Sewers Will Need no Thawing

City Engineer Rendell Reports the Drains All Open and Ready for Water.

The trouble, bother, delay and exnse of thawing out the city sewers this year will be nothing whatever as compared with former years for the simple reason that all the large box drains that were installed last season are in excellent condition for mmediate use and will require n attention at all. Such, was the gist of a statement made this morning by City Engineer Rendell who a few days ago had occasion to investigate all the drains that have been put in under his supervision. He found them. all open and generally free from ice thousand dollar bar of gold from a so that no thawing whatever will be required. As soon as water begins, running in the laterals the gates at the upper side of the drains will be removed and the water will proceed without interruption to the river. Last year it will be reme bered the old sewers were in such condition that an opening could scarcely forced through them and several of the places of business along King and Q. en streets narrowly escaped flooding before relief was at last secured Then the new drains were put in postion and no more difficulty is apprehended from that source as long as care is used in closing the drains in the fall and also the manner in which they are used during the winter. Regarding the sewerage system at present in the city and the probability of its being extended this sum mer, none of the meesbers of the standing committee on streets, works thorities to be acted upon and there; and property care to commit themselves this early in the year. There is already in position large box drains tract calls for the winter delivery of on all the cross streets extending 1700 pounds per week. But it is the from Harper to Duke streets inclusive surplus water from the hills during the spring thaw, the main purpose o the drains.
