Lake Louise and the Rockies

Lake Louise.

To the ancient, all roads led to Rome, and it was the ambition of young and old to behold the "Eternal City" and its wonders. Now, however, one might say it is the ambition of every Canadian to behold the "Eternal Shows", and as the Applian way led to Rome, so the great iron road, the Canadian Pacific Railway, leads to the Rocky Mountains. Canadians have a wide field to pick and choose from in the matter of places to spend holidays, but the West has an attraction all its own.

Lake Louise is one of the many beauty spots in the Rocky Mountains, and a trip West is not considered complete without a stop-off there. Lake Louise is one of the Lakes in the Clouds (the others being Lake Agnes and Mirror Lake) and at one time its existence was only known to the Indians. Now, however, thanks to the enterprise of the C.P.R., it is visited by thousands of tourists yearly, the railway passing through at this point, and a palatial hotel, the Chateau, having been erected on the lakefront, affording ample accommodation.

Stepping off the train at Laggan the tourist boards an electric car, which runs up the grades to the lake, the journey taking twenty minutes. The drive is a most delightful one, the car being open on both sides, affording an uninterrupted view of the wonderful scenery with the mountains of the Rockies. The Bow River is crossed by a pretty little bridge, and in the early morning sunshine the waters sparkle like opals, the river flowing in eddies as the river forces its way down the valley.

Arriving at Lake Louise one feels transported into another atmosphere. If not to another world, feelings of wonder, awe, and admiration grip the mind, compelling a reverential silence. The lake itself is small, but a perfect gem, lying at the base of the Victoria Glacier from which it is fed. Its waters, being pure turquoise in colour, are deep turquoise as difficult to describe. Behind the lake Mt. Lefroy towers like a giant to the heavens, reaching an altitude of over 10,000 feet—one huge mass of crystalline snow and ice, resembling the Matterhorn in Switzerland. Mt. Aberdeen and the Mtn. G. also form a background prepared for grandeur.

The surrounding country suggests an Alpine valley. Ranges of snow-capped mountains stretch as far as the eye can reach, while the air is filled

Valley is obtained from a height of 11,000 ft. the river looking like a slender silver thread down in the valley. Still other beauty spots are the Giants' Steps and Paradise Valley, where the opalescent waters come thundering down from the sublime heights above, forcing their way through the mountains to the distant valley.

Moraine Lake is soon reached, and the tourist is allowed half an hour to rest before the return journey, enabling him to enjoy the magnificent scenery. Moraine Lake lies at the base of the Ten Peaks, a chain of mountains all over 10,000 feet high, covered with snow.

On the way to Moraine Lake a splendid view of Mt. Temple is obtained. This mountain is one of the highest peaks in the Rockies, rising to an altitude of 11,000 feet. Its sides resemble walls of red ice, and its crest is covered with snow. At this point a fine view of the Bow
