NATION'S LIABILITIES HAVE REACHED FIGURE WHICH STAGGERS IMAGINATION

By this growing intimacy, confidence and co-operation in regard to the campaign in all its aspects, the Allies, he declared, should effectively counteract the advantage their enemies undoubtedly possessed in the early stages of the fighting in both fields, strategy and diplomacy.

Of the British navy, the Premier said that its work had been largely unobtrusive, but it had performed, was performing, and would continue to perform, four supreme duties, namely, first, the defence of the British shores against the possibility of invasion; second, complete neutralization of the aggressive power of a hostile fleet; third, clearance of the high seas from the menace, which early in the war was of a most formidable kind, and maintenance of a free influx of necessary goods for Great Britain and her Allies; fourth, vigilant and continuous stoppage of enemy supplies and enemy trade, which was one of the most important factors in the final successful prosecution of the war.

Regarding the army in the actual theatre of war, "the fighting areas," Great Britain, said the Premier, had at this moment ten times her original expeditionary force. He was not including India or the garrison at Gibraltar and Malta, but referred to the troops from this country.

New Vote of Credit.

A member here interrupted Mr. Asquith, asking whether he included the troops from the colonies.

The Premier replied that if they were included, the figures, of course, would be larger. Mr. Asquith said that next week a very large vote of credit would be asked. He assumed that the war expenditure amounted to nearly 5,000,000 pounds daily, with no prospect of reduction. The nation's liabilities on January 1, had reached a figure which would stain the sources for a generation, and staggered imagination. He asserted that the burden could only be met by large additions to taxation, such as the Chancellor of the Exchequer would soon propose, and by the maintenance of British credit by keeping up exports, keeping down unnecessary imports, and reducing expenditures. England must also keep down the consumption of luxuries.

The Premier declared that he had no more doubt as to the ultimate triumph of the Allies than he had in the righteousness of the war.

The Earl of Clarendon moved the address in reply to the speech from the throne in the House of Lords.

Barton Muir-Kennie seconded the address.

Earl Kitchener, secretary of war, reviewed the operations on the Western front, the future, which he predicted, and the determination of the people at home would overcome, to the extent that victory which should insure peace for many generations would be won.

Forces in France increased by 8 Divisions.

"In France," said Earl Kitchener, "although the Germans have been withdrawn, our forces have been materially increased by no less than eight divisions of the new army. In Egypt, against a threatened invasion, in Mesopotamia Major General Sir Aylmer is awaiting further reinforcements before renewing his forward movement for a juncture with Gen. Townshend."

Touching on the working of the new system of army enlistments, Earl Kitchener said the government was beginning to realize how seriously the number of men immediately obtainable are affected by exemptions.

"Time alone will show what the result will bring," said the war secretary, "but I trust, on a future occasion, to be in a position to re-assure the House as to the chance of securing the numbers required."

Continuing his review of the operations, Earl Kitchener said:

"The Allied offensive at Loos, in the Champagne and about Arras, inflicted very heavy losses on the Germans and resulted in the capture of important positions by the Allied troops. German counter-attacks failed to recover the ground which the enemy had been compelled to yield."

"Owing to the continuous offensive action on the Western front considerable German forces were withdrawn from the Russian frontier, enabling Russia to obtain certain successes and to hold the enemy wall in check. In France and Flanders, since the capture of Loos and the forward movement in Champagne, the Allied lines have remained practically unchanged. Through the winter the morale of the French army has been maintained at the same high level, and their fighting qualities have never been greater or more highly developed than at present."

"Our troops throughout the winter have been constantly carrying on active operations, which have given no rest or respite to the enemy."

"The activities of the Italian army were conspicuous in October and November during their advance on the Isonzo. Their efforts since then have not been relaxed, although the positions occupied by the enemy are so strong as to bar, for the present, the development of a forward movement, which the splendid courage of the Italian troops is surely eventually to push home."

"Notwithstanding the heavy blows and the consequent losses sustained by Russia in the summer of 1915, her army has been thoroughly re-organized and re-equipped, and her armaments increased."

"The Turkish army, reinforced by German supplies, was able to organize a movement of troops either against Egypt or to strengthen their forces in Mesopotamia, and at the same time to bring more powerful artillery to bear against our positions on the Gallipoli peninsula. It was therefore decided to withdraw from the peninsula and to reinforce our troops at Salonika and in Egypt."

Ready for Blow at Suez Canal.

"During last winter an abortive attempt on the Suez Canal was easily pushed aside by the small British force operating in that neighborhood, but as a more serious attempt has been threatened adequate preparations have been made to defend the canal."

"The Russo-German influence with the religious chief of the Senusi tribesmen on the west flank in Egypt succeeded in inducing the tribes of Cyrenaica and Tripoli to assume a hostile attitude towards us. Their first attempts resulted in complete failure and disaster, and, though this movement still causes a certain amount of unrest, the admirable loyalty of the people of Egypt forms an effective barrier to any penetration by these raiders into the cultivated areas."

