The Fami'p.

The Dropped Stitches. BY MRS. M. E. M. SANGSTER. Sitting alone in the corner, In her own old easy chair. With the firelight softly falling On her beautiful gray hair, She's knitting away at a stocking. Rounding the heel to-night ; And nobody knits like mother. Though age is dimming her sight.

Glancing like silver, the needles Backward and forward go. And the rings on her thin white fingers Are flashing to and fro. There's the golden band that has never Been off since her wedding day. And the hoop encrusted with diamonds. From Tom, when he went away--

Away at the beck of fortune, To the far off China seas, While his mother compassed his out-bound ship Day and night on her knees, Pleading that the wind and weather For Tom might ever be fair, And that never the boy might wonder Out of reach of his mother's prayer.

This blue-mixed sock-it reminds her Of some she sent to the camp, For Willie to wear, poor soldier-boy, To keep bis feet from the damp, And Willie, he never wore them. His tired feet were still-Oh ! so still in a narrow grave On the side of a Southern hill.

It's wonderful she remembers The first little sock she knit. A wee thing, white and dainty, Marveling, 'would it fit ?' Tucking it up in her basket. As if half it were a sin, And fearing lest careless eyes should see The dreams she was knitting in.

Dear little baby Alice ! Never was babe so sweet Alice's own are all very well. But ah ! those dimpled feet That she foodled and kissed so often, That she taught to walk alone-They are walking life's long pathway, They are hurt by many a stone.

Knitting alone is the mother. And the firelight softly falls On the pleasant room of the household, On the beautiful pictured walls ; But I think when the lamp of evening Scatter the shadows there. They gleam over nothing half so sweet As the mother's silver hair.

And oh ! she has dropped her stitches ; To be sure, it is not strange, Since she herself has been far away Beyond this world of change; Away for a half hour's vision, To the realms of the brave and leal, Where the love of the past are together, In the land of endless weal.

NEWARE, N. J., Oct. 10th, 1863. DR. RADWAY: Your Fills and Keady Relief have saved my daughter's life, in June last she was eighteen years of age, and for three months her menses were suppressed. She would frequently vomit blood, uffer terribly from bradely vomit blood. Eighteen years of age, and for three months her menses were suppressed. She would frequently vomit blood, suffer terribly from headache and pain in the small of the baok and thighs, and had frequent fits of hysterics. We commenced by giving her six of your Fills every night, and rubbed the Ready Relief on her spine, back, and hips. We continued this treatment one weak, when to our joy she was relieved of her difficulty. She is now well and regular, and has been so ever since.
