Honesty Is Best Policy.
Charles A. Comisky, owner of the Chicago White Sox, yesterday sent checks for $1,500 to each of the ten members of last year's team, who were not involved in the baseball scandal. The money was to reimburse them for the amount they lost when the team failed to win the world's series; it was the difference between the winners and losers end of the purse.

Prominent Couple Appreciated by Policewoman for Public Drinking — Case Quickly Hushed.

Washington, Oct. 4.—Official society circles were stirred the other day by the arrest at the Willard hotel of a man known to the society of two continents on the charge of drinking liquor in a public place.

A woman companion of the man was arrested at the same time, but both gave assumed names, gave cash bonds and jumped their bonds when the cases were called in police court today.

The man is the husband of the daughter of a former United States senator. The wife of the arrested man is in the west at this time, but his companion was a woman well known to Washington society, although she doesn't live in Washington, but is here visiting her sister.

The arrests were made by Mrs. Mina C. Van Winkle, head of the woman's bureau of the police department, who happened to be dining at the Willard. Mrs. Van Winkle saw the pair drinking from a silver flask and walked over and placed them under arrest, but permitted them to finish their drink.

The policewoman complained afterward, naively, that only the "tiniest bit" remained in the flask.

Mrs. Van Winkle was much dismayed at what she had done after she made the arrests. She saw at once by the way her charges were greeted by other patrons of the hotel that they were socially prominent and she was even more flustered when the man offered her a chance to ride in his car to the police station.

Mrs. Van Winkle, of course, accepted, and the trio rode to the lock-up in probably the finest patrol wagon ever known.

From the time the three reached the police station there is much mystery about the story. Detective Cornwall, according to Mrs. Van Winkle, slated the man as "John Johnson," but according to Cornwall Mrs. Van Winkle took the

OVER ARREST IN WILLARD HOTEL

Prominent Couple Appreciated by Policewoman for Public Drinking — Case Quickly Hushed.

Washington, Oct. 4.—Official society circles were stirred the other day by the arrest at the Willard hotel of a man known to the society of two continents on the charge of drinking liquor in a public place.

A woman companion of the man was arrested at the same time, but both gave assumed names, gave cash bonds and jumped their bonds when the cases were called in police court today.

The man is the husband of the daughter of a former United States senator. The wife of the arrested man is in the west at this time, but his companion was a woman well known to Washington society, although she doesn't live in Washington, but is here visiting her sister.

man to the woman's bureau after inquiring about the proper ball for such cases.

In any event it seems that both the man and his companion put up $10 cash bond for appearance in police court today although Mrs. Van Winkle knew that they would not appear. They did not. When the case was called in police court today there was not a peep from "John Johnson."

Both Mrs. Van Winkle, Detective Cornwall and all other police officials were silent about the affair today and refused to give the real name of the arrested man, although it was well known to every one who the man was. No effort was made to apprehend the man after he had forfeited his bond, and the case, apparently, has been dropped.

Mrs. Van Winkle said it would be impossible to reach the man since he left at midnight for his home in West Virginia, after saying that he would not talk to reporters or anyone else after he got there.

It had been rumored from time to time that the man's wife is now seeking a divorce from her husband, but these rumors have been denied by the families of the pair. The wife is rumored to be in the west establishing residence preparatory to filing suit for divorce, but this cannot be verified. She is a leader of Washington society and was known at one time as one of the most beautiful women in the United States.

The husband, apparently, is not employed except at following the hounds. He is listed in the city directory as having an office, but inquiry at the office reveals that he is not known there, even to the stenographer.

Y. M. C. A. OPENS SEASONS ACTIVITIES.
C. W. Bishop, national secretary of the Y. M. C. A., gave an address last evening to more than seventy of the young men and directors of the local Y. M. C. A. at a banquet to mark the opening of the season's activities here. He spoke of the opportunities before the Y. M. C. A. president, G. J. Warwick, was in the chair at the banquet and at its close R. T. Hayes presented a banner won by the senior in an all Canadian competition last winter, which, Roy Elliot accepted on behalf of the class.

The winning of this banner places St. John on the top rung of athletic prowess among the Y. M. C. A.'s of Canada. The names of the men who won the Senior Hexathlon banner are: W. J. Swatlow, Herbert Morton, Roy Willet, Arthur Gillan, T. K. Copp, Leslie Kerr, K. K. Nelson, R. B. Turner, Andrew Malcolm, J. M. G. Irvin, A. Y. Thompson, M. P. Armstrong, Royal Ottawa; Miss Edith Bauld, Halifax, and Miss Edith Nesbitt, Hamilton, failed to qualify.

LOST $75,000 ON "FIXED" GAMES

Two New Yorkers Bet With "Master Mind"

Grand Jury Resumes Inquiry in Chicago — McGraw an Expected Witness — Some More Information.

New York, Oct. 5.—District Attorney Swann announced last night that he had obtained the names of two New York men who lost $75,000 in bets which they were persuaded to place upon the Chicago Americans in the 1919 world series by another New Yorker who, the district attorney declared, was the ringleader in fixing games. It was said that one of the men lost $60,000 and the other $15,000.

Two men who lost money, and lost heavily, are known to me, and I can't get them to come here to tell me or the grand jury about it," said Mr. Swann. "Both say they were persuaded by a 'master mind' to place bets and they lost and he won. But they tell me they know nothing about the games being fixed."

WAS A PLOT TO ROB GAMBLERS

Gunmen Taken from New York to Philadelphia But Disaster Ensued.

Philadelphia, Oct. 4.—Five gunmen were brought here from New York more than a week ago in a carefully laid plan to rob gambling houses and large individual winners, according to a confession the police say was made yesterday by Christopher Murano, who is in a hospital with two bullet wounds in his stomach. Murano was wounded early on Sunday when a squad of police officers entered a gambling house and found the inmates backed up against the wall, threatened by five masked men, who were robbing the gamblers.

Joe McGinn was fatally wounded in the fight which ensued. Murano, according to the police, admitted that he shot McGinn. Three of the alleged bandits are in prison, while the police are searching for the fifth man.
