

MOROCCAN TALK A PRETTY PICTURE

Moors and Europeans Gathered at Algeciras.

OPENING OUTLOOK IS FOR PEACE

The Best of Feeling Prevails—The Crucial Question To Be Left Until the Last.

Algeciras, Jan. 16.—The opening of the Moroccan conference was notable for the spirit of conciliation manifested.

The events of the day were the gathering of the ambassadors with their extensive staffs, and the one hour's session in which the Duke of Almodovar, Spanish minister of foreign affairs, was unanimously elected president of the conference.

The duke's speech of acceptance breathed concord and peace. He counselled the nations to adjust their differences, and emphasized the essential principles of the sovereignty of the Sultan, the territorial integrity of Morocco and the open door.

It was significant that both the French and the German delegations heartily seconded the remarks of the duke, thus foreshadowing the amelioration of Franco-German relations.

The envoys were driven to the conference in court equipages, sent from Madrid by King Alfonso.

The delegates on the way to the city had been taken past the imposing walled building.

The Moors were the last to arrive, and their white draperies, turbans, yellow shoes, added an odd touch to a gathering that otherwise looked like that of an afternoon tea.

There were seven of the Arabs, dignified men with watchful eyes, and all with athletic frames except Mohammed El Torres, whose figure is bent under the weight of his 83 years.

The Duke of Almodovar met Mohammed El Torres at the head of the stairs, a distinction which was not shown to the other delegates.

The repose of the Moors was shaken for a second by the rattle of camera shutters in the hands of some 30 foreign photographers, which sounded as though a file of soldiers was cocking its rifles. Quite a hundred newspaper men and artists lined the approaches.

The Duke of Almodovar, in the name of King Alfonso, said it was the second time that Morocco and the great powers had met in Spain to deliberate on questions of the highest importance.

The conference decided to first take up the question of the surveillance of contraband, and then regard the form of Moroccan finances.

This decision indicates the disposition of the conference to put off the more delicate questions involved until the last.

PLUNGED TEN STORIES

Fear of Losing Fortune Drives Man to Dreadful Act.

New York, Jan. 16.—Fear that a comfortable fortune that he had accumulated as a wholesale jeweler might by some means be swept away and he be compelled to spend his closing days in an almshouse, prompted Meyer Baum to jump to death from a tenth-story window in Maiden Lane today.

His business partner, Lewis Rothschild, and a woman book-keeper were in the office with him at the time. Mr. Rothschild said that Mr. Baum opened the window as though intending to admit fresh air and held his hands in a diving position, plunged head foremost out of it.

The firm recently went into liquidation.

CRIPPLING SCIATICA

A Sure and Certain Way to Cure This Terrible Torture.

There is just one sure, scientific cure for sciatica, rheumatism, lumbago, neuralgia, headaches—you must drive the pain from your blood and nerves with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Lumbago never cures nerve and blood diseases. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills strike straight at the cause because they actually make new blood. Through the blood they conquer the painful poison, soothe the nerves, loosen the muscles and banish every ache and pain. Mr. Thos. J. Etsell, Walkerton, Ont., says: "When I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I had been off work for three months. The corvix of my right leg were all drawn up and I could only limp along with the aid of a stick. The pain I suffered was terrible. Only those who have been afflicted with sciatica can understand the misery I was in both day and night. I took six boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills before they helped me, but every day after that saw an improvement, and by the time I had used fifteen boxes, every vestige of the pains had disappeared. I have no hesitation in pronouncing Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the best medicine in the world for sciatica."

Every dose of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills makes rich, pure, health-giving blood. That is why they cure headaches and backaches, indigestion, kidney and liver troubles, anaemia, heart palpitation and all the ills that afflict women only. But be sure you get the genuine pills with the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," on the wrapper around every box. Imitations are worthless—often dangerous. All medicine dealers sell these pills or you can get them by mail for 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WIDOW DROWNS HERSELF

A Kincardine Lady Suicides While Mentally Deranged.

Kincardine, Jan. 16.—A lamentable suicide occurred here this morning, when a widow, Mrs. Johnston, drowned herself in the Penetanguishene River.

She had been ill for a week past and was laboring under mental aberration when she did the rash deed.

The family had risen early, and Mrs. Johnston remained in her room. After breakfast they went up stairs and found that she had left the house.

Search which was made led to the river, where her coat was found. The body was discovered in the water about 11 o'clock and taken out by Chief of Police McGraw.

