EVERY DAY CLUB AFFAIRS FURTHER CONSIDERED AT MEETING LAST NIGHT

The question whether to reorganize the Every Day Club on a strong working basis or to close its doors was further considered at a public meeting last evening, at which the attendance was small. W. Frank Hatheway, W. C. Cross and R. T. Hayes, who were present, spoke very strongly in favor of keeping the club going, and expressed their personal sympathy with the few who were striving to that end.

A. M. Belding stated the case for the club, pointing out that it would not be worth while to spend the amount of money necessary to keep the institution going unless more effective work were done than had been done last winter. Even a small group of serious-minded men could make the club a force for social betterment, taking up such matters as a child's protection act, a prison farm, a detention home for Protestant girls, and other questions of importance, studying them and arousing sentiment in favor of public action. A ladies' auxiliary could be formed, strengthening the club, and doing work of its own to aid in improving social conditions. At the same time the hall could be kept open every evening as usual, free to any sober man, as a counter attraction to less desirable places of resort. The president said that three meetings had been held without organizing, because the response to the appeal was so slim, and the matter was still in doubt. It was not a question of money, but of men.

W. Frank Hatheway said he had been one of the original group who signed with Mr. Belding the lease of the first Every Day Club hall, six years ago. He spoke of the value of its work in the past, and pointed out the need of the club in the future. He mentioned various questions of importance that could be dealt with, in addition to those referred to by the president of the club, and made a very strong appeal to the men and women present to lend a hand in strengthening the institution.

W. C. Cross said that his own time was so taken up with Y. M. C. A. work and the work of the church and other organizations that he could only offer his sympathy and financial support to the club, as he had done in the past. He felt that the earnest men and women present would be found, and the work go on. He could sympathize with the president's desire to have a good working force, and not to be linked up with a failure. The fighting spirit was what was needed, and a group of people who would refuse to admit defeat. Mr. Cross very strongly approved of a ladies' auxiliary, pointing out how much of the work of the churches is now carried on by earnest women.

R. T. Hayes said that he, like the others, had been one of the original supporters of the club, and had been glad, from time to time, to talk over its affairs with the president. The questions it was now proposed to take up as part of the club's work were worthy of its attention. He felt very strongly that a detention home for Protestant girls was needed, and said that the Catholic work before the municipal council, but allowed to drop, and the agitation should be renewed. The Every Day Club deserved support, and he hoped the earnest men and women needed would not long be wanting.

The president said a meeting of men would be held this evening and the hall would be open every night this week. The members would be glad to see men come in and lend a hand. It was not a question of money, but of men.

RECENT DEATHS

A large number of friends will regret to learn of the death of William Heane, who passed away on Saturday night at his residence, Paradise Row, after a brief illness. Mr. Heane was a life-long resident of St. John, and was one of those expert shipwrights who made this city known to the world over when shipbuilding flourished here. He was foreman of the Brown-Anderson shipyard at South Bay. He was in his eighty-first year, and during his long residence in this city had made a host of friends by his quiet, unassuming disposition. He is survived by his wife, four sons—Fred B. and Charles, of this city, William L., of Backville, and George J., of Portsmouth (N. H.); four daughters—Misses Emma E. and Louisa at home, Mrs. George L. P. Sweta, of St. John, and Mrs. W. Harold Willis, of Montreal; and by two sisters, Mrs. William Small, of St. John West, and Mrs. John Smith, of New Westminster (B. C.). The funeral will take place on Tuesday at 2.30 p.m.

George Dickson, a well-known farmer of West Ambler, died on Saturday at the age of seventy years. He had been postmaster for the last fifteen years. He leaves his wife, one son and one daughter.

The death of Asael W. Peck, aged seventy-eight years, occurred on Sunday at his home in Riverside, Westmorland county. He is survived by his wife, four sons and one daughter.

The pall bearers were chosen from the Forsters.

The funeral of James Kilborn took place yesterday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from his late residence, 44 Carleton street, to the Cathedral, where service was conducted by Rev. Father Moshan. Interment was in the new Catholic cemetery.

ANTI DIVORCE PLAY AT OPERA HOUSE FRIDAY

The Probate Divorce and Admiralty Division of the High Court of Justice will hold court on the stage of the Opera House on next Friday and Saturday, when it will be heard in the divorce trial of Adamston vs. Adamston, the two chief characters in "A Butterfly On The Wheel." Peggy Adamston will be represented by G. McArthur, K.C., while the Rt. Hon. George Adamston, M.P., will be represented by Sir Robert Fyfe, K.C., M.P.

The trial here will be devoted to the examination of the wife who has put in a general denial.

"A Butterfly On The Wheel", which has the trial scene as its "big" act, was originally produced in London. It was brought to New York by Lewis Waller, the English actor-manager, and met with phenomenal success. In fact it remained on Broadway all of last season. It is being sent here under the direction of the Shuberts and Mr. Waller, and with its massive scenic equipment and big cast of players, will be an extraordinary dramatic feast.
