2-3 yards of 36-inch material will be required.

Ban on Costly Dress

President Ella Sablin of Downer College, Milwaukee, one of the best known women in the west, has announced to her students that unless they wear hats in the college abstain from wearing hats and other garments in the extreme of fashion, she will put in effect a college uniform of gingham or some other cheap material, so that the poor girls will not be ashamed at the contrast between themselves and their wealthier schoolmates.

The order is expected to result in simpler clothing. The same order went into effect at the Wisconsin State University last week, applying only to hats, however.

A Question of Registration

How should a gentleman register his name and his wife's on the hotel book? "John Jones and wife" is to be found quite frequently. "John Jones and Mrs. Jones" is another way. "Mr. and Mrs. John Jones" is more frequent than "John Jones and Mrs. Jones." The other night one of the hotels had "Mrs. Jones and John Jones" in feminine script, and the clerk drew conclusions. "John Jones and Mrs. Jones" is occasionally seen. English people not accustomed to hotel registering are rather puzzled by the American custom, and favor "Mr. Jones" and "Mrs. Jones" on separate lines.

The Presbyterian Society.

At the annual meeting of the Toronto Presbyterian Society yesterday Mrs. J. D. Walker outlined the past year's work of this branch of the Women's Home Mission Society. There were in all 37 auxiliaries and bands in the city, which was an advance of six over last year, and showed an additional membership of 29. Three of these auxiliaries being formed of young women. There were still 18 churches of the society not yet represented in the society.

The treasurer, Miss J. A. McMichael, reported the total receipts for the year at $2874.40, and the expenditure direct for missions $2417.31, with $25 for presbytery expenses, and a balance of about $400. The secretary of the Planning Board, Mrs. John Steel, supply secretary, gave the number of bales sent out as 24, the approximate value of which was $2000. Of these 12 had gone to Wakaw, 4 to Winnipeg for the Canadian Red Cross, 1 to Seton, and 1 to Whitney, containing comfort bags and clothing for camp life. Among the articles were a large number of quilts, of which every auxiliary had contributed several, and there had also been a liberal supply of mittens, stockings, children's clothing and miscellaneous clothing.

Mrs. J. W. Stephen gave the Scripture reading, Mrs. Somerville and Mrs. W. Cochran giving the opening prayers. The Rev. J. W. Stephen, by request, spoke a few words on home missions, giving some statistics concerning the "Gaieties," Doukhobors and other foreigners.

Married at Death's Door.

Lying at death's door with all physical aid for her recovery suspended and hope of nearest and dearest almost abandoned, Miss Maud Hopkins, 20 Ossington-avenue, rallied to the voice of her betrothed, Ernest Pawcett, 88 Dundas-street, and at his request, it was agreed that the marriage of the young couple should take place.

Rev. J. D. Fitzpatrick of Wesley Church had been called in to administer final consolation to the supposed dying girl during what seemed a fatal hour. The young man stood at her bedside. He had been in faithful attendance since her illness.

With the man kneeling beside the bed, and nobody in the room but the doctor, Mrs. Hopkins and the sister of the girl lying in the bed the minister read the marriage service. The bride was so weak that she was hardly able to respond, but lay back on the pillows, her white hand clasped in her lover's.

But she is going to get well, and there is a happy home where there might have been a mourning one, and the wedding was not so sad after all, is the hope of all.

Mr. Pawcett is a piano maker and is in the employ of the Newcombe Piano Company.

Seen in New York Shops.

A turban of black fox is trimmed with orange leaves and blossoms and unripe fruit—presumably unripe, for it is small and green. The little balls make a unique adornment.

At $75 comes a handsome coat of black corded silk. On either side of the front a long strip of heavy knitted silk, veiled with from the throat to the bottom of the coat, which is very long. There is a touch of gold embroidery at the throat.

Some charming little red slippers have twin rosettes of red silk and crepe.

Two hats which ought to be worn by women going out together, they set each other off so well, are shown in a Fifth-avenue window. One is covered with gray velvet, is slightly tilted at one side of the moderately broad brim and is trimmed with roses fashioned out of gray crepe.

At a display of imported silks at a Twenty-third-street shop many of the richest patterns were shown made up as suits, to go to the Dior, with the Persian designs, others floral. One lovely silk showed a succession of butterfly hovering over roses. This, however, was for a gown, not for a vest.

