IMPERIAL DRY DOCK CO.

ASKS FOR A GUARANTEE OF BOND SINKING FUND

W. H. Thorne and W. Burton Stewart Met City Commissioners Yesterday -- Grant will Mean About $48,000 a Year from City and Province Jointly.

Yesterday W. H. Thorne, the newly elected president of the Imperial Dry Dock Company, and W. Burton Stewart, managing director of the company, met the city and provincial commissioners at a conference with the city commissioners, at which matters relating to the project of establishing a steel plant at Courtenay Bay were discussed.

The company is asking the city and province to guarantee the sinking funds on its bond issues and propose as a consideration for this assistance to reclaim about 250 acres south and east of the breakwater which will be available as a site for an iron and steel plant, a shipbuilding plant and other industries. The company showed much interest in the proposition put before them and promised to give it serious consideration as soon as possible.

Mr. Thorne and Mr. Stewart expect to go to Fredericton today and interview the local government.

Asks Credit to Help Bonds.
When seen last evening Mr. Stewart stated that the company was practically asking the use of the credit of the city and province to enable it to dispose of its bonds on the most favorable terms. The federal government was guaranteeing the interest on the bonds, but they had to make provision for a sinking fund. They wanted the city and province jointly to agree to guarantee a payment equal to about one per cent. on the bond issue, which would be applied to the sinking fund. Supposing the dry dock earned nothing this would mean that the local government and the city together would be asked to put up about $48,000 a year. If the dry dock earns $30,000 the first year then the city and province would have to put up the balance of $18,000.

"While the dry dock may not pay for the first year or two we have faith that it will be a profitable proposition in a very short time," said Mr. Stewart "and we have agreed that any payments made by the city and province will become a charge on the future earnings of the company. Eventually the company will have to return to the city and province any payments they may have to make on the sinking fund account, so we are really only asking for the use of the credit of the city and province. In return we will reclaim about 250 acres of our own expense, and do our utmost to assure the establishment of a steel plant."

Mr. Stewart said the reclamation scheme would not interfere with any plan for the future enlargement of the harbor at Courtenay Bay by a breakwater further down, and that the reclamation scheme was necessary to the materialization of the steel plant.

The mayor when seen said the proposition was a big one and involved important issues, and that the commissioners would make their decision known as soon as possible.

ANOTHER COMPANY TO WORK TO COLONIZE THE PROVINCE

Englishman Here to Open Office for English Colonization Concern--Plans to Establish Demonstration Farm.

"It should be an easy matter to bring 75,000 people from the old country and locate them on the farm lands of New Brunswick within two years," said W. V. Corfield, a young Englishman who has opened an office at 71 Dock street, and is acting as representative of the Canadian Farms Improvement Company, a big English colonization concern.

"It's merely a question of advertising for the English farmer with moderate capital. New Brunswick offers advantages that he cannot obtain in any other part of the world. The conditions here he would not go west. Only recently has the government of New Brunswick begun to do anything to advertise the opportunities of the province in the old country."

The great trouble has been that nearly every railway agency in Great Britain has been interested in sending people to the west. The immigrants land here in the winter; they see the country covered with ice and snow and on their journey over the C. P. R. they see one of the roughest sections of the province under the most unfavorable conditions. When they return home for Christmas they proceed over the C. P. R. line in New Brunswick under the same conditions and if their friends ask them about New Brunswick they talk of the portion they have seen during the winter and give a very wrong impression of the province.

"One thing needed to give the immigrants a chance to see the province under fair conditions and to attract people here is a good steamship service all the year round. The fact that St. John is advertised as a winter port creates an unfavorable impression on the other side."

"My father conducts a large training farm in the old country. About a year ago he went to the C. P. R. office in London and said he would like to invest a few hundred pounds in New Brunswick. The C. P. R. man derided the idea on investing anything in New Brunswick and urged him to go out west. When my father told him that he had visited New Brunswick and considered it one of the best provinces in Canada the railway man said, 'You know our interests are in the west, and it is business to get money and men for the west.'"

Mr. Corfield has spent the summer visiting different parts of the province, and has already purchased about forty farms for English people. This week he bought a farm of 200 acres near Salisbury for J. Macdonald, which will be devoted to orcharding, and another farm of 100 acres at Quispamsis for J. Hudson, who will go in for apple raising, poultry and market gardening.

"New Brunswick has the finest apple growing land in the world," said Mr. Corfield. "In a few years you will see the whole of the lower St. John Valley covered with orchards. The New Brunswick apple has a much better color and flavor than the British Columbia apple, and will easily command the English market when the farmers begin to raise the fruit in sufficient quantities to attract the English buyer here."

"Near Gagetown I have bought for the Canadian Farms Improvement Company 400 acres of land, which it is intended to convert into a demonstration farm, and provide training for young fellows with capital who intend to go in for farming in this province."

"The idea of this company is to bring out men with capital and practical knowledge. If necessary I will clear the virgin land and create ready made farms. The trouble so far is in getting farm laborers without capital or any scientific knowledge."

"When I say 75,000 people ought to be settled in New Brunswick in two years, I am not exaggerating. Even that rate the province would not be getting its fair share of the immigration from the old country. Just as in the States a reaction from the western movement must set in, and there will be big developments in eastern Canada in a few years."

THE SUGAR REFINERY

Some Conditions in the Agreement with Mr. Durant which Hold Good with the New Company.

The old agreement between the city and Mr. Durant, which was ratified by act of the legislature, remains in force except in so far as conditions governing the guarantee for the erection of the refinery are modified by the new agreement with D. Lorne McGibbon, F. H. Anson and the other men who have taken over Mr. Durant's interest in the refinery project. The old agreement does not stipulate the minimum number of persons the refinery will employ, or the number of days it shall be in operation in a given year, but it does provide that the refinery shall be operated to 50 per cent. of its capacity of 2,000 barrels a day for at least 18 months in the first three years. This means that the company is required to turn out an average of 500 barrels a day.

The following is the clause governing output:

"Provided that in event of the refinery not being operated to at least fifty per cent. of the full capacity of two thousand barrels per day (namely one thousand barrels per day) for the aggregate period of eighteen months in any thirty-six consecutive months, hereafter, all exemptions and rights as to water privileges and as to taxation shall forthwith cease, save however, that if the city is satisfied that the shutting down is due to tariff conditions in Canada or other causes beyond the control of the refinery management, or if the shutting down is due to strikes where the authorities under the Lemioux or other labor act do not find the management in fault, this clause should not have effect."

The act of legislature passed in 1910 states that the agreement between the city and the company "shall contain a covenant providing for the payment of a sum of money to be granted by the city, should the refinery enter into an agreement or understanding whereby its production is reduced or curtailed, without the consent of the city."
