

New Method Laundry
Rough Dry 4c. per pound.
Townsend Laundry Co.
187 & 189 Parliament
We are Union.

Smith & Co.
FOR
FIT, DURABILITY AND SATISFACTION
WHEN PURCHASING A STYLISH SUIT
As well as always getting the Union Label. This popular firm has also an up-to-date
Gent's Furnishing Store
284 and 286 Queen St. W.
Drop in and see them.

Merchant Tailors
Using this Label are fair to organized labor.

James Sim 343 Queen St. W.
D. S. Douglas & Co. 348
Alex. Ross 1134
J. Smille 216
J. Ward & Co. 1288
Smith & Co. 286
W. H. M. Ward 25 Maple Grove
J. Dunken 164 Queen St. E.
Geo. Barnes 723
H. N. Morrison Toronto Junction
Warren & Main Victoria Chambers
A. J. Jury 19 Richmond St. E.
G. McClure, Room 10, 11 Richmond St. W.

"THE LABOUR BUREAU"
ONTARIO
By an Act passed at the 1901 session of the Ontario Legislature a Bureau of Labour has been established for the purpose of collecting, arranging and publishing information relating to Employment, Wages, Hours of Labor throughout the Province. Co-operation, Strikes, or other labor difficulties; Trades Unions, Labor Organizations, the relations between Labor and Capital, and other subjects of interest to workmen, together with such information relating to the industrial, social, and sanitary conditions of the Province, as the Bureau may be able to gather.
The Bureau is the co-operation of Labor Organizations and others interested in the general prosperity of the Province is invited.
F. K. LATOFOORD, Commissioner of Public Works
B. GLOCKING, Secretary The Labour Bureau

THE CHAS. ROGERS & SONS CO. LIMITED
Furniture and Upholstery
Mantles, Grates, Tiles
INTERIOR WOOD WORK
97 YONGE ST.

Dominion Brewery Company Limited
Brewers and Malsters
TORONTO, ONT.
ALES and PORTER
Manufacturers of the Celebrated
White Label Brand
WM. ROSS, Manager

484 QUEEN ST. W.
I respectfully inform all Trades Unions and their friends that I have a full line of
MEN'S SUITS
MEN'S PANTS
MEN'S OVERALLS, SHIRTS, Etc.
with Union Label attached at reasonable prices and solicit your patronage for Union Made Clothing.
R. R. SOUTHCORBE
Tailor & Clothier
484 QUEEN STREET WEST
Cor. Denison Ave.

