EDMUNDSTON ENTERTAINS

Grand Reception Given C. W. N. A. Delegates and Tourists Association—Pleasing Side Trip to Grand Falls

(Telegraph)

Edmundston, June 5.—The members of the New Brunswick Tourist and Resources Association attending the annual meeting to be held here tomorrow and the delegates to the convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association convention, which is being held at Ottawa on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, arrived here about 6:30 this evening on the C. N. R. standard sleeper Lucerne. Immediately on arrival a dinner was tendered to the visiting newspaper men by the Edmundston board of trade at the Windsor Hotel. After dinner the members of the associations were taken for a drive about the town and surrounding country in automobiles provided by citizens of Edmundston. Expressions of admiration of the beautiful scenery were heard on all sides on the return of the party.

At 9 o'clock a reception was held in the Pines Hall, the guests being received by Mrs. J. W. Hall, Mrs. M. D. Cormier and Miss Agnes Hobart. Following this, the motion pictures of hunting and fishing in New Brunswick were shown at the Star Theatre by W. H. Harry Allen, of Penniac, veteran guide and president of the New Brunswick Guides' Association and a vice-president of the Tourist Association. Later a return was made to The Pines, where refreshments were served and a very enjoyable dance held. The newspaper delegates left for Ottawa after the dance.

Everything was done that could be done for the comfort of the travelers on the trip up. At Woodstock, which was reached about 11:30, the entire party left the train and embarked in automobiles for Hartland. Mayor P. R. Kelly met the train at Woodstock and escorted the visitors to Hartland, a distance of thirteen miles through very beautiful country.

The automobile party drove direct to the train at Hartland and at the railway station Mayor Kelly delivered an address of welcome. On behalf of the aldermen and people of Hartland he extended a very cordial welcome. He spoke of Hartland as the geographical centre of the county of Carleton, which the people of Hartland said was the banner agricultural county of the province. He made complimentary reference to the booklet recently issued by the Tourist Association and pronounced as true all that it contained concerning Hartland. He paid a glowing tribute to Fred H. Stevens, editor of the Carleton Observer and said that a newspaper was indispensable to a community which expected to forge ahead. He wished both organizations a pleasant and profitable trip and in conclusion thanked all for the interest they had manifested by consenting to motor through Hartland.

Commodore J. L. Stewart, editor of the Chatham World, responded on behalf of the visitors in a very happy manner. The party then returned to the train, where luncheon was served by some of the ladies of the Hartland Women's Institute. Cheers were given all round and the journey resumed.

At Grand Falls, where there was a stop of about twenty minutes, the party was taken in automobiles to view the falls and afterwards for a short drive about the town. The kindness of the people of Grand Falls was much appreciated. The comfort of the car provided by the C. N. R., combined with the never-failing courtesy of the C. P. R. officials, did much to mitigate the discomforts of travelling on a hot day. At Aroostook Junction the mercury stood at about eighty degrees.

At Edmundston the citizens turned out en masse to meet the party. The band was present and played as the train pulled into the station. The visitors were then taken in cars to their hotels.

Among the members of the newspaper party en route to Ottawa are: J. L. Stewart, of the Chatham World; J. A. Fisher, of the Pictou Advocate, and Mrs. Fisher; H. R. Arenburg, of the Progress-Enterprise, of Lunenburg and Mahone Bay; Fred H. Stevens, of the Carleton Observer, of Hartland, and Miss Stevens; A. R. Brennan, of the Summerside Journal; C. R. Olmstead, of the Victoria County News, of Perth, and Mrs. Olmstead, and Max D. Cormier, of Le Madawaska, Edmundston, and Mrs. Cormier.

St. John members of the Tourist Association here are: H. R. DeBrisay, E. A. Schofield, W. H. C. MacKay, A. L. Gibb, A. G. Currie, C. B. Allan and C. R. Cameron. Among others here are: F. W. Robertson, W. L. Lowther and H. C. MacFarlane, of Moncton, and W. Harry Allen, of Penniac.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE ON WEDNESDAY

When His Lordship, Bishop Richardson Confirmed a Class of Six

The solemn and inspiring service of confirmation according to the ancient laws of the Church of England was conferred upon six candidates at Holy Trinity church on Wednesday evening, two of the candidates being adults. The church was nicely decorated and the chancel appeared beautiful. The service throughout was impressive indeed. His Lordship himself was afterward heard to remark that nowhere in the diocese could a rural parish put on a confirmation service in such a manner.

As usual the sermon of the gifted orator was at once simple and deep, powerful, thrilling, true to church history yet charitably taking in all branches of the Church of Christ.

A feature of the service that deserves more than special mention was the beautifully rendered anthem, "Sun of My Soul." It is not discounting in any degree the efforts of any others to say that there is no doubt this anthem was rendered in more truly a masterly style than was any ever before presented to a Hartland audience. The rector posess a rare

APPLICATIONS TO HANG SWIM

One Offers to Execute Swim for $300
—Prisoner in Bad Mental Condition

No less than ten applications have been received by High Sheriff Albion R. Foster from points in the state of Maine, quoting a price to execute Benny Swim, who is condemned to die on July 15. A letter received from a nearby Maine town, concerning the execution, concludes with: "I will be pleased to do the work for $300, etc." One very zealous New Englander drove up to the sheriff's office in a big touring car and asked for a private interview, which was granted. When the caller had announced his desire to perform the execution, the unusually placid sheriff informed him that his desire and those of other gentlemen from over the border, would not be considered for a moment and surely indicated a depravity that was unspeakable. The man was unceremoniously ejected from the office.

In speaking of the matter, Sheriff Foster said: "In nearly every mail I get a letter offering services for this execution and it is hard to believe that such moral degeneracy exists, as I consider men of the calibre degenerated in every sense of the word. This is a horrible affair and officers of the law fully realise their own position and the duties assigned them and which must be legally carried out."

Swim is in a deplorable state and is rapidly growing worse. He would never be known as the natty dressed and unconcerned prisoner that was in court only a few weeks ago. Every stitch of clothing has been torn off and he is absolutely naked. If he continues in this state much longer he will be put in a straight-jacket, as there is danger of his injuring himself. He seems lately to have acquired enormous strength and a few days ago, when Sheriff Foster, Deputy Moores and the death watch took him from his cell for a wash and general cleaning up he fought like a tiger, and the three officers are carrying pronounced marks of the encounter, the deputy sheriff nearly losing two of his fingers.

Dr. J. V. Anglin, of St. John, who was sent here by the department of justice spent three hours with the condemned man and will make an official report to the department. It is understood that Swim will be subject to further observation.

gift of music and has had long experience in choir work, as also have Mrs. Haigh, and her father, Charles Sykes. Mrs. Haigh's remarkably sweet soprano was heard to delightful effect in the solo parts. Mrs. H. W. Annett was the organist.
