KNIFING CASE AIRD IN POLICE COURT

Witnesses Tell of Fight in South Wharf Boarding House—A Militant Prisoner—Would Take the Law in Her Own Hands

The preliminary hearing in the case against William Leander, charged with cutting John Sirostrom about the face, was begun in the police court this morning. The injured man was in court with his head bandaged and gave evidence. He said that he was sitting in the kitchen on the night in question when he heard a noise up stairs and, going to see what was the matter, he saw two men wrestling in the hall. He stopped them and as he did he felt a blow in the side of the head and the blood began to run down his face. He immediately went out and got medical assistance. The witness said he did not know who struck him.

Oscar Johns, sworn, said that he had a room in Sirostrom's house and he saw Sirostrom try to separate two men who were quarrelling upstairs. The defendant was seen with a knife in his hand. When Sirostrom interfered, he said, the defendant struck him in the face with a knife. The prisoner was remanded.

The case against Mary Robinson, charged with using threatening language to Wm. J. Hatfield, also came up this morning. Mr. Hatfield told of receiving a communication from C. F. E. in the form of going to his office where he met the defendant, who accused him of following her about and threatened that she would blow his brains out, stick a knife into him or poison him. Witness said that he did not know the woman until she had come to work in the place where he boarded a short time ago. The magistrate remanded the defendant as she wanted to have her lawyer in court. Before going down stairs, however, the prisoner insisted on making a statement in which she accused Mr. Hatfield of continually persecuting her and even following her to St. Stephen, and she said that if she could not get a judge who would give her justice, she would take the matter in her own hands in order to protect her own life and reputation. She was then taken below.

Louis Walsh, arrested for acting in a disorderly manner on Sheriff street, was fined $8 or two months in jail, but the fine was allowed to stand on condition that he keep the peace in future.

You Must Admit, Sir, That the World is Pretty Apt to Judge Your Brains by Your Clothes

A wrong way, you may say, but such is the fact, and "while facts are stubborn things" it is with facts and realities that real men have to reckon.

Your appearance depends chiefly upon your clothes—that fact is pretty clear, is it not? Now the question is, are you wearing clothes that do you justice, and if not why not?

Clothes that do the wearer justice cost no more than clothes that do not.

Every suit that comes into this store is made to a degree of excellence that scarcely any other store thinks necessary. Maybe it is not necessary, but it is not better for you to buy a suit made better than most stores think necessary, than to buy one that has been made just good enough, considering that there is a difference of from 25 to 30 per cent. in the price.

The difference in price is in our favor, because as manufacturers we sell to you direct saving you the manufacturers' profit which other stores must first pay and then exact it from you in addition to their own profit.