She leaves one son, a clerk in Cooke's drug store.

An inquest will be held.

BOATS WILL STAY THERE

Relics of War of 1812 Not to Go to Detroit.

Ottawa, Jan. 16.—It is said that a petition is being circulated in Toronto to prevent the Government handing over to some parties in Detroit two vessels that were sunk in the Thames at Chatham in 1812. The United States parties were said to be anxious to secure them as a relic of that war. Some months ago the Department of Public Works stated that the boats would not leave Canadian soil, so that there is no need of fear on this point.

PSHAWFOOR OR CHAWFER-R?

Mark Twain Solves a National Problem by Discovering Proper Name.

New York, Jan. 16.—Mark Twain has solved a national problem. He has found a substitute for the most maligned and unpronounceable word in the new language of automobilism—chawfer. This word, which he declares, is said in nine different ways, all of them wrong, would abolish and establish "mahout" in its place.

Mark Twain announces his discovery in a letter to Harper's Weekly, to which this quotation is a preface:

Scarcely had Watchman Fowler taken his post at the gate when a procession of strange creatures appeared. "Halt! Who goes there?" ejaculated the watchman when a fat negro approached, laboriously leading a thin, bow-legged beast.

"Dis heah beast is Ole Ironsides," explained the goat's mahout. "From 'Dan'l the Bulldog,' in the Times."

"When I read it," the letter says, "I recognized with a thrill that the right word had been found at last—mahout. The mahout, that majestic devil, that impressive devil, is our elephant, he is in a class by himself, like the jungle monarch; to be his master, pilot, and compeller is a post of solemn and awful dignity and danger and it does seem to me that that measly word 'chawfer' does not properly fit the occupant of it. Chawfer is a good enough word, when strictly confined to its modest and rightful place—as you will see what Little says about it. I translate: 'A chawfer is the freer-up on the street corner, peanut roaster; in English, stoker.' A good enough word, you see, in its own place, but when we come to apply it to the animal of the thunderous 'mahout' or of the mighty elephant we realize it is inadequate. No, stoker is not the thing, chawfer is not the thing, mahout is the thing—mahout is the word we need. Besides, there is only one way of saying mahout, whereas there are nine ways of saying chawfer and none of them right. With ever increasing respect, dear sir, as the ages roll on, I am yours, "MARK TWAIN."

VIGIL OVER MUTINEERS

Was Kept by the Armed Captain for Four Days.

New York, Jan. 16.—Four days on the deckhouse of the bark Edward L. Mayberry, that almost continually breaking over the wreck and during all that time remaining with his revolver ever pointed at the mutinous crew, is part of the experience of Captain Josiah Sheppard, who arrived today on the American Line steamship "Paul."

Captain Sheppard and his 10 men were rescued in mid-sea by the steamship Stacia, taken to England and thence transferred to the American liner. Captain Sheppard lost his vessel as the result of her striking a rock in the height of a severe gale on Dec. 10.

The crew, negroes shipped in the South, collected a butt of water, some pork, flour and beans and carried them to the top of the deckhouse. Later in the day all hands were forced to seek refuge on the roof. It was then, according to Captain Sheppard, that four of the negroes declared that they were going to desert the ship.

Captain Sheppard pulled his revolver and declared that he would shoot the first man who attempted to take the boat. This quieted them somewhat, but they insisted that the food be not ported out, and the result was the first meal was served with the captain standing by, revolver in hand.

"One night, that of Dec. 12," says Captain Sheppard, "I know they had decided to murder me. They talked in groups, and continually followed me, I did not get a wink of sleep that night. I simply sat and watched them as best I could, my revolver in my hand. That seemed to have a quieting effect, for after that life was less anxious. You can imagine our position when I tell you that the sea was continually making a sweep over us."

"On the morning of Dec. 16 we were taken off without accident, and finally landed in England, where the negroes were put in irons and taken to jail."

It is strange that our enterprising quick lunch restaurants have not fitted themselves out with steam shovels for the benefit of some of their impatient patrons.

FEW CHANGES BY FRENCH ELECTION

Majority of Outgoing Senators Returned and Outlook Remains Same.

Paris, Jan. 16.—Sunday's elections for a renewal of one-third of the senate's membership justified the predictions that the majority of the outgoing senators would be re-elected. Eighteen new members were elected, but the relative proportions of the parties are not changed. Thus the French political situation remains the same.

