EIGHTH YEAR A NOBLE LIFE'S SAD CLOSE.

LORD IDELDEIGH'S DEATH.
A Noble Life's Sad Close.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The afternoon while Lord Ideldeigh was in the city, the Earl of Ideldeigh, who had been in the city for some time, was taken ill and died at his residence in Downing street, at the age of 82. He was a noble and distinguished statesman, and had served his country in various capacities.

His Death Not Expected.
Lord Ideldeigh's physician, Dr. Martin, issued a bulletin which says: "Lord Ideldeigh has for many years past suffered with cardiac affections, which, while not placing his life in immediate peril, rendered the prospect of his sudden termination only too possible. He died of apoplexy." This melancholy event, although startling to those around him, has not been unforeseen by his immediate friends, and it has been anticipated by his physician.

Salisbury Greatly Affected.
LONDON, Jan. 12.—The Prime Minister arrived soon after Lord Ideldeigh was taken ill, and while the doctors were trying to rally him, he was greatly affected by the death of his friend.

The Queen Deeply Affected.
LONDON, Jan. 12.—The Queen was deeply affected by the death of Lord Ideldeigh, and immediately sent a telegram expressing her sympathy with the widow and family.

The Physician's Statement.
LONDON, Jan. 12.—In an interview this evening Dr. Longdon said: "I was summoned to Downing street at about 3.15 p.m. On arrival I found Lord Ideldeigh in a room with the Earl of Ideldeigh. The Earl was lying on a sofa. He was in a semi-conscious condition and exceedingly weak. He died at 5.15 p.m."

A Newspaper's Significant Remark.
LONDON, Jan. 12.—The Morning Post, in an article on the death of Lord Ideldeigh, says: "It is difficult to do justice to the high position which Lord Ideldeigh occupied in the public mind, and the high esteem in which he was held by his contemporaries."

There Will Be No Inquest.
The body of Lord Ideldeigh has been removed to the family residence in St. James' place. There will be no inquest, the doctors certifying that death resulted from failure of the heart's action.

Sketch of the Deceased.
Sir Stafford Northcote was born in London in 1816, graduated at the University of Cambridge, and was admitted to the bar in 1847. He entered Parliament as a Conservative in 1855. In 1868 he was appointed President of the Board of Trade and in 1874 he was appointed Secretary of State for the Colonies.

Massacre of Christians in Africa.
Ten buildings at London, Ill., were burned yesterday morning. The anti-Mormon bill passed the House at 10 o'clock yesterday. A fire yesterday at Portsmouth, Ohio, destroyed a servant studying a catechism, and, being greatly enraged, caused the massacre of 100 negro converts. The mountain range in Montana are impassable owing to the depth of snow.

How Horses Rest.
"Horses can get some rest standing," said an old driver recently, "provided the position is reasonably easy, but not full rest, except in the stable. It is known of some horses that they never lie down in the stall, though if kept in pasture they take their rest habitually in a recumbent position. It is well to consider whether the habit has not been forced upon the horse by some circumstance connected with the stall he was made to occupy, in that it had a muddy earth floor, or one made of dilapidated planks, uncomfortable and offensive to the horse that had been accustomed to select his own bed in the pasture. If the horse can see the privilege of selecting his own position for resting on his feet, he can sleep standing; but when he is confined to a stall, it is better to let him lie down."

How to Get On With Women.
From the Philadelphia Call.
If a girl is pretty, tell her so; if she is ugly, talk about ugliness or other women.

JEALOUS OF BULLANGER. A Rumor That He has Retired From the Ministry Started in Paris.

Paris, Jan. 12.—A London despatch to the Mail and Express says the rumor of Gen. Boulanger's retirement from the French Ministry, alleged to be consequent on the flat refusal of M. Goblet to lay before Parliament the bill for military credits, is believed to have been started with the view of influencing the decision of the German Reichstag on Prince Bismarck's army bill. At the same time, however, it is pointed out that the general's retirement would be a matter of course, and that the bill for military credits is believed to have been started with the view of influencing the decision of the German Reichstag on Prince Bismarck's army bill.

Opinion as to the result of the Reichstag debate on the constitution, there was no idea that they would lead to such miserable disputes as have now arisen.

Refraining to the question of the working classes, he declared that the Government did not wish to drag it into the present discussion. He was sure that if called upon by the Emperor the workingmen of Germany would be ready at all times to come forward.

Princo Bismarck has long daily come to the Reichstag, and it is supposed, to the position of the Reichstag. In Government circles it is believed that the bill, and must insist upon the full scope of the measure. The Reichstag then adjourned.

Austrian and French Views of the German Chancellor's Speech.
VIENNA, Jan. 12.—It is learned from semi-official sources that Prince Bismarck's speech in the Reichstag yesterday meets with lively recognition in Government circles, as it is thought to show that he is trying to effect an entire cordial between the cabinets at St. Petersburg and Vienna.

French Opinion.
PARIS, Jan. 12.—The Temps says: "Prince Bismarck's speech in the Reichstag will produce a singularly reassuring effect in Europe. In response to his declaration of intent, France can declare that she no longer dreams of attacking Germany."

BISMARCK'S STOUT FIGHT. HE MAKES ANOTHER SPEECH ON THE ARMY BILL.

He Will Not Submit to Any Modification of the Measure, But Must Have it Passed as Drawn—The Government Expect Defeat.
BRUSSELS, Jan. 12.—The debate on the army bill was resumed in the Reichstag to-day. Dr. Windthorst again spoke in favor of a triennial term.

Bismarck replied: "In three years," he said, "we might be confronted with altered circumstances. To be sure, it is also possible to calculate the position of affairs seven years hence, but in that period the efficiency of the army would be secured and a compromise would be possible. At the time when so many rights and privileges were granted to the Reichstag by the constitution, there was no idea that they would lead to such miserable disputes as have now arisen."

Refraining to the question of the working classes, he declared that the Government did not wish to drag it into the present discussion. He was sure that if called upon by the Emperor the workingmen of Germany would be ready at all times to come forward.

LIBERALS VERY HOPEFUL. THEY THINK THEY WILL GAIN IN A GENERAL ELECTION.

Lord Salisbury's Policy, They Believe, Will Do Much to Reunite the Discontented—Mr. Chamberlain and Trevelyan Hold the Balance.
LONDON, Jan. 12.—The London correspondent of the Mail and Express is convinced that there is now a real desire on the part of Mr. Chamberlain and Sir George Trevelyan to find a meeting ground with the Home Rule Liberals. It is generally believed that the Ministry of Lord Salisbury's cabinet, as it develops itself, will do much to reunite the discontented Liberals than any other set of resolutions which they might adopt.

FAIRER CHALLENGE. THE NEW YEAR'S GREETING THAT STIMULATED THE HIGHLANDERS HERE LAST NIGHT.

The thought that country has on a man's soul, and especially on the Highlander's, was well exemplified last night at a meeting of Gaelic speaking people, held in Shaftesbury Hall, to celebrate the old style New Year's Day.

SUPERANNUATIONS MUST GO. A Bill of Excitement Among the Civil Service Employees of the City.

The abolition of superannuations is a question that is being freely discussed by the party press, and its likelihood to become a live issue causes fear and trembling in civil service circles. In the Customs, Post Office and Inland Revenue Departments the officials are discussing the matter in every presentable shape, and while all admit that superannuation "must go," a large number earnestly hope that the law abolishing the system will not be made retroactive. Men who have served fifty to thirty years in the service consider it would be unjust to bring in a law depriving them of their benefits.
