IMPERIAL MINISTERS WHO HAVE NOT SEEN THE WIDE WORLD.

The Untraveled Cabinet-Small Numbe of Members of British Ministry Have Ever Been in America-Lord Lans downe and Mr. Chamberlain the Most Traveled Men in Administration-Many Ministers Have Mot Made Grand Tour

Constitutional pedants have sought for a precedent for Mr. Chamberlain's tour. They have found none in this country, says The London Daily Mail, and only one abroad, the latter being that of a French minister who some time ago visited the French West African colonies.

French West African colonies.
It is curious how few Cabinet Ministers have really traveled extensively, and how still fewer Ministers have visited the lands which they represent in Parliament. This is not Mr. sent in Parliament. This is not Mr. Chamberlain's first tour abroad. He has visited Malta to study the Maltese question, the Bahamas (privately), and America on two or three occasions; in fact, he and Lord Lansdowne are the only two whom Americans seem at all to know as visitors to their shores. Quite recently Major-General Corbin said to a representative of The Daily Mail "Nothing has struck us more during our thing has struck us more during our presentative of The Daily Mail "Nothing has struck us more during our visit to this country than the small number of Ministers who have ever visited America."

Other Cabinet Ministers have, however, traveled considerably. The Duke of Devonshire went with Lord Gran-ville to Russia after the Crimean war ville to Russia after the Crimean war in 1857, and there is an impression he went to America in his youth. Mr. St. John Brodrick traveled in India, Australia and other British possessions in the early nineties. Mr. A. J. Balfour went on a special mission to Berlin in 1878. Mr. George Wyndham served in the Suakim campaign in 1885, and has visited Rhodesia and Matabeleland. Lord George Hamilton has served abroad in the Rifle Brigade (1864-1868), but has never been to India, which he repre-Rifle Brigade (1864-1868), but has never been to India, which he represents in the Commons. Lord George Hamilton was however, in Canada during a stormy period in the history of the Dominion. Lord Selborne knows Malta and Gibraltar, as does Mr Arnold-Forster. Lord Dudley has yachted abroad.

The traveled man of the Cabinet is Lord Lansdowne, Secretary of State

Lord Lansdowne, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs. He has been Viceroy of India and Governor-General of Canada. He has been in Egypt and knows Europe well. Viscount Cranborne, the Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, took part in the late campaign in South Africa as a yeomanry officer. Lord Stanley, the Financial Secretary to the War Office acted as press censes. Stanley, the Financial Secretary to the War Office, acted as press censor on the same occasion. He is now go-ing to India for the durbar as the guest of Lord Kitchener. Lord Valentia, Controller of the Household, and the Duke of Marlborough served in South Africa, which Lord Hardwicke, the Under Secretary of War, has also visited. Earl Per-ey, the Under Secretary of India, has

On the whole, it is curious that in these days of immense railway these days of immense railway developments men are less traveled than they were 50 years ago. In those days no man ever thought himself equipped for any public life unless he had made the so-called grand tour, which included at any rate every European country.

Doctors' Incomes in England.

The British Medical Journal ventured an estimate of the average income that might be expected by the general practitioner in England and put at £400 to £500. The estimate was copied into several daily process, and have a produced a large papers and has produced a large crop of correspondence teeting with ridicule and indignation. The gener-al practitioners who ought to know, declare that only a small proportion of their number earn so much even after years of arduous work. The competition brought about by the over-crowded state of the profession is, they declare, so great that it is a cruelty to induce men by inflated estimates to enter it.

Long Distance Fruits

Dr. A. A. Brown of the Agricultural department of Victoria, has been exdepartment of Victoria, has been experimenting with soft fruits with a view to their preservation during a long journey, such as that from Australia to Southampton. In January last he selected some fine peaches, halved the sample, and packed each set in a separate case. One case was subjected to fumigation with formaldehyde gas and the other to methane. In both instances the fruit methane. In both instances the fruit remained perfectly sound and showed no traces of decay, even after many
