CURLERS AWAY THIS AFTERNOON

Good Words for St. John as They Leave—Strathcona Cup Play Today.

The Scottish curlers will say au revoir to St. John this afternoon at 4:40 o'clock. Despite a blinding snowstorm many representatives of the local curling clubs will accompany the visitors to the depot where farewells and good wishes will be exchanged. The visiting curlers said that they would regret leaving St. John for while they were here only a short time they had felt at home from the first moment of their arrival. They would carry away happy memories of their visit to Canada's winterport city. The visitors are leaving for Quebec via the Valley railway.

This morning six rinks were curling for the Strathcona Cup, two in Charlottetown, two in St. Andrew's and two in the Thistle rink. The Strathcona Cup is now held by the Scottish curlers and is being competed for again. It is expected that the curling season would be completed in time for the Times to publish the results.

The New Brunswick Branch of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club were hosts last evening to the visiting curlers from Scotland at a banquet in the Royal Hotel, which proved a most delightful function. Chief Justice Sir Douglas Hazen, who acted as toastmaster, and Hon. W. E. Foster, Premier, and C. D. Curran, President of the province, extended a hearty welcome to the visitors.

The toast to the guests was responded to by Colonel Robertson-Aikman, captain of the visiting team and W. K. Jackson, hailed as the "best curler in Scotland."

After welcoming the Scotch visitors on behalf of the people of the Province, Premier Foster, expressed the regret that the Lieutenant-Governor was not able to be present, but conveyed his best wishes to the gathering. In brief he gave some particulars of the geographical and industrial of the province and outlined the opportunities here for settlers from across the Atlantic. He wished the visitors every success in their tour of the province, and expressed his hopes for the future of the province.

Clarence Givran was heard in a curling song written and composed by D. Atherton Smith, of the St. Andrew's Curling Club, which was given a rousing reception.

Mr. Richard's then continued the reply to the toast to New Brunswick in a fine address, which was followed by two Scotch comic songs well rendered by Jack Rossie. Sir Douglas then proposed the toast to the guests which was greeted with applause and "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows." Both the visitors gave witty and interesting talks in which they paid compliments to the New Brunswick curlers' prowess on the ice. Songs were sung by A. Chip Ritchie and DeWitt Calm and a delightful evening was brought to a close with the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

WELCOME BY SAINT ANDREW'S SOCIETY.

A delegation from St. Andrew's Society, headed by the president, S. Rutherford Jack, welcomed upon the curling curlers this morning and presented to them the following address:—
Saint Andrew's Society,
St. John, N. B.,
Jan. 10th, 1923.

Colonel Robertson-Aikman, The Scots-Canadian Curling Team, Dear Sir:

Although the stay in our city of the curling team of which you have the honor of being the head is unfortunately of insufficient length to allow Saint Andrew's Society to have a share in providing for your entertainment, the members of our society wish to convey to you an expression of their appreciation of that splendid sportsmanship and devotion to "The Reelin' Game" which has prompted you and your fellow curlers to make your presence here to our city.

Saint Andrew's Society, composed of Scotchmen and their descendants, was established in this city in the year 1798. Since then it has had a continued existence having never passed a quarterly meeting or a celebration of Saint Andrew's Day.

We desire you to know that we are honored by your presence among us and extend to you and your team a warm welcome, with the hope that good fortune and good luck may attend you throughout your visit to this Dominion.

Dated this tenth day of January 1923 on behalf of Saint Andrew's Society, Saint John, N. B.
S. Rutherford Jack, President.

MAYOR MAKES SHORT WORK OF CONFISCATION TALK.

By the people, in the name of the public welfare to inflict a gross injustice and irreparable damage involving the sacrifice of their own good faith.

The mayor asked which of the visitors might be called up to answer any questions regarding the financing of the N. B. Power Co. and was told Mr. Wilcox or Mr. Bell would do so.

Bond Dealers' Statement.
Mr. Bell's statement was as follows: The Bond Dealers' Association of Canada are dealers in credit and supply the bulk of long term credit available in this country to governments, municipalities and private corporations.

