Corn Bulls Make But Weak Attempt on a Declining Market

Chicago, Oct. 15.—Conditions just right for drying out the corn crop had a bearish effect today on the corn market. Prices closed nervous 1-8 to 1 cent. net lower, with December at 1.12 5-8 to 1.12 3-4, and May at 108 1-4 to 108 3-8 to 108 3-8 at 108 1-2. Oats finished 1-4 to 1-2 down. Provisions gained 15 to 57 cents.

Except for a brief time in the early trading, corn bulls found themselves at a disadvantage throughout the session. Even the little show of strength turned out to be due to covering by shorts who had profits in sight. On the other hand, impetus to sell came not only from the prevailing fine weather but also from weakness in the New York stock market and from government figures, indicating that frost damage had been iess than was ex-pected. Besides the visible supply total increased and word was received that current prices of corn meal would be punctured by the food administration. Oats finally gave way with corn after the fact seemed evident that a lull had developed in export business. Packers' buying lifted provisions Much reduced stocks in warehouse were looked upon as certain to be dis closed by the semi-monthly statement today, and the belief was later justified. Lower quotations on hogs failed to attract notice.
