The committee had before them a bill of Richard Whiteside, the late auditor, claiming 14 days' pay as auditor, from the first to the fourteenth day of May A. D. 1901, $19.

They are of opinion that there is no liability on the part of the municipality to pay this bill, as the auditor's salary is fixed at $500 per council year. This amount has already been paid. They therefore recommend that the bill be filed.

They recommend that the standing order passed by the council granting to the clerk of the county court, $15, to the clerk of the county court, $3, and to the judge of the county court, $3, and to the judge of the sounty court, $10 per annum, be rescinded, and that the supplies be ordered by requisition in the usual way.

The report was adopted and its recommendations ordered to be carried The committee, consisting of the joint committees of the finance and accounts and county buildings, to whom was referred the further consideration of the plans for improvements in the county jail, reported as

That your committee, after full consideration of the two sets of plans submitted by the architects decided to accept the plans as submitted by H. H. Mott, and, in accordance with the resolution of this council, called for tenders for the completion of the work as follows:

such an important undertaking. This was agreed to. The council then took up the matter of the dividing line between the city of St. John and the parish of Simonds, the county secretary stating that this was the arrangement made at the last meeting.

The report submitted at the May meeting by the joint committee of the city and county councils was read. commissioners appointed years ago to formulate a scheme for the union of the cities of St. John and Portland did not follow the old established boundary line between Simonds and the then city of Portland, but ran a line 100 yards to the eastward of the old line, thus cutting off from Simonds and placing in the united city a portion of ground, including the Drury Cove matter might be laid over till authormater and properties owned by

"It gives me much pleasure," writes Missella Sapp, of Jamestown, Gnilford County, N. C. "to thank Dr. Pierce for the great good received from the use of his 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I had suffered for three years or more at monthly periods. It seemed as though I would die with pains in my back and stomach. I could not stand at all without fainting. Had given up all hope of ever being cured, when one of my friends insisted upon my trying Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. With but little faith I tried it, and before I had taken half a bottle I felt better. Now I have taken two bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and I am entirely cured, and in two months' time when all other medicines had failed."

sked to promote legislation towards the re-establishment of the old line the expense to be borne by the county Coun. Macrae moved the adoption of the report, stating that it simply meant a return to the old order of affairs. Coun. Christie opposed the proposition, stating that if this property were taken away from the city the council night just as well think of allowing one, two or three wards to go out of the city. It was unfair to talk of essening the security the holders of the city's bonds had. The county sent children in to our high school and did was, through an error of the surveyor, taken into the city of St. John. should, therefore, be placed back in the parish of Simonds. The lessening of the security of bond holders would be a small thing, and it would be taking away something they were never ention of the report. Coun. Horgan maintained that the

away from the city, but to give Simends what belonged to it.
Coun. Daniel said the council must have proof that the present boundary line was not a proper one before they thought of adopting this report.
The secretary said the committee heard evidence from G. G. Gilbert, Wm. Murdock and Denis Gallivan There was no minute of the evidence given, however, that he knew of. Coun. Daniel said this -evidence should be here for the guidance of the Coun. Macrae claimed that all the adoption of the report meant was the employment of a surveyor to determine what the line should be. Coun. Christ's said Simonds had all to gain by a change in the boundary.

Let that parish bear the expenses. Coun. Hilyard said the opin among the members was that this was a matter for the local government to Coun. McGoldrick understood Mr. Murdoch, who made the survey and fixed the present line, said that his line was the proper line. Coun. Horgan thought the members of the committee from both the city and county councils agreed that this property belonged to Simonds.

Coun. Macrae's motion then passed, all the members voting for it except Coun. Christie. The warden and Couns. Robinson, McGoldrick and Lee were appointed to arrange for the survey. The report of the committees on finance and accounts and county finance and accounts and county buildings was then taken from the table, a number of councillors having arrived in the meantime. Coun. McMulkin moved the adoption of the report.

Coun. McGoldrick thought some changes might be made in the plans which would prove an improvement He suggested the appointment of a committee to attend to that matter.

Coun. Christie inquired where the money was coming from to pay for these improvements. Legislation for the issue of bonds could not be got Coun. Baxter said there was some five or six thousand dollars on hand would probably be lessened in consequence. There might be something in quence. There might be something in talking of delay on account of the proportion for the city of St. John to build a new city building. But he did not believe St. John with the work it had to do on its streets, could think seriously of erecting a new hall for ome years to come. There was no gainsaying the complaint that the jail was a miserable and disgraceful institution. This seemed to be the only way, of remedying the evil by the erection of this annex. He hoped the report would meet with the approval of the council.

Coun. McGoldrick said he did not contemplate anything large in the way of extras, but some changes might be considered advisable to make minor changes. There were in the council several practical men, builders of targe experience, who would be well able to suggest slight alterations in the plans. Why not have the benefit which their experience would give.