LABOR WORLD
News and Views of the Ever Advancing Army of Workers
Quebec longshoremen are demanding higher pay.
Fifty-one unions of the Plumbers, Gas and Steam Fitters' Association won concessions during May.
There are over 1500 members in good standing of the Plumbers, Gas and Steam Fitters' Association.
The Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners in four weeks recently.
The Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners won increases and other concessions in thirty-one cities last month.
There are 423 unions of the United Association of Journeymen Plumbers, Gas Fitters, and Steam Fitters of the United States and Canada.
The not talked about (andians getting no benefit in return for their international per capita tax is refunded by one instance out of many, the case in point being the expenditure by the Cigarmakers' International Union in one year of $40,000 in support of the Montreal strike.
The Ontario Inspector of Factories has issued his report on child labor. He says violations of the law are frequently met with, owing to false birth certificates being furnished the employer, but he has arranged to have the employers witness personally the parents or guardians' signature.
Carpenters are advised to stay from the following places: Steubenville, O.; Red Lodge, Mont.; Ma. Carmel, Pa.; Madison, Pa.; California, Mo.; Berwick, Pa.; Jonesboro, Ark.; Rochester, N.Y.; Bethlehem, Pa.; Linton, Ind.; Bowling Green, Ky.; Port Huron, Mich.; Camden, S.C.; Madison, Ill.; Newark, N.J.; Pomona, Cal.; Albert Lea, Minn.; Waukegan, Ill.; Auburn, N.Y.; Cleveland, O.; Brunswick, Ga.; Crowley, La.
The following officers were elected by acclamation at the regular meeting of Cigarmakers' Union No. 27 in Richmond Hill, Ont. on July 1st: President, J. Farley; Vice-President, H. Plummerfelt; Financial Secretary, J. Pannhollen; Recording and Corresponding Secretary, R. Haberstock; Treasurer, F. Sidhall; Label Secretary, J. McCarly; Sergeant-at-Arms, T. Denny; Delegates to District Labor Council, D. W. Kennedy, W. V. Tobi, H. Plummerfelt, Joseph McCarly, R. Haberstock and James Kitchin.
A recent Board of Trade report giving statistics of strikes and lockouts in the United Kingdom in each of the past ten years shows that the number of strikes and lockouts recorded for 1902 was 442. The number of workpeople affected was 256,667, and the aggregate duration of strikes was 48,610,000, the average duration per head of estimated working population in working days being four days. The percentage of workpeople affected was 256,667, and the aggregate duration of strikes was 48,610,000, the average duration per head of estimated working population in working days being four days. The percentage of workpeople affected was 256,667, and the aggregate duration of strikes was 48,610,000, the average duration per head of estimated working population in working days being four days.
J. G. O'Donoghue has taken issue with Prof. Short, of Queen's University, Kingston. In the February number of the Canadian Magazine the professor deals in an article with the necessity for the incorporation of trades unions. In the current number of the same magazine the bright young labor lawyer handles the learned professor without gloves. The following few paragraphs are contained in Mr. O'Donoghue's article:
"An execution following a judgment against a workman may be returned nulla bona, but all the laws in creation cannot change that condition of affairs, because incorporation is no guarantee of solvency, as we see day after day in the case of incorporated companies.
"If non-incorporation is such a crying evil, why has not the agitation extended to clubs and like bodies? The incorporation of companies does not protect employees from boycott and the evils of the black list.
"There is the further fact that in Ontario not one trades union can be named that, after entering into an agreement with an employer for the observance of certain laws, by its members, has deliberately violated it. This is a bold statement to make, but I challenge you to the contrary."

Below are the leading international unions: Printers, 1830; Hatters, 1854; Moulders, 1839; B. of L. E., 1863; Cigarmakers, 1864; Bricklayers, 1865; Conductors, 1868; B. of L. F., 1869; Piano and Organ Workers, 1872; Horseshoers, 1875; Iron and Steel Workers, 1876; Granite Cutters, 1877; Carpenters, 1881; B. of H. T., 1884; Baker, 1884.
United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, Local No. 27 Monday night elected the following officers: President, Samuel J. Heales; Vice-President, Wm. Brown; Secretary, John Tweed; Financial Secretary, D. McNeil; Treasurer, Wm. Moran; Warden, W. J. Moore; Auditor, J. J. Wright; Trustee, Richard Southwell; Delegates to District Labor Council, J. Tweed, E. Attridge, J. J. Wright, John Harris, W. Moran, W. Wilson, Samuel Sarkis, Thos. Lee, J. Kennedy, R. Southwell and Thos. Cook; Delegates to Federated Building Trades Council, W. J. Burt, M. J. Bulger, T. H. Lee and R. Southwell.
It is just as well that the saw-off between the advocates of the Loughheed and the union label bill did not materialize. It may have been the best way out of it to have peace, but it was at any price far worse than peace at all. If such a saw-off had proceeded and allowed by the trade union side, it would look as if they were afraid of the Loughheed bill, which is almost sure to meet its death in the House of Commons. The facts are that since the labor folks have decided to drop the customary agitation and have taken to their Trade Mark and Design Act and go in for a straight union label bill, and are giving good reason for its passage, the bill has done away with the previous objections to making a labor-trade mark, and stand chances of winning.
The delegation of trade unionists who went before the Senate Committee on the Loughheed and union label bills were given a good opportunity to observe the bias of that body. The manufacturers had had their say on a previous occasion, and it was decided to give the labor folks a chance. When they began the chairman took his watch and said the time would be limited. J. G. O'Donoghue, collector, spoke, followed by Harvey Hall, of the Railway Engineers. Then A. W. Puttee said about a dozen words, and they were told that the time was up, and no one else will be allowed to speak on the union side. Then the watch was out again, and a call was made for any one to oppose the denunciation. No less than six were permitted to speak, without any limit of time, and still another call was made. "Is there anyone else?" in order to checkmate the reply an adjournment for a week was promptly suggested. On the labor men protesting that they could not conveniently be present before the committee every week, Sir Mackenzie-Bowell pompously reminded those present that the committee had the duty to speak when and how long as they should adjourn, and "was not there to be dictated to by 'laborers'."

