THE OLD LOVE REKINDLED.

Rev. E. Wilson's Romantic Experience.

Christian Endeavor Delegates Meet

After a Separation and Marry.

New Brunswick, N. J., July 19.—New interest in the romantic story of the Rev. E. Wilson, pastor of the Georg Road Baptis Church, has been awakened by the resignation and departure with his wife for Oatarta - bere they expect to make that the results of the civil war young, ambitious and eloquent clergruan of American birth went to Munstwell. He obtained a charge and made that distribution in the best social circles of that Canadian city. James Elliot, major of the Sixty-fourth Regiment, British Army, became a staunch friend of the minister, who became a welcome guest at the major's household. He became interested in the major's daughter, Marry and the season interested in the major's daughter, who guest at the major's household. He became interested in the major's daughter, Mary, a talented Canadian beauty, and ere long loyed the maiden with all the arder of youth Unfortunately for him she did not return the tender passion, although she highly respected the elequent young preacher, but, having social ambitions, she could not reconcile herself to the idea of becoming a minister's wife.

A dashing young Virginian named Getty, attached by birth and rank to the Southern Confederacy, came to the city of Southern Confederacy, came to the city of Montreal about this time and soon fell in love with the fair Canadian girl. He was more successful in his suit than the young clergyman, and she accepted him. They were married and lived happily together for fifteen years, when death made her a widow. widow.

In the intervening time Mr. Wilson re-widow.

In the intervening time Mr. Wilson resumable and worthy woman. He settled in this city about eight years ago and ministered to the spiritual wants of the people of the George Road Baptist Church. About a year ago his wife died. After recovering from the effects of his griet his thoughts turned to his first love. Fortune smiled upon him this time, and after a short correspondence Mrs. Getty visited this city about six months ago and met her old lover. He renewed his suit, was accepted, and they were married quietly on Feb. 23. The newly-married couple took up their home in the parsonage of the George Road Baptist Church, and Mr. Wilson resumed his duties in a happier frame of mind.

Two weeks after the wedding the parsonage was entered by burghrs during the absence of the dominie and his wife, and the jewel case and valuables to the amount of about $15,000 was taken. No clue to the thieves ever was obtained. Mrs. Wilson longed for the scenes of her youth, and soon became tired of the pastoral life. She finally prevailed on her husband to ten-fer his resignation and arrange to make Canada their permanent place of residence. The pastor complied with his wife's wishes, and they left Monday night for Outario. Mrs. Wilson is wealthy, and consequently abundantly able to provide for herself and husband should he not obtain a charge at

HIS FIRS FEE.

A Soft-Hearted Bridegroom Who Pitted the Minister. (From the Detroit Free Press.)

[From the Detroit Free Press.]
Rev. Dr. Blank, now a prominent pasts of a prominent church, had his firstharge in a country district and he tell is story: "The first couple I married," he says "The first couple I married, "came to the house where I boarded and had my study, for I was a bachelor then, and they were genuine specimes of the rustic lover—he tall and gawky, she awksward, but pink-cheeked and pretty, as rustic beauty goes. They came in a wagon and it did not take long to perform the ceremony. After it was over I thought it my duty to kiss the bride, and bent forward to do so when the groom laid his hand on my arm.

"I'm scry to say I'm not, I confessed.

"Air's gos no wife?"

"No."
"No whin' like this in the house? and again he doucked the blushing bride under the chin.

"No: I'm all alone.
"I guess there must have been a touch of sadness or regret in my voice, for the groom's face took on the grace of sympathy.

"Look here, mister, he said, 'I'll tall you what I'll do. If you'll give me, back them takers and haif a dollar to book I'll be blamed if you can't kiss the bride?

"Of course I roudin't be so ungulant as to refuse the offer, if indeed it would have been safe to have done so, and handing over the potatoes and the coly haif dollar land. I gracefully sainted the bride and sent them both on their way with my blessing."
