> THE THEATRICAL SEASON. The opening of the autumn season is ow within measurable distance, as the plans of both actors and managers are taking definite shape. Much is seted, though of necessity much remains unsettled. Sir Henry Irving's announcenents have created a good deal of inerest, though it is not forgotten that he promises he made a year ago for he season just finished were by no means carried out. Of the plays promised by Sir Henry for the season of 1897-98, interest is divided between 'Peter the Great," by Sir Henry's son, Lawrence Irving, and the new work from the pens of Robert Richens and H. Drummond Trail. During Sir Henry's absences from the Lyceum it will be tenanted by Forbes Robinson, who will again have Mrs. Patrick Campbell as his leading lady. "Ham-let," "Othello" and "Lechemineau" are dready announced.

The tragedies commenced with the self-destruction on July 7 last of the four young dress-makers in the Poissenniere quarter of Paris, who suffocated themselves in a small room with the fumes of a charcoal stove after dining together. Since then, almost daily, one or more women have committed suicide, and the self-murders of men have been equally numerous. The bodies of men are found daily hanging to trees in the Bois de Vincennes. In one alley of that park alone six bodies of suicides were found during the past week, and the morgue is so full of dead bodies found in the River Seine that there is no further
