Prescription "A"

Cures Indigestion and Dyspepsia in all its Forms.

It is quite a daily occurrence to hear persons say: Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals, fullness of the stomach, heaviness and headache, I feel too tired to do anything. I have no heart to exert myself, and at times I care for nothing, I often have a pain in the pit of the stomach, no appetite, my heart beats rapidly on the slightest exertion. I feel just as tired when rising in the morning as when retiring to bed. My sleep is often disturbed, and I often awake with a sense of suffocation and a difficulty of again going to sleep. I have to be careful of what I eat, and my life seems a veritable burden. Now, it seems a shame and a pity for persons to be suffering like that when it is in their power to get cured by taking a bottle of Dr. Stafford's Prescription A. A sure cure for persons afflicted with stomach troubles. It can be obtained at

The Evening Chit-Chat

By ROSE CARRON

I am urged not to forget my promise that this column shall occasionally be dedicated to telling about unusual occupations, at which women have earned their bread and butter, or at least their bread and butter. I wish my reader friends would not forget their end of this taking. Please remember that any time you hear of some woman who has found some less crowded profession or industry, you owe it to all who have helped you at any time, to pass this suggestion along.

One interesting way in which a good cook is earning her pin money is in making wedding cake. She has other means of support, but tucks this industry in along with them. She makes the wedding cake, boxes it, ties it up, and delivers it, and also makes the bride's cake when desired. She buys her materials at wholesale, and on a large order often makes from twenty-five to fifty dollars. Why couldn't any girl, who is a good worker and wants to earn extra pin money, send out pretty cards to her friends, announcing that she will do this sort of work?

A young woman in New York takes contracts for removing cockroaches from buildings. You shudder at that, and think such work should be left to men. I don't know. Isn't such work really a part of housekeeping? Apropos of this, I know a man who is a rat exterminator by trade, and apparently quite prosperous, but according to all traditions, I suppose this would not appeal to the feminine mind.

A woman in Boston takes inventories of houses that are rented furnished, and afterwards checks up the belongings.

A letter friend tells me that many young housewives, or rather housewives-to-be, have expressed the wish to her that they had some woman who would go on a shopping expedition with them, and show them how to furnish their new homes economically and tastefully. It seems to me that to people who cannot afford an interior decorator and yet feel their own inability to buy wisely and with good taste, the services of such a helper would be really invaluable, and would more than pay back whatever percentage of the total expenditure she charged.

When you read the item "frog legs" on the bill of fare, do you ever wonder where the frogs for that delicacy come from? I always had a strange notion that they must come from France, but they don't. They are raised right in this country, and one woman at least is engaged in this unique industry. She is from New Jersey. She was in poor health, which forbade indoor work, so she bought a farm and took to raising bullfrogs.

If you don't like to do queer things you are doubtless shuddering at some of these extraordinary women.

If you don't mind being unconventional, you may even find a suggestion in these hints.

And at any rate, whether they touch us closely or not, I think these odd things our sisters are doing, are interesting to hear about?

Don't you?

Rose Carron

Stamp Out Coasting.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—In the Herald's issue of December 14th there appears a letter signed "Justice." "Justice" is but voicing the sentiments of a large number of our citizens, and the only regret is that he has not put his subject in stronger terms.

I have been forcibly struck by the unusual activities of the police in bringing before the Court quite a number of our young folks who assemble on our suburban hills to enjoy a few hours of the healthy exercise and amusement which coasting affords.

While I admire the spirit which prompts him, in his laudable efforts to safeguard the public, I do not think that that gentleman who operates the machinery of the law appertaining to coasting, requires a forceful reminder that the law is not intended to be carried to extremes, and I also think he should use more common sense in dealing with cranks, and consign to the waste paper basket three petty complaints which he is constantly receiving.

To safeguard the public is right, but to prevent an amusement which is of incalculable value in developing and preserving the physical and moral forces of our young men and women; to prevent our young folks from enjoying a healthy and vigorous outdoor pastime; to take away the very best antidote for crime, all on the pretence of safeguarding the public is, at least, ludicrous.

It is most peculiar to think that while our Association for the Prevention of Consumption is flooding the country with literature on the importance of fresh air, outdoor exercise, etc., and while Sir E. P. Morris—a very prominent member of the A. P. C.—has seen the great benefits to be derived from the purchase of Rae Island farm, and as an advocate of good public parks, yet in the face of this, our young folks are prevented from enjoying the only and best outdoor amusement which can be indulged in to any extent during the winter season.

If we see the grave necessity of a public institution for the cure of consumptives, is it not natural that we should reason further and see the necessity of a public place for the prevention of consumption? We must admit the truth of the adage "Prevention is Better than Cure." What better preventive can be got than coasting—an amusement which combines so well the essentials of a recognized preventive?

Canada, Switzerland, and other countries expend large sums in the encouragement of coasting in its different forms. They fully recognize the great influence which a public amusement like this has on the morale of their cities. We, in St. John's, have been gifted by nature with hills that cannot be excelled for coasting; they require no money to be expended on them; all that is required is the "privilege" to make use of them; this privilege is to be refused if the new "Rules and Regulations" are permitted to be made.

Our young men and women appeal to Sir E. P. Morris and Hon. John Harvey to take this matter up, and will watch with keen interest the influence which these gentlemen will bring to bear on securing for our young folks the privilege of making use of Kenna's, Robinson's, and Park's Hills as public places of amusement during the winter season.

Yours truly,
D. M. J.
