In 1871 their pay and travelling expenses were $4128.40; contingencies, $1089.95; postage, $841.18; telegrams, $435.47; blinding journals, $262.95; Clerk's salary, $1360; assistant do., $700; preparing index to journals, $160; stationery and parchment, $947.32; Chaplain, Messenger. usher, doorkeepers and engrossing clerk, $790; printing, $881.60; or $11,096.82 in all. Deducting on account of parchment, etc., for Lower House make the cost $10,000. The $60,000 thus spent in six years since Confederation, might have been spent some other way more to the advantage of the Province. Il 1850 a memorial passed the House of Assembly praying Her Majesty that the Legislative Council be made elective. For that memorial were twenty-six yeas and only five nays, and among the majority were men whose names are nonorably associated with the political history of the country. Such men as Partelow, L. A. Wilmot, Fisher, Hanington, Kitchie, Connell, Wark, End, Botsford, Vall, Woodward, and others. Afterwards, in 1851, a general election having interveend, a measure was introduced to make the Council elective. Upon the passing of this bill to the Upper Branch, Hon. Mr. Chandler is reported in Mr. Fenety's notes, page 382, to have sooken an hour in favor of the bill,dwell-ing principally on the want of political independence in the Council, and the abwhich he said was a fair average. The liabilities proposed amounted to nearly $3,000.000. It was considered at the time a great monster. Many considered it visionary, and that it never would be acted upon. All were constructed except the Miramichi Branch and Albert Railway. He contended the Province was amply able in a financial way to shoulder the burden.

Hon. Mr. Jones considered the scheme entirely too large for the finances of the country. To bind the Province to a debt of $1,500.000 for all time was more than he would vote.

Hon. Mr. Seely was opposed to the bill, the Government will fall short of their estimated income.