"In East Africa several small engagements have taken place, and our troops at the front and the calm determination of the people at home to support them will enable us to look forward to a victorious issue which should ensure peace for many generations."

GOVERNMENT NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR MUNITIONS BOARD

Information Required by F. B. Carvell Cannot be Furnished Under Present Circumstances, Head of Board Says.

Ottawa, Feb. 15, via leased wire.—The fact that the Canadian government does not assume responsibility for the Imperial Munitions Board, even to the extent of undertaking to furnish information on its transactions to the house, furnished the subject matter of a little breeze at the opening of the house today. Sir Wilfrid Laurier asked the Prime Minister whether the opposition were to understand that certain information regarding shell contracts which the Minister of Marine had promised to get from the Munitions Board some weeks ago, and had not yet been furnished to Mr. F. B. Carvell, of Carleton, was not to be given to the house. Sir Robert Borden said that the information would, no doubt, be afforded by the shell committee, subject to the public interest and the wishes of the British government as to the kind of information to be given out. Sir Wilfrid said the committee seemed to be a mysterious one somewhere, presided over by Mr. J. W. Flavell, and which granted contracts. The Prime Minister said the records of the committee were not in the government's possession, as it had been appointed by the British minister of munitions. There was no mystery about the matter, other than that which Sir Wilfrid Laurier conjured up himself.

Hon. J. D. Hazen rose to state that he had asked the Munitions Board for the information desired by Mr. Carvell, and had been told that it could not be furnished.

CHILD'S TONGUE BECOMES COATED, IF CONSTIPATED

When cross, feverish and sick give "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely. A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system is full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

Budget of Sir Thos. Features—Dominion $31,000,000, H in London Market of Next Summer With Very Bright

Ottawa, Feb. 15.—In opening the Finance Minister declared that he was happy to be able to inform the House that the scheme of general and special taxation announced in his budget of last session had worked out well. Last March he had anticipated an aggregate revenue of $50,000,000 for the fiscal year ending next month, but he now anticipated a total revenue of at least $170,000,000, or $20,000,000 in excess of the estimate of a year ago.

He declared that the introduction of his budget last year, with the increased customs duties, had promptly arrested the sharp monthly declines, and by August revenues had been restored to the basis of the corresponding months of the year preceding the outbreak of the war. Since August last there had been a marked and continually progressive increase in monthly revenues, as compared with those of the corresponding period of the previous year, when the profound derangement of finance and commerce resulting from the war was exercising so serious an effect upon imports and general business. From the beginning of the present fiscal year up until Feb. 10th the total revenue of the Dominion from all sources had amounted to $145,000,000, an increase of $31,000,000 over the same period of the preceding year. Of this revenue about $82,000,000 had been derived from customs duties; $19,000,000 from excise; $14,000,000 from post office receipts, and about $3,000,000 from the special taxes other than the extra postal taxes. The increase in customs duties derived from the increased duties he estimated at $19,000,000.

ORDINARY EXPENDITURES CUT DOWN.

As to the expenditure of the current fiscal year, he noted that the policy of not undertaking new works had been rigidly followed. Only works actually under contract had been proceeded with. As a result, outlays for the year, apart from the war had been much less than the estimate of his last budget. Up to the present time expenditure on ordinary account had been found figures, $93,500,000, a decrease of over $13,000,000, as compared with the corresponding period of the previous year. On capital account, especially on such works as the N. T. R., the Quebec bridge, Halifax terminals, the St. Lawrence Channel, and the Hudson Bay Railway, expenditures had totaled $30,500,000, a decrease of $7,000,000, as compared with the corresponding period of the previous year. Taking into account increased revenue and decreased expenditures there had thus been an improvement of no less a sum than $61,000,000 so far this year. For the entire fiscal year he thought the net improvement would probably reach $57,000,000.

Dealing with war expenditures, Sir Thomas noted that the appropriation of last session was $100,000,000, while $200,000,000 had been voted at the preceding special session. This session the prime minister would introduce a further measure providing for an additional sum of at least $250,000,000. From the outbreak of the war to the end of January, 1916, Canada's total war expenditure had amounted to $150,000,000.

A BALANCE AT HOME AND ABROAD.

"We entered upon the present fiscal year," continued Sir Thomas, "with 3,000,000 pounds of treasury bills maturing in June. We had also a bank indebtedness of $5,000,000. These treasury bills were retired upon maturity, and our bank indebtedness has been paid off. The Dominion government is now in a position to re-assure

TRANSPORTING ARTILLERY TO ALLIES' BALKAN FRONT

FRENCH ARTILLERY ON THE ROAD, NEAR SALONIKA.

The supreme difficulty at the moment of operations in the Balkans is that of transport, which will, unfortunately, increase with the winter weather. Cam and motor ambulance wagons are in use now, but the wretched country road, with its stretches of holes and ruts, makes the worst possible conditions for them. The horse transport is also seriously hindered by the amount of traffic on some of the trunk roads, which are sometimes blocked for this reason.
