

Prize Day at St. Bonaventure's College.

The annual distribution of prizes and entertainment of St. Bonaventure's College took place at the Casino Theatre yesterday afternoon. The hall was occupied to the full by the pupils of the school, their parents, friends and guests. Among those present were His Excellency the Governor and Lady Davidson, His Grace Archbishop Roche, Rt. Rev. Mons. McDermott, Rev. Dr. Greene, Rev. Dr. Carter, Rev. Fr. Pippy, Rev. Fr. Kelly, Very Rev. Fr. Renouf, Rt. Hon. Sir E. F. Morris, Mr. Justice Kent, the Christian Brothers and many others.

The programme opened with a play very creditably presented by a large cast of pupils. It was entitled "Rome under Valerian," by Anthony Mætre and the setting and costumes evidenced great taste and much careful preparation. The parts were evenly balanced and so well sustained that equal prizes must be given to all the players. M. Cashin as Valerian, L. Fitzgerald as Macrian, H. Summers as Lawrence the Archdeacon, W. Sullivan as Quintillian, A. Gibbs as Terminus, B. O'Donnell as Nobilia and P. Keegan as the very amusing slave Metellus, all deserving of special mention. The performance in every respect reflected credit upon Mr. Hutton, the director, and Mr. T. P. Halley, the stage manager.

Following the play, Rev. Brother Ryan, President of the College, read the annual report. It was a brief but eloquent document, showing the school to be in excellent condition in all branches of education, intellectual, moral and physical. The attendance roll was the highest in the history of the college. The last school year showed a brilliant record. Reference was made to the number of old boys who had offered for King and Country, and particular mention made of Capt. Jas. Donnelly, M.C., Capt. M. Frank Summers, Lieut. S. Norris and Lieut. R. Shortall, who had given their lives to the cause. After the report had been read, the prizes were distributed to the successful pupils. Following is the list:—

CANADIAN TRIBUTES TO OXO CUBES

The following letters have been proved from Canadians who have proved the great value of OXO during the War.

OXO Cubes are handy for emergencies. They need no cooking or special preparation. An OXO Cube in a cup of hot water and a few biscuits makes a light meal which sustains for hours, while for enriching and improving stews and other dishes, OXO Cubes are simply wonderful.

In the home OXO Cubes are remarkable economisers, and in many little ways they save dollars a year.

From one of the 1st Infantry Brigade.
"We have completed a trip in the trenches which has been one of the coldest this winter; in fact, one night we had zero weather. Just before going into the trenches I received a parcel which contained some OXO Cubes, and I can assure you I was very thankful. It was a real treat to get off sentry duty and make a cup of OXO, as it warms one up and helps to keep one fit. It only takes a few minutes to make a hot cup of good OXO."

From one of the 24th Canadians:—
"I was out with a barbed wire party last night, and when I got back a parcel was waiting. Every item was a winner. The OXO was great; just try it about 2.30 some cold nasty morning after being out nearly six hours."

THE OLD MAID.
The old maid is a thoughtful, far-seeing female who looks over the husbands she has known and realizes that it might be worse.
Ever since the landing of the Mayflower it has been a popular pastime to poke fun at the old maid. Man had always believed that if woman were left to her own resources she would languish like a withered sunflower, and that on that account it is a charitable act to marry one now and then. It is a terrible humiliation to a proud, pigeon-chested sultor to ask some woman to marry him in order that he may put her in a gilded cage at $12.50 per week, and then be informed that she is not haunter after any more relatives to support.
The old maid has always been subject to the suspicion that she would marry anybody unsought and unseemly, but thousands of men could testify to the contrary if they were not afraid old maid who earns her own living and has money out at interest is being looked upon with more reverence. Few people nowadays wonder why the old maid doesn't get married and become the author of twins. The modern old maid earns more money than a union bricklayer and would rather live alone than try to make her salary stretch around the upkeep of a nine-room house and the elastic, unfettered appetite of a husband troubled with chronic lassitude.

Before shedding any tears over the lot of the old maid, remember that she does not have to wrestle with the breakfast dishes, the balky corn broom or the deceptive gasoline oven. While a husband is a nice thing to have, we should try to avoid the harrowing fear that somebody is trying to steal him.

Consider the Hen.

(From the Milwaukee Journal.)
The scarcity of the food supply and the present high prices ought to stimulate the farmers to unusual efforts to improve agriculture. The burden of high-priced meat, one of the main essentials of the American diet, would be greatly relieved if eggs were low-priced and abundant. The American production of eggs could be doubled in a year by the proper scientific feeding. Census statistics in Missouri show that in that State hens lay an average of sixty-three eggs a year. In these days when that lays 200 eggs a year is becoming common among expert breeders and feeders, the farm hen which probably supplies 30 per cent or more of our egg production, is still stolidly producing about one-half or one-third the number of eggs that she ought. Some hens have been bred which have produced more than 300 eggs each per year, or almost an egg a day. This is five times the Missouri average.
A productive hen requires seventy to eighty pounds of food of the right kind per year, whereas the average farm hen which must scratch for most of her living does not get more than 40 or 50 pounds of food in a year. Farmers in Missouri who practice scientific feeding doubled their egg production almost immediately. Could there be better evidence than this that every city and country poultryman can get results by scientific feeding? Fifty thousand poultrymen of the State begin this winter feeding poultry to-morrow, much to their own advantage in the way of profits and also to the great advantage of the consumer, who would thus be provided with one of the best substitutes for meat.

Your Boys and Girls.

Experiments on fifteen hundred babies recently conducted at a New York Clinic seemed to prove that after six months a child thrives best on artificial food. Up to six months the heaviest babies are breast fed, but after that age the artificial fed youngsters gain more quickly.
At the end of one year from birth the heaviest babies were those which were breast fed until the supply gave out, usually in from twenty-seven to thirty-two weeks, when they were weaned in a fortnight and put on artificial food.
The next in weight were the babies artificially fed from birth, and the lowest in weight those that have been fed from the breast for the year; the low weight being caused by a mild form of starvation after the first six months.

Everyday Etiquette.

"I would like to know if it is proper to wear my bowler cap to breakfast when visiting?" asked Marie.
"If your hostess appears at breakfast wearing a negligee and a cap, you may feel free to do so, but do not wear one if you are attired in a gown," advised her friend.

Insomnia

We can live without food, but not without sleep. Many will recall Dr. Tanner's 40 days without food, but who could live a single week without sleep and retain their reason.
It is during sleep that the nervous system is restored, and the nerve force, consumed by the activities of the day, is replaced.
Sleeplessness is one of the first and one of the most torturing symptoms of nervous exhaustion.
With sleeplessness you find nervous headaches, tired, wornout feelings, indigestion, lack of energy and strength. You are nervous and irritable, and cannot compose yourself to rest or sleep.
The nerve force in the body is at low ebb, and the feeble, wasted nerve cells must be nourished back to health and strength by such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.
You must not confuse this food cure with drugs taken to produce sleep, for it works in an entirely different way. It is not a quick relief, but a restorative, upbuilding treatment. As the nerves are revitalized sleep comes naturally with its soothing influence and hastens recovery.

Sleeplessness
Mrs. Edson Brock, Trenholmville, Que., writes:—"I want to state that I have never taken anything to do me so much good as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I am never without it in the house. I was so nervous I could not sleep, but now I sleep soundly at nights and wake up feeling refreshed and ready for the day's work. I used the Nerve Food for months, and found that it just suits my needs, and has built up the system wonderfully. I know it is Dr. Chase's Nerve Food that has brought about the great change in my condition, and I am thankful for it."
