DOMINION MUTUAL SERVICE.

Eye Glass Insurance.

You have often wished that you could have your Eye Glasses INSURED against loss or breakage.

NOW IT IS POSSIBLE.

Read the following and be convinced:— How often did you break your glasses in the last 12 months? On payment of a small fee ($1.00 the average) I will issue to you "The Dominion Mutual Service Policy" that entitles you without any further cost to have your eyeglass or spectacle lenses (either one or both) repaired or replaced for a period of one year, or until the repair or replacement has been made. It assures you that the work will be properly done and the lenses uniform, the same as your original prescription. You will find it also SAVES YOU MONEY.

Simply bring or send your glasses to my office so that a copy of the same may be made and the premium estimated. If your glasses are expensive ones, all the more reason why you should insure them. Instead of paying from $2.00 to $3.50 for one lens when you break one, if you are a POLICY HOLDER you can have (one or both) lenses replaced free of cost. Think it over, then insure them to-day.

YOU MAY BREAK THEM TO-MORROW.

Forty-Two Years in the Public Service--- The Evening Telegram.

TRINITY.

Some sixty years ago there was a parson in Trinity Bay who had charge of an extensive mission. His aids served in the several outlying churches at regular intervals, but he was always in the church at headquarters on the great Festivals of Christmas, Easter, Whitsunday and Trinity Sunday.

The people of one of his congregations, in a little place called "Sally's Cove," made frequent visits to Trinity, which they rightly regarded as the capital of the Bay. To the young people especially, a visit to Trinity was an event to which they looked forward once or twice a year, with the greatest interest. Upon their return to "Sally's Cove" they always had much to tell others of the wonderful things they had seen, and they brought back many other wonderful things to show them.

There were two old people, however, who, largely because they could not take advantage of the trip, and because they were thoroughly loyal to "Sally's Cove," never tired of despising Trinity, and sneering at those who thought so much of it. The old lady, in particular, would say to them, "Trinity, Trinity, that's all you think about. Better for you to stay home and do something for the place you was born in."

One year, during the week before Trinity Sunday, the parson had begun to do some work to the interior of the church at headquarters, and owing to some unforeseen delay, the parson found that the church could not be used for service on the following Sunday. This being so, he decided to go to "Sally's Cove" for morning service on that day. In the preparation of his sermon for that service, he realized how deep, and how difficult to explain, was the subject of the Holy Trinity. Still he felt it was his bounden duty to make it the subject of his sermon, so he took special pains to simplify his language, in order (if possible) to make the subject plain to his people. The result was he used the word Trinity quite often, and judging from the attention the people gave to him, he decided that he had succeeded in making himself understood by everybody, and that he had taught them some valuable truths about a fundamental verity.

When he went to the house of the two old people, where he was (as usual) to get his dinner, to his great surprise he found them cool in manner, and strangely silent in speech. He could not understand it, as they had always been so bright, so kind, and so talkative. He made the usual remarks about the weather, but they brought forth only a curt "yes" or "no," and the dinner went on in almost unbearable silence.

At last the parson ventured a question on another subject. He asked, "How did you like the sermon this morning, Mrs. Smith?" This question produced a sudden change in the old lady's attitude, and she replied, with a ring of scorn in her voice, "Sermon, he? I didn't like it at all. Goodness knows, you said 'enough about Trinity; you never said a word about 'Sally's Cove.'"

"Speaks the young gadabouts was 'pleased with it; but Garge and I didn't think much of it.'"

Mr. Arthur Spelgrove will change his place of residence from the house of Ryan Bros. to that of Mr. Arch Christian, on the old Taverner property.

This has been one of the best winters for work in the woods, and the owners of horses and dogs have taken advantage of it. Those who have to buy it maintain that at present prices it is more expensive than coal.

There is no poverty, either in or around Trinity. Though some may not have all they want, yet all have all they need; and had several of our people been more careful over their earnings of the recent past years—together with the smaller earnings of the near future—they would be independent for years to come. The old saying, however, "A willful waste makes a woeful want" is as true to-day, as it was when the truth it contains, was first expressed in these words.

