

ASSAULT CASES ALL STAND OVER.

JOSEPH LESLIE COMMITTED ON CHARGE OF THEFT.

Wm. Price Given Time to Make Good the Damage He Did at a Restaurant.

The wilful damage case that was in Police Court on Thursday, William Price, charged with breaking $50 or $60 worth of property in an ice cream dispensary on James street north, was up this morning, and Price got off pretty well. George S. Kerr, K. C., appeared for him, and told Magistrate Jels that his client would pay the whole of the damages if given time. He proposed that Price appear before the court again in two months, and if the damage was not paid for that he be sentenced. Crown Attorney Washington agreed to this on condition that Price's relatives go surety for his appearance at that time, and that he appears one month from to-day to report just how much he has paid. The Magistrate allowed Price to go on that understanding.

William Clushman, 720 King street east, arrested yesterday on a charge of shop breaking and theft, was brought up this morning and remanded till Monday, when Aliter comes up. Aliter is the boy who is alleged to have been in two months, and if the damage was not paid for that he be sentenced. Crown Attorney Washington agreed to this on condition that Price's relatives go surety for his appearance at that time, and that he appears one month from to-day to report just how much he has paid. The Magistrate allowed Price to go on that understanding.

Joseph Leslie, on a few days ago on a charge of stealing $13 from W. Waters, was committed for trial this morning. He pleaded not guilty, and declined to elect through A. M. Lewis. The evidence showed that Leslie had collected $33 rent from a tenant of Waters', and had made returns of only $20. Receipts were produced for the $33 by the tenant, signed by Leslie, and as no evidence was put in by the defence, the commitment was made out.

Edward Pugh, 21 1/2 Barton street east, was charged with being drunk and disorderly. Constable Cameron found him sleeping at James and Vine streets, and when he woke him up, Pugh tried to take his revolver away from him. He was fined $5.

John Ferguson, Henry Ainsborough, William Savage and Leo Barry were brought up this morning for assaulting Joe Since, an Italian. They were remanded a week in $200 bail each, as Since was not able to appear. M. J. O'Reilly, K. C., appeared for the quartette jointly.

Elizabeth Wynn did not appear to answer to a charge of being disorderly, and, as she also failed to appear when summoned yesterday, a warrant was issued for her arrest.

Vincent Moran, charged with picking Max Lippman's pockets of some race track betting tickets, was to have come up to-day, but owing to a mistake will not appear until Monday or Thursday.

Constable Springer, while strolling through the market this morning, off duty and all decked out in his glad rags, met two young fellows whom he was suspicious of. He arrested them on a nominal charge of vagrancy, and they were remanded till Monday. The youths gave their names as Robert King and Robert Knox, and their business as tip sellers.

Robert Hight, William Gray and Edward Rock, charged with aggravated assault upon Henry Dunnett, were brought up at the request of George S. Kerr, K. C., and bail was granted in the sum of $500 each.
