HE DOES VERY WELL.

The Acadian Recorder has this fling at Fred Webber:—"Webber, the big pitcher of the Alerts, is a clever twirler, but not so effective as was generally supposed."

What in the world does the Recorder mean Webber to do. He held their imported team down to seven hits out of which they only got two runs, only one of which they earned. He did not give a base on balls, he did not hit a man, and four men fanned. Does the Recorder expect Webber to hold the Standards down to no runs and no hits. That is good enough for the club he plays with, and the Recorder need not worry over the matter. A short time back they wanted the same Webber to come to Halifax and they probably would take him now if they could get him. Why all these nasty remarks that are being made by the Halifax papers now?

LOCAL NEWS.

Israel Jacobson has been reported by the police for emptying a barrel of fish on Charlotte street this morning.

Abraham J. Dryen and Leonard T. Turner were today sworn in as special constables on the line of the C. P. R.

Workmen were today removing the piles of broken stone which for the past month have fringed King street east, in front of the registry office.

Between nine and ten o'clock this morning street car number forty-nine went off the track on account of a stone in the grooved rail. It was hauled on again by car number forty-one.

Wholly and Clay will oppose each other in today's base ball game, and tomorrow Webber and Coakley, the Caribou's crack pitcher, will try conclusions.

Religious services will be held at the Cedars, the Rev. Mr. Walnwright officiating, on Sunday next. A steamer will leave Inlandtown for above service at 2 p. m., returning by moonlight.

In the quail tournament last evening the following scores were made: A. Wilmot, 2; T. Kellher, 17; J. Manson, 8; D. Walters, 12; J. Connors, 11; J. Kellher, 2.

"VIM" was the name selected by the firm advertising for a brand of tea. This name appeared on none of the lists in answer to the advertisement, but was chosen sometime after as more suitable than any sent in.

The Alerts returned home this morning. Their story of the game differed to some extent from that of the Halifax papers. Brit was not sent off the field, he walked off himself and then came back, and Webber's action toward O'Neill was the result of an epithet the latter player applied to him.

THE CONDUCTOR'S JOKE.

On one of the street cars going to Inlandtown today a conversation between the conductor and two women afforded considerable amusement for the other passengers. The women had got on the car at Paradise row and had blue transfers instead of white. The conductor gathered them in, and after explaining that they were no good, asked for fares. The women strongly objected, claiming that they had been led astray by the man on the other car. And then the conductor opened out and explained to them how utterly impossible it was for anyone to make a mistake unless some conductor had given them wrong information. He reminded them of the fact that the fact that it is very rare, conductors have a small amount of brains. He pointed out that a conductor's business was chiefly to take impertinence from all classes of people, and enlarged on his subject with such good humor that the women were much pleased to meet so intelligent a man, and as they paid their fares and left the car at Douglas avenue they thanked him sweetly for his information, and promised not to mistake the asylum for the bay shore.

SHORT BERRY CROP.

It looks now as though the berry crops were going to be very poor this season. Raspberries, which started in well, are coming in but very small quantities and are now nearly done. The price has kept fairly high and shows no signs of dropping. Berries which have come down river are chiefly cultivated ones and but few wild ones have as yet appeared.

The blueberry crop is a complete failure. The Hampstead brings most of these berries, and they are selling at about ninety cents a bucket, with few offerings. Gooseberries have been coming for some time, but in very small quantities, and are bringing sixty-five and seventy cents a pail.

AN EXCURSION DISH.

A souvenir paper plate, which was dropped by some of the excursionists to Brown's Flats yesterday, seems to indicate that its former possessors were not in any way injured by the bountiful supply of refreshments. The plate is decorated with flags, ships, etc., and on one side, besides several names, bears the following: "We met at tea but did not meet the tea. It was not meet that we should eat." On the reverse side is, "They shall hunger no more, neither thirst any more, for the Lord shall feed them and shall lead them to a table on which are one biscuit and two raspberries."

An assault case is on in the police court this afternoon. Mrs. Tilley Roberts is the complainant, and the defendants are William Fudge, Mrs. Fudge and Lemuel Fudge. They are neighbors and live in Pugtown. There is, at time of going to press, a regular mix-up, the only thing being clear is that Mrs. Roberts was assaulted.

POLICE COURT.

The Alleged Owners of Dogs Have a Field Day.

The Guthro Family Make a Fine Exhibition of Themselves.

"I've lost my doggy. Who's seen my bow-wow?" "Poor little doggy!" "Bow-wow-wow-wow."