They are not engaged in this business to understand and judge those factors which determine it. They also stand in the position of sponsors for the greater part of the securities representing these credits, which are outstanding in this country in the hands of investors.

Any situation in which the property of a corporation, the securities of which are outstanding in this country, is subjected to danger of destruction through the acts of a municipality, which, however legal do not appear to be disinterested observers in the matter.

The proposal of the City of St. John to buy the New Brunswick Power Company is in its own interest, and the City has entered into competition with it does not appear to be governed by the principles of fair play, since the city did not propose to buy the property at the price to be determined by arbitration.

There are always two sides to any question. The City appears satisfied that its offer is fair, the company contends the amount is inadequate. The only fair way to settle this disputed point is by arbitration. The company has offered to arbitrate, if the City is convinced that the price it offers is proper there can surely be no objection to this being demonstrated by arbitration.

When our association, representing dealers in every city from Halifax to Vancouver, the overwhelming majority of which have not dealt in or handled in any way the securities of the New Brunswick Power Company, send its representative to make this appeal to you, we ask you to accept it as the sincere and impartial expression of opinion on a question of credit from those whose business it is to understand that delicate instrument.

We have an association of the Investment Bankers Association of America, representing what is now the largest public money in credit in the world. Many years Canadian municipalities and corporations must look for the greater part of their development and future prosperity, upon the security of the Canadian credit in that market which this action involves, as they have done this morning, the Bond Dealers' Association of Canada institutions request that you give it the most serious consideration.

You are convinced that your offer is fair, one, though the facts available to an outsider indicate that this is open to question. It will be difficult for us as an association of Canadian firms and in the markets of the world to justify your refusal to settle this disputed question by the universal method of arbitration.

Mr. Bell added that he did not come to discuss the details of the situation but to talk on the general principle of fair play.

Mr. Wilcox said that the committee held the company in this gross over-capitalization.

The Mayor said that he had decided to purchase at a certain fixed price plus ten per cent, but the city thought this excessive and opposed the last move was a Supreme Court which decided that the Mayor's award was not correct and reduced it to the price now offered by the city.

The power commission is still offering the city to purchase at a fixed price plus ten per cent, but the city thought this excessive and opposed the last move was a Supreme Court which decided that the Mayor's award was not correct and reduced it to the price now offered by the city.

The Legislature in 1920 had fixed a rate base and a rate by which the company could earn $248,000 a year, but in the same session passed an act which provided for the creation of the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission with the idea in view of delivering power at cost.

The Mayor said that he was of opinion that the Power Company and it still being opposed by them, but the City is taking advantage of it.

BODY FROM THE CASARCO

Sicuate, Mass., Jan. 10.—The body of a man was washed ashore yesterday near Third Cliff, where the Canadian auxiliary sloop Casarco No. 7 was beached early Sunday morning during a storm.

The man, it is believed, was one of two members of the crew reported drowned, by Joseph Hopkins, of New Brunswick, a youth who disappeared after being rescued from the ship.

Mr. Sanders said that at that time the money cost eight or nine per cent, while these were five per cent, bonds.

This completed the hearing of the case and adjournment was made.

REV. DR. T. A. MOORE HERE.
Rev. Dr. T. Albert Moore, a prominent Canadian Methodist divine, arrived in the city today from Moncton and is registered at the Dufferin. Dr. Moore said that he would appear before the local government this afternoon but the subject matter was of a confidential nature and there was nothing for publication.

There was a disposition on the part of the people to deal fairly in this matter but there was also a feeling that the owners of the securities of the New Brunswick Power Company should not make a dollar on the proposition.

He felt that these latter should be prepared to accept a loss. He saw no reason why a man who paid less than par should receive 100 cents on the dollar. The city, he said, had no inclination to destroy but, rather to pay a fair valuation.

Commissioner Thornton said that it was his intention to hear what the visitors had to say and then when the matter came before the Council.

The matter of arbitration had gone by the board, Mr. Bullock said. Commissioner Wigmore said he did not put much stock in the suggestion that the City's action might impair its credit. He felt that the solution of the problem was the purchase of the property of the company. He felt that the only way to get together on the matter was in the council chamber. He thought that the public were willing
