Swallowing the Vomit.

We publish to-day a letter, signed More Anon. The writer takes up the subject on the issues raised in the Daily News and Evening Herald, and handles the matter without gloves. The most significant feature of the discussion is that it began in the Daily News by the publication in a letter of a false report of what had been said by Mr. Coaker at Change Islands, the substance which contained the false statement that Sir Robert Bond and Mr. Coaker had agreed to the establishment of non-sectarian schools. That any such agreement either existed or even that any discussion had taken place on such a matter with a view to the overturning of our present denominational system is absolutely untrue. It is a statement fabricated out of wholesale falsehoods. There is no such agreement, nor has there even been any negotiations with the object of effecting such an agreement.

Left for His District.

This morning the Daily News announces that Mr. R. A. Squires left for his district by yesterday's express. This will be taken to mean that Mr. Squires has left on a political canvass. About this time of the year Mr. Squires usually takes a motor cycle trip through his district, and has been for the past few summers accompanied by Mr. S. Churchill, an official of the Board of Works, who has been given holidays and thus enabled to accompany Mr. Squires on these district visits. We would like to know if Mr. Samuel Churchill is to be given another holiday this summer, and whether he is to accompany Mr. Squires through his district this election year. It must have been of great advantage to Mr. Squires to have an official of the board of Works to con-

DAY PAST--226. To Come--128.
JAMES WATT died 1819, aged 82, Scottish engineer and generally reputed inventor of the steam engine. He was also an ardent chemist and it was long maintained that he discovered the composition of water.

MICHAEL PARADAY died 1867, aged 76. English chemist, electrician and natural philosopher. After his famous discovery of magneto-electric induction in 1831, almost every year for 15 years saw some discovery in connection with magnetism and electricity.

BRET HARTE born 1823. American novelist and humorist who owed his success to his command of humor and quiet pathos and his power of vivid description of the rough and picturesque life of the settler and the miner.

DAVID HUME died 1776, aged 65. Scottish philosopher and historian. Wrote the important "Treatise of Human Nature" and many essays. Moral, Political and Literary. He is happy whose circumstances suit his temper; but he is more excellent who can suit his temper to any circumstances.

Courageous Duellist.

M. Colombey, in his history of duelling, tells an anecdote of a certain noted duellist of his time. One day this man, M. B., was at Desenne's shooting gallery watching the pistol practice. There was one man who was shooting very well, and Desenne was threatened with the loss of all his glass balls and swinging dolls. Every shot was greeted by the spectators with exclamations of admiration. B. looked on for a while, and finally, in a calm voice, made the remark: "He could not do as well on the field."

Sensitoid Tooth Paste is the ideal Tooth Paste. It is the proper consistency. There is not a particle of grit in its composition; it has a pleasant antiseptic flavor and remarkable cleansing qualities. As it comes out flat on the brush it will be found very economical in use. Use Sensitoid Tooth Paste regularly and your teeth will need much less attention from the dentist. Price 25c. a tube.
To get the best results from Sensitoid Tooth Paste you should use the Sensitoid Tooth Brush. This brush is of the most approved shape, and the bristles retain their life and cleaning power much longer than those in ordinary brushes, and they absolutely will not come out. Hard and medium bristles. Price 35 cents each.

Strange Malady.

Miss Alice Geisler, of Liberty Place, Weehawken, N. J., is the victim of a strange malady said to be without parallel in medical annals. She cannot keep awake unless she stands up. Sitting or lying down she becomes unconscious. It is not the so-called sleeping sickness of Africa, which lasts less than two weeks. Miss Geisler has been afflicted for two years. Although she has been under constant medical treatment for two years, no headway has been made towards a cure. Miss Geisler, in all other respects, is a normal, healthy young woman.

The Potato.

Whoever may have introduced the potato into England, according to Dr. Doran's "Table Traits," it was not known in North America in 1696, when Raleigh's colonists there are said to have sent it over to us. But the Spanish "batata," or sweet potato, from which the vegetable derives its name, was brought to Ireland many years before by Captain Hawkins from Santa Fe, in South America. This is probably the potato of Shakespeare's time. "Let the sky rain potatoes. I will remain here!" cries Sir John Falstaff, embracing Mrs. Ford—London Telegraph.

