GENERAL SPORTS.

What is Going on in Baseball and Other Athletic Games.

News, Local and Telegraphic, Gathered From Reliable Sources.

The street railway strike has prevented the playing of several ball games at St. Louis.

The Port Huron team are not what Manager Flaherty will have them to be within a short time. He has a new second baseman and one or two pitchers coming, and will go to third himself. This should give Port Huron a strong infield. In O'Connor Flaherty struck out the third baseman, and Bert Eton's ability is well known. That the team can hit the ball is shown by the large number of put-outs by the London outfield yesterday. They have so recently got together that their uniforms are still in the tailor shop.

CHATHAM'S HARD LUCK.

Special to The Planet.
Hamilton, May 16.—Although Hamilton won yesterday's game, and although every decision of the umpire was right, Chatham outplayed the Hams at every point and but for the luck of the home team in running bases, would have won easily. Chatham had just twice as many hits as Hamilton, and only half as many errors. Black's men had no difficulty in getting to first base, but they could not score. In the second and again in the ninth innings Chatham had three bases full, but Bradford struck out the third baseman, and the visitors should have won out in the ninth. Conklin opened with a two base hit, and Saunders sent a sharp ground ball to short. Hamilton's Eton cornered Conklin between second and third and ran him out. Had he remained at second Fulmer, the next man up would have scored him with his hit. The score:

GRAND RAPIDS 9, SAGINAW 5.
Saginaw, May 15.—The International League schedule opened today with a contest between Grand Rapids and Saginaw. Five hundred people attended. A carpenter's strike prevented the building of the grand stand and the accommodations of the new ball park were not of the best. The locals had a safe lead up to the ninth inning, when the Boers bombarded Haney for four runs. The score:

LONDON 6, PORT HURON 2.
London, May 15.—London took the second game from Port Huron today. The visitors put up a better game than yesterday, but the home team's chances for winning were never in doubt. Freeland, for London, was effective, but very wild, and the visitors might have received a shutout. Connors pitched a fair game, but his team could not help him. The score:

WELCOMED BACK.
Brother Oddfellows Congratulate O. B. Hulm on his restoration to health.

At last night's meeting of Chatham Lodge, No. 29, I. O. O. F., of which O. B. Hulm is an old and honored member, the brethren showed their satisfaction at his recovery from a recent very severe illness by presenting him with a most complimentary address. It was read by Bro. Lafferty and was as follows:

Dear Sir and Brother.—The officers and members of Chatham Lodge, I. O. O. F., improve this first occasion of your being present in the lodge after recovery from your recent illness, to express our joy at having you again in our midst, and to congratulate you on your restoration to health and your resumption of the active duties as an officer and trustee.

For many weeks we missed you from our meetings. The remembrance of the regularity of your attendance and of the active interest you always took in its proceedings, led us to emphasize your absence from the lodge. This beautiful building in which we were assembled, although it was almost complete in accordance with the plans, yet required your personal care and attention with the co-operation of your fellow trustees to insure the perfection of the original design.

We knew you were laid on a bed of sickness and suffering. Our sympathies were with you and our prayers were offered for your recovery. Many daily and frequent inquiries brought us the particulars of your varying but successful struggle with the dire malady, which strove for and almost gained the mastery. We were anxious, and just as the crisis was reached we were very anxious, that your life would be spared and that we should again have you with us.

Through the blessing of Almighty God on the skill and labors of physicians, family and nurse, you have been restored to health and to the fellowship of your brethren.

We acknowledge the goodness of the Lord, and we rejoice to welcome you again in our midst. As it is fitting and meet, let us all unite in praising God for singling out this worthy brother from whom all blessings flow etc.

Signed, sealed and delivered by resolution of Chatham Lodge, No. 29, I. O. O. F., this fifteenth day of May, A. D., 1900. Committee:

A BOER ACCOUNT.
London, May 16.—A despatch from the Boer leader at Reitzpruit, dated Thursday, May 10, via Kormstadt, describing the Zand River fighting, says:

"Gen. Botha, addressing the burghers, said: 'At this same Zand river Great Britain in 1852 signed a treaty acknowledging the full sovereignty of the Transvaal. Now, half a century later, Great Britain has for the second time proposed to wrest from the Transvaal by force the rights then fully recognized, merely to gratify her hand and gold lust.'"

"A report was received last night that the British had crossed one of the lower drifts. At 6 this morning the first cannon shot proclaimed the opening of the battle. The British hosts could be seen advancing in solid masses. Their cavalry hung on our flanks. Their infantry were less easily discernible in the grass. The sky was clouded with smoke from the burningveld."

"The fighting began at Philip Botha's position above the railway bridge. A British field battery pushed across the river and bombarded the kopjes Philip Botha was holding so heavily that they appeared to be cloud-capped from the bursting shrapnel. Under cover of this cannonade, the British infantry advanced, but they met with no hot reception that they had to retire."

"In the meantime the British cavalry had crossed the river, moving straight north. Gen. Botha threw the Standerton burghers, with a battery of cannon to head them off. The

Upon this Philip Botha and all the others gave way. The Standerton and Batel commanders, with the Irish brigade, covered the retreat to Kroonstad.

"Otherwise than in the retreat from Brandfort and the Vet river, the British pressed hard on the retreating burghers. All our cannon and commissariat were brought out, and so far as is known, our casualties were confined to a dozen wounded."
