ACRES OF WHEAT

WINNIPES, June 18.—The provincial rop report, issued this morning, shows wheat acreage exceeds last year's re-cord by one-half million.

More than three million acres of wheat is the splendid total for Manitoba agriculturists this year. The oats acreage has increased enormously as compared with 1905, the total acreage for this year being 1,155,961. The barley acreage is now 474,242, and the grand total of the increase of small grain acreage in Manitoba in 1906 is 655,856.

The crop prospects generally are excellent, and an era of prosperity is forecasted by the investigation of the department through its 375 regular correspondents in Manitoba.

DUMMY GORPSE ONE TRICK OF SWINDLER

PARIS, June 19.—One of the clever est swindlers that justice has put he hand upon for a long time was before the Seine Assizes yesterday. This is a man named Rene Hayer, who was sentenced to five years' imprisonment on charges of forgery and fraud. Hayer began life as an engineer, but son turned to crime. His specialty was the defrauding of insurance com-panies. He had a string of aliases. One day he would appear as a work-man, the next as a nobleman. In the fashionable world he was known as the Marquis de Lamoignon.

DECEIVED THE DOCTORS.

The "marquis" insured himself ag anist accident with several companies. After he had paid the first premium he eported that he had had a fall downstairs, which resulted in an injury to his head. It was proved afterward that the prisoner had shown the doctor sent to examine him an old wound. At all events, the company were deceived, and paid $3,000 compensation. Hayer next set fire to his premises and collected $250 insurance.

One of his greatest 'coups' was when he insured his life for $20,000. One day the company interested learned that Hayer had fallen down the steps of the station at Vinc broken his spine, and that he had but a few days to live. Again the doctors were completely deceived. The com-pany's representative sought an interview with the "dying" man, and succeeded in effecting a settlement for $10,000 cash down. The claimant was duly reported to have died, and the insurance company, congratulating itself in its business ability, sent a wreath to what has since transpired to NEW BRUNSWICKER have ben the funeral of a dummy corpse