DIED.

Poultry Made to Grow

With Astonishing Rapidity by Electric Stimulus.—Reports of Remarkable Experiments in England.

London August 20.—A long succession of ingenious experiments have been privately made in the effect of electricity upon the growth, both of plants and animals, and, according to the London Daily Mail, yesterday, it is now possible to say with some approach of confidence that startling results have been reached in one direction. Beyond all question young poultry respond to electric stimulus applied in a particular way with astounding rapidity. They surpass the best on record in the speed of growth at this time of year and they keep their health in crowded conditions.

In the South of England on the biggest poultry farm in the world an experiment of the nature has just been completed. Of eight hundred chickens in two equal groups, 400 were matured on the intensive system, that is, in flats almost trays, one above the other. One group of 400 was treated by the electric system, and so charged were the chickens with electricity that the shock could be distinctly felt if the finger was put to the beak of the chicken. The chickens in this group grew to a remarkable size, that is as petits poulets in five weeks, and of the 400 only six, and of those weaklings in the beginning, died off.

Of the other 400, nearly one half died, it being late in the year for healthy growth and the survivors took three months to reach a marketable size. This experiment was followed by other experiments in which similar, though not so striking, results were obtained. Trials on a yet larger scale are being prepared and there is at any rate reasonable hopes that an instrument of real value in the intensive production of food has been found.

New York Pastor Weds in Toronto.

Toronto, Aug. 12.—One of the bridegrooms at a double wedding at Trinity Methodist Church this morning was Rev. William Sinclair, B.A., B.D., pastor of the Gould Memorial Church, Roxbury, N. Y.
Mr. Sinclair's marriage is of special interest and significance. He is the first American citizen to marry in Ontario under the new law which ordains that Americans coming to Ontario with matrimonial intentions must publish an announcement of marriage in Ontario papers three weeks before the ceremony takes place. As soon as the announcement of his marriage appeared Mr. Sinclair said he was pestered by Toronto marriage license vendors.

The Silent With a Story.
"Old John Bates, an upholsterer," so the story began, "was renowned for his silence. People who had been his customers for a generation had many of them, never heard a word from him except 'Good morning. Five dollars. Thank you. Good day.' Old John, in fact, cultivated silence as a genius cultivates his art.

"A patron one day said to John: 'What's the best kind of mattress?'"
"Hair," was the reply.
"The patron some twenty years later, had occasion to buy another mattress, and again he asked:—
"What's the best kind, John?"
"Cotton,"
"Cotton!" the patron cried. "Why, you told me twenty years ago that hair was the best!"
"The old man gave a quaint sigh.
"Talking has always been my ruin," he said."

Death of Mr. W. H. Thompson

The Oldest Telegrapher in the Land.
Yesterday morning, from Harbor Grace, W. R. C. Smith, Esq., American Tel. Co., and death of W. H. Thompson, oldest telegrapher in and probably in Thompson was the son, and was born in about eighty years ago he went to Carbone family, and for some a sea-faring life and mercantile marine work. He then took up of telegraph operator, succeeded Mr. Jacob D. erator in Harbor Grace. Mr. Thompson started which was in the office, and during his twelve that date and his death, conducted and prosperous business man in British North so many operators trained under his to have held prominent alone in this country, ted States, Canada, etc. Amongst his pupils were Geo. A. Nichol, Theo. Roger, G. M. Galen, E. F. Howell, H. F. Thomey, A. A. Scanlon, and others. Mr. Thompson's was agent for several Companies. Few men of greater confidence and by the late A. M. Superintendent Anglo Co., than was Mr. Justly so, because he call of duty, and that much to perform in the Company—very winter months going the road during a storm to repair the wires. during the storm Thompson was also members of the Mar for several years the position of D.G.M., now held by his son who was elected a Mr. Thompson was