A suit of very dull green broadcloth has a coat opening over a chemise of silk. The chemise is of a lung-protector, it is pretty.

Purple is still to be worn a great deal. A very broad hat of purple felt, adorned with masses of purple plumes. It is very handsome, but it will take a woman of just the right type to wear it.

Another hat, on the picturesque order, is of gray fuzzy beaver. The brim is turned up a trifle on the left. Green plumes and a mammoth buckle of green velvet are the trimmings.

It is possible to spend a great deal of money for a fan, but for $5 one can buy a very pretty fan of transparent silk, which certainly is not hand-painted, but which looks as if it were.

PRESBYTERY FIX DATES FOR TWO INSTALLATION

Knox College and Cooke's Church Ceremonies Arranged — St. Mark's Church to Have New Site

Arrangements were completed at yesterday's meeting of the Toronto Presbytery in the Temple Building, for the installation of Dr. Gaudier to the principality of Knox College.

Dr. Gaudier will be released from St. James Square Presbyterian Church on Nov. 8, and the installation services will take place on the afternoon of November 13, at that church. Rev. James Murray, moderator of the presbytery, will preside, while the address will be delivered by Dr. A. Gilray. Rev. Dr. Carmichael of St. Andrew's, King Township, will deliver the charge to the new principal.

Dr. Taylor will be inducted to the pastorate of Cooke's Church on November 30th, Rev. B. S. Black delivering the address.

Yesterday's meeting also allowed St. Mark's Presbyterian Church, now situated at the corner of Tecumseh and King-street, to move to a new site at Queen-street and Bellwoods-avenue, where a fine site, valued at $7000, has been donated to the congregation by Rev. S. Dale.

At 2 o'clock in the morning the pastor, announced yesterday that it was the intention of the congregation to erect a fine big institutional church, so as to be able to handle the work in its entirety.

West Presbyterian Church had strenuously opposed this transfer of sites being granted because that congregation thought it was cutting into the heavy imprints of coming age.

Erskine Church also wanted to move as they are now in a Jewish territory, but no decisive action was taken, the congregation may later be allowed to build on a point between College Street Presbyterian and Chalmers.

The call from Knox Church, Scarborough, to Rev. James Anthony of Watertown was sustained, and the Hamilton presbytery was notified so the steps may be taken to bring the matter to its notice. Should the reverend gentleman accept the call the induction will take place on December 3rd next.

Considerable discussion arose as to new Presbyterian stations being appointed in the district which has sprung up, mushroom fashion, just north of St. Clair-avenue, about Spadina-road.

Moderator Murray announced yesterday that as a chairman of a committee appointed to look into the matter, he thought something should be done, as he had been told by Dr. Abraham that Rev. Mr. McTaggart of Wyckwood Presbyterian Church could not handle the district at all. Dr. Gilray objected to this being done, saying that the Wyckwood pastor in conversation with him had given the assurance that he was both willing and able to take care of the district.

Dr. Gilray finally announced that the meeting would announce itself as being opposed to any new stations being set there, at least until the opinion of the sessions of the churches closest to the district be obtained.

CHURCH OF HOLY PETROLEUM

Methodist Ministerial Meeting Started by Ex-Archbishop General.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—"I am a Methodist minister," was a Methodist and my grandfather was a Methodist. I am a trustee in a Methodist university, and I want to protest here against the Methodist clergy laying the Methodist church open to the charge of being the Church of the Holy Petroleum.

"The oleaginous windows, to-day run after and sought for by the churches, will, in the next generation, not be considered as honoring the memory of St. Rockefeller and St. Carnegie, but as symbols of the greed that should be for violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust law and robbery of the common people."

With these and similar epigrams, Frank S. Monnett, the legal foe of Standard Oil and former attorney-general of Ohio, aroused first consternation and then vigorous applause at the monthly meeting of the Methodist ministers of New York and Brooklyn yesterday at No. 150 Fifth-avenue. Mr. Monnett had the body of the house, and very few knew his identity. He spoke rapidly and emphatically.

"I protest against our Methodist ministers and universities receiving stolen goods under the pretense of sanctifying the plunder," he said.

