Mrs. Scheuermann, of Buffalo, Speaks About Her Sister, Mrs. Hartley—The Third Attempt at Suicide—Mr. Hartley the Kindest or Husbands—Suicide a Family Mania.

Mrs. Scheuermann, of Buffalo, N. Y., a sister of the late Mrs. Thomas Hartley, who committed suicide, arrived in the city to attend the funeral of deceased to-day.

"I would like to say," said Mrs. Scheuermann to a reporter of the Advertiser this morning, "that my poor sister had the kindest of husbands. Some erratic evidence brought out at the inquest might lead the public to believe otherwise, and I wish to correct the impression.

"Since her marriage to Mr. Hartley she has several times visited me in Buffalo, and has always spoken in the most affectionate terms of her busband, with whom she lived happily. It is not generally known that this last was the third attempt she had made to commit suicide. Her father and her sister ended their own lives; it seems to be a sort of a mania with one side of the family. So you will see that Mrs. Hartley's act was not due to any trouble, but came by here naturally. I would not have told this but I do it in justice to Mr. Hartley, who has been everything that a husband should be to a wife.

"Poor girl" she added looking at the dead form in the coffin which was covered with beautiful floral emblems. "She was the youngest of us all; I am the oldest. I nursed her when she was a child and she lived with me in Buffalo until she left four years ago." Mr. Hartley who was in the room was almost prostrated with grief and the tears welled to his eyes whenever he glanced at the lid of the casket.