The ascendancy of Sirius is generally supposed to be the cause of trouble to the canine race, but by the proceedings in the police court this morning the action of this star is not by any means so serious a matter as the reports of the police officers. When the list was first handed in there were over seven hundred names on it, but through fear of the awful results and the excessive fine imposed, so many of these people have managed to evade the law that today the number of names had been reduced to ninety, and of these twenty-three made various excuses by which they managed to escape. The other reports will stand over for a week.

Looking at the list of dog owners on the clerk's desk today one would be surprised at the number of persons who are entitled to use the letters D. D. after their names. But in this case the letters do not stand for doctor of divinity, but simply dog destroyed, and the names of the animals, which, according to the stories told, have met watery graves, should cause, if not another freshet, at least an appreciable rise in the level of the harbor.

The numerous excuses offered today were of the whole below the ordinary standard.

One lady from Sheffield street has not had a dog for a long, long time. The nasty brute was drowned ever so long ago—the day after she received the notice, and that was last Tuesday. Another dog, knowing that a license was required, began to get cross at once and had to be sent away. A gentleman from Pond street was quite pungent at the imputation. He scorned to own a dog and would not do such a thing. From Clarence street comes the unusual occurrence of the 24th of May celebration killing a terrier and the story went. On Broad street the mongrel probably saw the policeman, for he vanished whenever notice was given, and on Lombard street ever since the officer paid his visit the animal has been dying. It is still alive, but will certainly die sometime. From Brussels street is a story of a pup now three weeks old, which was given away to a friend up river the day the policeman called. That was three weeks ago, and the name of the pup was certainly not the advent of that pup. A little boy from the north end cried bitterly because "Daddy had drowned Fido," and a big brawny son of toll from Lovet Cove remarked, "Naw, I ain't had no pup all done at the command of God. He tells us where to go and what to do. Obeying we are cared for. In regard to healing the sick let me say that we believe thoroughly in the fact of sickness and pain, but know that God can over-rule it all. Wonderful cures have resulted. So far there have been none in St. John."

The present campaign is the result of a command received by Mr. Sanford, the head of the body, direct from God, the first of the year. In regard to it, the official organ of the body, The Everlasting Gospel, says:

"God has shown us that the second campaign on the western hemisphere is to be in New Brunswick, the state to New York, and in the western part of Massachusetts, and workers are already in these different places." New Brunswick is to be plucked as a brand from the burning, and the work has commenced in St. John.

The simplicity of the life of the Church of Holy Ghost and Us members is shown by the bare furnishing of their headquarters in this city. But the members are quite happy and the prospects are good for work here, they say.

HOLY GHOST AND US.

A Branch of This Church Has Been Established Here.

A branch of the Holy Ghost and Us church has reached the city and headquarters for the province have been made here. Already there are about thirty or forty workers in New Brunswick, and of these twelve are in the city. They come from the training school at Shiloh, Maine. A Star reporter this morning had a talk with Elder G. W. Higgins, who is the head of the organization here. He said that the training school, from which the workers come, has now between three and four hundred students of both sexes; one half of them are in the field at present, some in different states of the union, some in England, and others in this province. The body is entirely undenominational and emphasizes no one particular doctrine over another. They claim to teach the Bible as Christ and His disciples taught it. There is no organization among them resulting from the election of man. Spiritual selection, made known to the individual and to others, characterizes their election of officers.

At the school there is no charge made for tuition, board or room, the student puts his trust in God. He provides food for the ravens, and the members of Holy Ghost and Us live in the same happy, trusting state. The large building at Shiloh has been put up without solicitation of money or any such thing. God provided it. These fortunate people now have properties that cost $125,000.

Following out this idea of faith and trust for supplying the things to satisfy natural wants, the workers receive no salary, and take up no collection at their services. With them the idea that a collection is necessary religious ceremony was never held. They remark on this subject that they do not believe that Christ, after His sermon on the Mount said, "Peter and John will now pass the hat for a collection." So the workers in the church of the Holy Ghost have lost their most important office and the man on the front seat does not have to give a large piece of silver. The money, however, comes in abundantly whenever needed, and contributions thus forwarded range in size from one cent to substantial cheques.

"We are entirely opposed," said Mr. Higgins, "to spiritualism, Christian science and Mormonism. Our practices are those of the New Testament. We believe that the sick can be healed by the prayer of faith, and I have often offered prayer and witnessed the effect. In fact it is as common and practical for us to pray in faith, for the recovery of the sick, as for other people to use ginger tea, panacea and any other liniments. We are extremely simple in our tastes, and have come to cheerfully do without things which others might perhaps consider necessities. For us these are luxuries. Our work is all done at the command of God. He tells us where to go and what to do. Obeying we are cared for. In regard to healing the sick let me say that we believe thoroughly in the fact of sickness and pain, but know that God can over-rule it all. Wonderful cures have resulted. So far there have been none in St. John."