Coun. Maxwell said the amendmen of Coun. Daniel simply meant delay. The council had for years been asked to provide better accommodation at the jail. Now the matter had been worked along till the county had a tender from a reputable firm to make the additions for $11,266. Why put the work off longer? This was the best way to get increased accommodation and the council should no longer hesitate about proceeding with the same. Coun. Daniel said the city council had a right to issue debentures by a two-thirds vote. This county council had no such authority and had to get power to do so from the legislature. If money on hand were used it meant bing other services, which must result in their impairment. Coun. Christie could not understand how it was there was so much money on hand at the end of each year. He was not aware that there was a sur-plus, as some members urged. The money should be got before the work was undertaken. He said when the question of jall improvement first came up, members urged that plans be got for the same and these then assured the council that this would not involve any large expenditure. The plans were got and then tenders were invited. Now, the whole thing was out and the county will be asked to approve of ar expenditure of between eleven and twelve thousand dollars. He thought the money should be provided first. Coun. Waring agreed with Coun. Christie, and said the council were starting in illegally. If the work were begun any person could take steps to prevent the further prosecution of the ame till the money was on hand. Coun. Baxter maintained there is nothing illegal about borrowing the Coun. Daniel changed his amend ment to read that the report be no adopted, but that the council ask for authority to issue $12,000 of debentures for the improvement of the jail. Coun. Daniel's amenda voted down by a large majority, only Coun. Armstrong (Lancaster), Rud-

John), Daniel and Waring voting for

The report of the joint committees Couns. McMulkin, R. H. Armstrong Long, Christie. Maxwell and the war den were appointed to oversee the work, along with the architect, H. H Mott.

A letter was read from Weldon & McLean, notifying the council that they had been retained by W. E. Scully in the matter of a claim against the city. > Coun. McMulkin called attention to the fact that the wall had been removed from the rock in front of the registry office. He thought the rock should be taken away. Coun. Maxwell favored the reference of this matter to the county buildings committee, who should also take up the question of trimming off the rock at the end of the Court House. He made a resolution to that effect, and it passed, and that committee will take action at once. Coun. Daniel asked that something be done in the way of cleaning up the lower portion of the Court House and putting it in a respectable condition. He referred to the notices posted up on the front of the Court House, which made it look very bad. He moved that the county buildings committee be asked to clean up the Court House, and that the sheriff be requested to put up a board on which all notices shall be posted. Coun. McGoldrick seconded this motion and spoke strongly in its sup-The motion passed. The warden suggested that the old city court room be fitted up for the use of the Municipal Council.

This seemed to meet with approva on all hands. Coun. Horgan moved for the purchase of a piece of property in Simonds for use as a gravel pit, from Michael Duff, for $50. This passed and the council adjourned.

Z. R. Everett moved that Alex. Gibson be nominated as the standard bearer of the liberal party, seconded by Coun. McMinnamin and carried unanimously.

Mr. Gibson briefly addressed the meeting, thanking the electors for the confidence expressed in him. H said that the day was very hot, a foretaste, he supposed, of the election. He had had one session at Ottawa and he had done a great deal for York tounty. It was true that he had not wasted much wind, but he had done considerable talking and he had done a great deal of wire pulling and he had done something for his county. It seemed that Dr. McLeod wanted an election. Well, he'll find out that we will give him all the election he wants. It was too warm to speak today, and he was not a talker anyway.

T. H. Coller was next called upon. He was too warm to speak today, and he was not a talker anyway.

T. H. Colter was next called upon. He said that he was glad to see men here today who had never before been seen in a liberal convntion. They are men of influence, too, and are now opposing Dr. McLeod. They are as much conservative as ever, but they believe that Mr. Gibson having fought a fair fight and won was entitled to his seat for the five years. Mr. Gibson ran as fair and as pure an election as was ever run in this county. It is true that some money was spent on behalf of Mr. Gibson in buying dinners and hiring teams and he (Colter) spent some of it himself. But this he could say, that where he spent $5 on behalf of Mr. Gibson, $15 was spent on behalf of Mr. Gibson, $15 was spent on behalf of Dr. McLeod. He met Dr. McLeod at an Orangemen's celebration at Burtt's Corner the other day, and an effort was there made. of Dr. McLeod. He met Dr. McLeod at an Orangemen's celebration at Burtt's Corner the other day, and an effort was there made to turn that affair into a canvass for Dr. McLeod and to prevent him (Colter) from being heard. Why the leaders of that meeting tried to have it adjourned without giving him a chance to speak. But he was called to the platform and he showed up some of the fallacies of the previous speakers. He believed in equal rights for all and in free speech. Dr. McLeod's party does not. He hoped to have the good fortune to be sent out into the county during the coming election campaign to speak upon the great and tion campaign to speak upon the great and burning questions of the day.

Geo. W. Allen, M. P. P., was called on for a speech, but did not respond.

The meeting broke up with cheers for Mr.