OTTAWA, Nov. 3.—(Special.)—Two dollar rise in Temiskaming stock caused much excitement in Ottawa to-day. It is estimated that there are close on two hundred thousand shares held here. It is expected that Nipissing will go higher.

OTTAWA, Nov. 3.—(Special.)—The officials of the immigration department are in a predicament in an effort to reply to the extraordinary story told by a deported immigrant at Old Street police court recently.

According to the immigrant he and his family, who were living at Ottawa, were expelled from Canada owing to prospective hard times and the fear that the family would become public charges. The report of the immigration show that the man was deported at the request of the town authorities, who complained that he and his family had become public charges.

After the complaint was received the town authorities were requested to make further efforts on behalf of the man, A. J. Hedges.

The mayor said that Hedges was a continuous nuisance, and that, his wife had been begging from house to house ever since her arrival in Canada, also warned not to do so.

How Syracuse Woman Took Her Wrinkles Out In Three Nights

AFTER MASSAGE AND BEAUTY SPECIALISTS HAD FAILED

"Made Me Look Twenty Years Younger"

Says Cincinnati Lady Who Tried It—"Now Past 40, but My Complexion is Smoother and Better Than in Girlhood." Writes a Kentucky Woman Who Used This Wonderful Process for Removing Wrinkles.

The Discoverer Offers to Give Particulars Free of Charge to All Who Write Her Within Next Ten Days—Exacts Promise of Secrecy—Treatment Very Simple and Absolutely Harmless—May Be Used Without the Knowledge of Your Most Intimate Friend.

Ever since woman's "beauty" held away overman and brought her power, influence and wealth, she has sought a way to stay the process of old age and banish deep lines and furrows from the brow.

Chemists, beauty doctors and skin specialists have for centuries vainly tried to fashion the sealed secrets of nature and find a way to keep the beauty of youth in a woman's face and form.

Harriet Meta was no exception to the general rule of women. Trouble and worry left her unsightly lines and marks upon her face. She saw the beauty of her youth giving way to the heavy imprints of coming age.

Her first resort was to facial massage, cold cream and steaming pots; then next to beauty specialists; but all in vain. The wrinkles seemed, if anything, to grow deeper and deeper. Massage even appeared to stretch the skin; more wrinkles came. She had spent all the money she could afford to spend, and was ready to give up in despair, when one day a friend made a happy suggestion.

"This gave me a brilliant idea. She set to work on the thing herself, and after several months' hard labor and almost endless experimenting, she succeeded in producing a result which was entirely different from anything she had seen or heard of. She tried it on herself, and lo, and behold, it worked a wonderful transformation in a single night. She tried it a second night, and her wrinkles were practically gone. A third night—three treatments in all—and her wrinkles had entirely disappeared and her skin was soft, clear, rosy and smooth.

Many others also have used this remarkable process with wonderful results.

Mrs. Moran Elmer, New York City, writes: "Your treatment removed my wrinkles in one night." Mrs. Turner of Seattle, Wash., writes: "My wrinkles are all gone; words cannot express how grateful I feel to you for what your treatment has done for me." Mrs. A. M. Brock of Houston, Tex., writes: "Your treatment is the first I ever tried that really had the desired effect in banishing face lines, being in my sixties old and yet many say I do not look more than 45." Miss Gladys Desmond, the actress of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "Your treatment made my wrinkles disappear in one night. It is certainly a Godsend to woman-kind, and I tried cold cream, skin food and various advertised wrinkle removers, but they all failed absolutely, and I confess I was very skeptical about your treatment, but in one night my skepticism had entirely vanished. When I looked at my face on the following morning and saw what a wonderful transformation had taken place I was sure at last I had found the right thing."

In speaking of her discovery, Miss Meta says: "Yes, I know it sounds too good to be true, but really I do not think removing wrinkles has been so simple and entirely harmless as this. I was sure at last I had found the right thing."

Those who have used cold cream, etc., cannot understand how my treatment can act so quickly. Yet, after all, it is very simple, and I wonder that someone did not discover the process long ago. My letters from patients tell the whole story. Here is one from a lady who says: "I tried cold cream, massage, etc., but they all failed absolutely, and I confess I was very skeptical about your treatment, but in one night my skepticism had
