Colonel Bullock said in part:—
Officers, N. C. O.'s and Men,—The flag which has just been raised is emblematic of democracy and justice to the weak, as against the autocracy and tyranny of our enemy in the present gigantic struggle. The three crosses—the cross of St. George, St. Andrew and St. Patrick, together stands for one of the greatest nations in the world. The cross of St. George, St. Andrew and St. Patrick, together stands for one of the greatest nations in the world. The cross of St. George, St. The cross of St. Andrew is Scotland's great race which stands for equal rights to all and an impartial administration of the law of nations. The cross of St. Andrew is Scotland's. This wonderful race, celebrated the world over for justice. A hardy race, who have contributed greatly to the success of the Allies. The cross of St. Patrick is that of Ireland. Ireland who is famed the world over for her generosity. Victorious in battle, yet generous to her beaten foes, thus, the flag of these three great races—races of whom the larger proportion of the weak, justice and generosity. We from the people of the great republic to the south are descendants—stands for the protection of the weak, justice and generosity. Stoker Jumps Uverboard uble one was barely averted on Satirday evening, when Stanley Babtock, aged 30 years, and a resident of Wickford Street, this city, jumped verboard from the Red Cross Lines Florizel. The ship was leaving this port at the time for Halifax and New York and had just cleared the enrance to our harbour, when Bab stock, who was engaged as a fireman on board the ship, leaped over the side of the ship into the sea. He had not risen to the surface when Patrick Hearn, a fellow shipmate and a fire nan as well, ran aft on the ship and without any hesitancy whatever luckily went overboard in the hop of saving his unfortunate friend, but vas unsuccessful, as poor Babstock never came to the surface.

And Meets a Watery Grave — Cause Unknown — Stänley Babstock the Victim—Attempt to Rescue Him by Shipmate is Futile.

The Florizel was immediatel brought to a standstill and a lifeboat lowered, in which Hearn was picked up, exhausted on account of swimming with his clothes on; but there was no sign of Babstock.

Pilot W. Broderick, who had taken out the steamer, was just returning in company with his associate pilots. F Leary and L. Lewis. They observed the ship stopped.