CONVENTION DATES.
July 4. Lynn, Mass. Amalgamated Leather Workers' Union of America.
July 13. Cincinnati. Bottle Blowers' Association of the United States and Canada.
July 14. Indianapolis, Ind. Stevedores' International Union.
July 18. Brooklyn, N.Y. American Wire Weavers' Protective Association.
July 24. Philadelphia, Pa. International Association of Marble Workers.
August 10. Indianapolis, Ind. United Garment Workers of America.
August 10. Washington D.C. International Stereotypers and Electrotypers' Union of North America.
August 10. Wash., D.C. International Typographical Union.
August 17. Birmingham, Ala. United Association of Plumbers, Gas Fitters, Steam Fitters and Steam Fitters' Helpers.
September 7. St. Louis, Mo. International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths.
September 10. Springfield, Mass. T. B. Knife Grinders' National Union.
September 14. Niagara Falls, N. Y. Team Drivers' International Union.

The habit of falling back on the militia in case of industrial disorder distracts attention from the scientific study of preventing its recurrence, and is by removing the cause. Violence in strikes results in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred from a sense of intolerable injustice, which feeling is so far from being a crime, it is a mistake to treat it like a crime. It is a mistake to treat it like a vulgar felony, for it can only be prevented by the most honest and most just efforts to abolish the evils which provoked it. An impartial committee of investigation appointed at the very beginning of a great strike would be sure to prevent violence, and public opinion would enforce its decision.—The Whim

There are 173 moulders at work on the nine-hour day basis, and 125 have not yet secured the concession, but expect to soon.
Boston union brewery workers are to pay 50 cents per week in support of the Lowell textile workers' strike. That's the brotherhood worthy of emulation.
A convention of Bricklayers' Unions of Canada, numbering 25, each sending ten delegates, will open in London, June 29, when they will consider the passing of a referendum vote on affiliation with the A. F. of L.
Over half the members of the Builders' Laborers are reported to be working at 28 cents per hour. The Plasterers Laborers' Union contributed $50 in support of their strike Monday night. Over $8,000 has been distributed in strike pay since May 1.
The master plumbers at Winnipeg have received a manifesto from the Journeymen Plumbers' Union, in which the men demand $3 a day, nine hours for their strike Monday night. Over $8,000 has been distributed in strike pay since May 1.
The Carriage and Wagon Workers' Union have won in all shops they struck except that of John Dixon. They are still fighting him. The Conductors' Employers' Association, and this week secured an injunction restraining the Globe from publishing an advertisement warning men to stay away from Toronto because of the strike. How the sports do love Labor!

Some time ago Lord Penryhn, of Wales, turned the men out of the quarry because they were not satisfied with the terms on which they were working. The matter came up in the British Parliament for discussion. The Daily News asked the question, "Why is it that the world is so miserably poor?" The answer given by the known writer, Jerome K. Jerome, answered in the following pungent strain:
"I regard Lord Penryhn as a public benefactor. He would that more landlords were like him. It is good for the world, the social absurdity of allowing the world's wealth to remain the exclusive property of a few useless individuals should be suppressed upon the receipt of a London Post of the race by an occasional object lesson. God made a stone quarry at Bethesda and said to the people of Britain: 'Here is material for you, take it; shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways, and habitations.' One item in the forty millions spread out his arms and says: 'Stand off, God made these stones for me, Lord Penryhn, it is written in the books of law—made by myself and a few particular friends. These stones are mine. Ye shall stand idle. Touch them at your peril. I will shape it into roadways,