-The following is taken from the Quill, of Florence. Miss Walker has many friends in this city: "On Monday evening a grand concert, the best in the history of the church, took place, the star of the evening being Miss Walker, teacher of elocution at Alma College, St. Thomas Miss Walker appeared eleven times, and her selections were heartily received and applauded. She is a clever elocutionist, with a pleasing stage appearance, realistic and true to the theme of her selections, which are two very important features in her beloved art. She is a host in herself." -Sarnia Canadian: Miss Gray and Miss Cattnach returned Saturday from an extended visit to Buffalo, Toronto and London. -Mr. Hubert Traher, organist of St Peter's Cathedral, who has been sick for some weeks, resumes his duties on Sunday. During his absence his sister, Miss May Traher, has filled his place very acceptably. She is but 16 years of age.

An Ottawa dispatch says: The supreme court judgment was reserved in Hopkins vs. Uptoegrove, and the next case, the King vs. Love, the last on the Ontario list, was called. In this case the appeal is from a judgment refusing a mandamus to compel the respond-ent, a magistrate, to commit for trial a man charged with perjury, whom he had tried summarily and discharged. The court held that the case could not be heard, as no printed case nor fac-tums were filed, and it was struck from the list. Bartram appeared for the appellant.

CONGREGATIONAL "AT HOME." At the Dundas Street Center Church last night Rev. C. T. Scott and Mrs. Scott held a congregational "At Home." A goodly number attended and the evening was spent in a most enjoyable manner. Dainty refreshments were set and an excellent programme was given on short notice by the musical talent among the guests. Besides the work of Mr. Hewlett, the organist, it included solos by Miss Myra Pickard, soprano soloist of St. Andrew's Church; Mr. A. Garthwaite, bass soloist, and Mr. J. W. Fetherston, organist of Wellington Street Methodist Church. Rev. Mr. Scott also addressed the gathering, referring to the excel-lent reception that had been tendered him on his arrival in this city, and trusting that a closer bond might be effected among the members of the ing of the Canadian Bankers' Association was convened at the Windsor Hotel yesterday, E. S. Clouston, the president, in the chair. Mr. Clouston, in the course of his annual address, referred to the banking legislation, which went into operation not long ago, but stated that it has not yet been long enough in force to get into proper working order. The bank returns since the last annual meeting, he said, showed a steady increase in circulation, having expended $5,600,000, while deposits have risen $40,000,000, and there is $14,000,000 more on loan available for the business requirements of the country. Referring to the general conditions isting in the country Mr. Clous-ton said that the business prosperity. which commenced in 1897 was as yet undiminished. It was a striking sign that in five years the money value of hanced 63 per cent.

The association concluded its meeting today by electing the following officers for the ensuing year: Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal and leorge Hague, honorary presidents; E. S. Clouston, president; Thomas Mc-Dougall, Duncan Clouston, H. Stikeman and George Burns, vice-presidents; B. E. Walker, Thomas Fishe, D. R. Wilkie, T. G. Brough, M. J. Pendegast, W. Farewell, J. "Built for laughing purposes only," is the raison d'etre advanced on behalf of "The House that Jack Built," and, judging by the laughter at the Grand Opera House last night, Broadhurst's comedy has amply fulfilled the expectations of its creation. The story revolves around a certain Willie Slab, a paperhanger by force of circumstances, but "a plumber at heart," who has been engaged to work in a house being built by "Dr. Jack," a wealthy but eccentric gentleman. To him comes Sir Edward Singleton, who has seen and fallen in love with Hester, the doctor's daughter, a young woman who believes in the downtrod-den workingmen and despises the aristocracy. Sir Edward, learning of her socialistic tendencies, persuades the paperhanger to pass him off as his brother and assistant, and when he makes his appearance in a workman's jacket and overalls, Hester is immediately impressed by the bearing of this magnificent specimen of American workman. Mrs. Dooley, a wealthy widow, desirous of marrying her daughter Florence to a member of the nobility, discovers that Sir Edward is there in disguise, but mistakes the genuine paperhanger for him. There are other cases of mistaken identity in the piece, a boyish suitor for Florence Dooley's hand being likewise mistaken for the baronet. A young father, his old son, the former's father, a dear little Japanese girl and a vaudeville artist, all serve to complicate matters deliciously. Mr. Geo. H. Summers, a former Toronto boy, gave the role of Willie Slab the broadly humorous conception that it required. His solicitation of contributions to his collection of souvenir ten-dollar bills never failed to elicit paroxyms of laughter from his hearers. Miss St. George Hussey, no stranger to old-time theater-goers, gave a delightful im-personation of the impressionable Mrs Dooley. Mr. Hugh Cameron was satisfactory as the distinguished nobleman. The balance of the caste, which included Geo. Sinclair as Percy Huntington, C. F. Lorraine as Dr. Jack, S. V. Morgan as Bedford Madison, Og-den Wright as Bedford Madison, jun., Lenore Lockwood as Hester, Ethel May as Japonica, Mildred Keith as Florence and May Ethel Courtenay as Lily Linton, were all acceptable The specialties introduced good songs by Geo. H. Summers, C. F. Lorraine, Miss Hussey, Miss Courtenay, and a dance eccentric by the latter and Mr.

HUMAN HEARTS-SATURDAY. Tom Logan is an honest young blacksmith in Arkansas, with muscles of steel and a heart susceptible to love. A wayward young woman reforms, meets Tom, and he marries her. Finding the rural life of Tom's home a bur den, she returns to her old ways. She finds a convenient male accomplice, who aids her in her despicable work. Without cause they plot to kill the honest young blacksmith. The male accomplice is ambushed for that purpose, but Tom's old father appears, and is killed in cold blood. The adventuress and her pal trump up a charge against Tom and he is finally sent to prison as a convicted murderer. A last evidence is produced that proves his innocence. The day of reckoning comes for the adventuress and her villainous pal, and both meet what all A request from P. L. "THE PRINCESS CHIC." The story of "The Princess Chic," in which Marguerita Sylva is to be seen at the New Grand next Thursday evening, is a romance of the fifteenth century, laid at a chateau in Burgun-dy. It tells how the Princess Chic of Normandy conquered the heart of the indifferent Charles the Bold, Duke of Burgundy, and frustrated the wicked designs of the eleventh Louis of France. It is a pretty story and told with much humor. The comedy element is often hilarious, but is ever clean on Park avenue, on which they will build two-story residences. Mr. Chrisand wholesome.

LONDON OPERA HOUSE. The Castle Square Stock Company said to be one of the best repertoire companies on the road, will open a week's engagement at the London Opera House next Monday, Nov. 18 During a recent engagement in Hamilton, the Hamilton Herald, speaking of the performance, said: "If the Castle Square Theater Stock Company's two weeks' engagement, which opened at Sherman's Theater last night, is not a success, it will not be the fault of the company. From the viewpoint of standard plays at popular prices, the company fulfilled all that was promised of it. In fact, the company "made good" last night, and, considering the scale of prices, the audience got more than its money's worth. The company is well-balanced, and is in the main the best popular-priced attraction that Some people thought he was a funny old man when he spoke at camp meeting on the subject of "Lord Give Us Sense."