By request, I give a few of the marriages as found in the old Church Marriage Register:
Joseph Pittman, of Crowkeene, Somersetshire, England, was married to Mary Warr on Christmas Day, 1836, by Rev. William Bullock, in the presence of William Warr, and William Kelton, Jr.

Benjamin Pittman, of the same place, was married to Anne Finch, on November 22d, 1836, by Rev. William Bullock, in the presence of Thomas Green and Richard Maidment.

Robert Meyers, of Poodenton, Dorset, England, was married to Eleanor Rank on December 3rd, 1837, by Rev. W. Bullock, in the presence of Jacob Christian and John Meyers.

William Rowe was married to Phoebe Fitch on November 14th, 1838, by Rev. W. Bullock, in the presence of John Morris and Annie Rowe.

Suffered for Ten Years of Backache.

NOW SINGS THE PRAISES OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

St. Pauline's One More Added to the Great Chorus Who Sing "Dodd's Kidney Pills are Good."

Tolstoi, Man., March 25. (Special.)—"I have found that Dodd's Kidney Pills have done me a lot of good," says S. Pawliszek, a well-known resident here. "I suffered from backache for ten years. Now I am well, but I always keep Dodd's Kidney Pills in the house."

It is from statements such as the above that Canadians have learned to know Dodd's Kidney Pills. For the last thirty-three years they have been used for kidney troubles in all parts of Canada. Now from all parts of Canada comes the testimony of people who have found them good.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have been used for all sorts of kidney ills, from backache and urinary troubles to rheumatism and heart disease. The chorus, "Dodd's Kidney Pills are good," comes from those who have used them. If you haven't tried them yourself, ask your neighbors about Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Richard Ash was married to Sarah Lanford, on Christmas Day, 1811, by Rev. William Bullock, in the presence of Alex. Bremner, S. A. Gent and Mary Gent.

William Bullock (Priest) was married to Mary Elizabeth Clinch on October 8th, 1823, by Rev. J. Burt, in the presence of John Clinch, Catherine Bullock and Elizabeth Mary Ash.

Andrew Loranove, of Halifax, N.S., was married to Sarah Brine on November 14th, 1824, by Rev. William Bullock, in the presence of John Brine, Annie Brine, and E. J. Clinch.

Francis Collins was married to Susan Hardie, of Cockhold's Cove, on November 5th, 1827, by Rev. William Bullock, in the presence of John Hardie, and Phoebe Fitch.

Hurdle is one of the oldest English names in Dunfield (Cockhold's Cove). Some of their descendants now call themselves Hurdle!

I desire to thank those who have assured me of their appreciation of my references to old Harmony Division, and their endorsement of my statement to the good influence of the members. I am a little surprised to find that the Charter is still in Trinity, as I supposed it had been returned to the Grand Division, when the local Division ceased to exist. From it I find Harmony Division was organized on October 24th, 1864.

The Vestry of St. Paul's congregation have asked for, and are in receipt of tenders for the making and placing in position, protecting windows of the church. This will make the building warmer, and will also give to the leaded glass, that protection which is always necessary in buildings exposed to the high winds.

To date, the committee appointed to secure a doctor for Trinity, have received two applications.

The staff of the Grant-Palmer Motor Co. are busy overhauling, repairing and decorating their cars, in readiness for the good old summer time.

I am glad to be able to report that Dr. Balfour is steadily improving. Those, however, who have had personal experience of such a case of blood poisoning as Dr. Balfour's was, will understand how long it will take for the wounds to heal, and how tedious recovery will be.

A few years ago, Rev. E. Hunt, during his annual visit to Trinity, took a series of views of Trinity from Gun Hill. Those views constitute the best consecutive and panoramic view of Trinity that has ever been given to the public. I have mounted several sets, and they have made such a good impression upon those who have seen them, that I have sent a copy to Messrs. Gray and Goodland for exhibition in their shop window. Should any of the Trinitarians at St. John's (or any one else) wish to have a copy I shall be glad to supply it.
