

THERE has been an appeal to the Code of honor in Louisiana, between ex-Judge William Cooley and R. Branwell Rhett, Jr., of the New Orleans "Pitayune," an appeal in which doubled-barrelled shot guns, loaded with balls were the instruments, and with which the parties stood at the convenient distance from each other for decisive work of forty paces. The ex-Judge submitted in this case to a fatal ruling, for the editor brought him down and killed him at the second shot. This moral of this horrible affair is this—that in a community where a distinguished ex-Judge and a leading newspaper editor can find no other method for the settlement of a personal quarrel than an appeal to the bloody code the community itself must share in the disgrace of the barbarous practice; and the lesson suggested is a law into Louisiana and in every Southern State which will put an end to this relic of barbarism by making all parties directly concerned in a death on the so-called field of honor subject to the penalty of murder.

A LETTER from Boghari in Algeria says:—The locusts arrived the other day in such a body as to intercept the rays of the sun. At an early hour when those terrible insects were still benumbed by the dew, the population of the police, and the Arab gnomes, under the conduct of the mayor, set out and commenced the chase, which did not terminate until five in the afternoon. More than 25 quintals (221 lb. each) of eggs and larvae were buried in the earth. What remained of the winged battalion took its flight towards Medeah, where it appeared two days after.

A CORRESPONDENT of the "Farmer" gives the following receipt for Mouse-proof mortar:—I have found stiff mortar, composed of nine parts to one of wheat flour, wet up with warm water, effectual in stopping the holes of mice in plastered walls, when common lime mortar was insufficient.

A QUAKER having sold a fine-looking but blind horse, asked the purchaser. Well, my friend, dost thou see any fault in him? No, was the answer. Neither will he see any fault in the said old Broadbrim.

The Reserve Dividend System

Is one more step in the march of progress. Presented only after mature thought, it invites the test of the severest scrutiny. Its chief merit is its PERFECT ADAPTABILITY to the wants of insurable lives. THE RESERVE DIVIDEND and RESERVE ENDOWMENT POLICIES originated and published by the Company's Actuary, under copyright in 1869. The principle involved renders every form of insurance a provision in life. It converts an ordinary life Policy, otherwise payable only in the event of death, into a CASH ENDOWMENT, MATURING EVERY TEN YEARS.