Both chambers met under the presidency of their respective deans, that of the chamber of deputies being a Roman Catholic monarchist of La Vendee. He resumed his theme of last year, "Dieu Protège La France," and took occasion to protest against the separation of church and state. The reactionaries have arrived at the point of implicitly believing that separation means a renunciation of God. The Vendean deputy also made use of his momentary term of office to sound a patriotic refrain, affirming that if the frontier were invaded the aggressor would find us all ready for defense.

The speaker also protested against anti-military and anti-nationalist doctrines.

A similar note was sounded in the senate by the doyen.

On the following day and the day after both houses elected their permanent bureaus.

M. Doumer was elected president of the chamber of deputies in spite of opposition on the part of the Republican contingent. M. Falloux triumphed in the senate. An interesting feature of the situation is that the presidents of the two houses in a few days will be opposing candidates for the presidency of the republic.

Votes already recorded permit predictions on their respective chances next Wednesday. To each is conceded not only the votes he has already received, but also those which were lacking to his opponent.

According to this reckoning, M. Falloux becomes the grand favorite, assured of a majority of 76 votes. It remains to be seen whether this calculation is correct.

M. Etienne Lamm, successor of the painter Guillaume in the French Academy, was officially received on Thursday.

It is confirmed that at a meeting held at the archbishop's palace in Paris, the French cardinals have agreed to make a trial of the separation law and of the regime created by the new law regarding educational associations. It is easy to predict that these conciliatory dispositions will have an influence, not only on the attitude of the Pope, but also on that of the French bishops, who will soon hold a synod.

MANY HEIRS ARE MISSING

Several If They but Apply Can Get Estates in England.

London, Jan. 16.—During the year just closed a large number of inquiries for missing heirs, legatees, relatives, and other persons who may hear of things "greatly" to their advantage, have been made by Kinfolk, lawyers and chancery officials in the "Agency" columns of the press. There are a great many people, many of them doubtless hard up, for whom money is waiting here. They have only to claim it to get it, but they don't know their luck.

In the London Times is published the annual summary of a well known claims agent of those on whom good fortune waits. It is impossible to tell just how many of them are now living in America, but the following are specifically referred to as having been last heard of there: C. G. Salmon, who left for America in 1893, is entitled to a trial of the separation law, a trial of the regime created by the new law regarding educational associations. It is easy to predict that these conciliatory dispositions will have an influence, not only on the attitude of the Pope, but also on that of the French bishops, who will soon hold a synod.

Another said: "Tokio has sent an ultimatum to Germany demanding that Germany remove her troops from China. A grave crisis is impending."

Another said that Alice Roosevelt had eloped with a British army officer. Many of those on board who had bought securities before sailing saw disaster in the message that Germany was on the verge of war with Japan. The commotion grew, and at dinner, Capt. E. J. Smith, who had been informed of the grave situation ashore, ordered the bulletins removed from the board and started an investigation.

It was found that although the Baltic had been in wireless communication on Jan. 6 with the steamship Columbia, bound for Glasgow, no such message had been received. The passengers finally realized there was a "funny man" aboard.

Doesn't Grow Rancid. Preparations made of fish oils or animal fats generally cause stomach or bowel troubles when taken during warm weather. Angier's Emulsion is the ideal remedy. It never grows rancid. It is made of petroleum, combined with glycerine and hypophosphites, and is in every way better than similar preparations. It is pleasant to take. Try a 50c bottle.

Self-interest is the principal ingredient in the interesting things of life. Every man gets more than he thinks he is entitled to—in the matter of misfortunes.

"A Love of a House" (TWO CENTS PER WORD). In a nice neighborhood—and so reasonable! Test it out in the "House for Rent" column in "The Globe" today. You'll see what a house and many others—just what you have been looking for. You can always find what you want advertised in "The Globe" Toronto.

MAY HAVE MORE CHILDREN NOW

London County Council's Officials' Families No Longer Limited.

London, Jan. 16.—The London county council has seriously altered its views as to the size of its officials' families. Hitherto the caretakers of the county council schools have held their appointment subject to the curious conditions that they must not have more than one child. Now, however, the council has decided to rescind this regulation, probably owing to the ever-increasing clamor as to the falling birth rate. From the first day of the new year they can have as many children as they please, and the appearance of twins will not be treated as an enormity for which compulsory resignation is the proper expiation. There are, however, two classes of the council's female employees to whom marriage means the loss of their employment. These are the typists and the checkers, of whom there are over 100, in the tramways department at Camberwell.
