[Canadian Press.] Paris, Nov. 6 .- Paris appears to be more optimistic. The hope is freely expressed that a few more weeks of patient effort on the part of the allies will result in forcing the German right back into the interior of Belgium, and so compelling the withdrawal of the whole line from Lille to Mosselle toward the frontier. This hopefulness is based to a con siderable extent on the progress of the allies east of the Yser, which is accepted as establishing that the Germans have fallen back some distance from the river.

Heavy Fighting at Several Points, and Assaults of Enemy Repulsed-French Reta ke Village of Sapigneult, Driving Germans Out.

[Canadian Press.]
Paris, Nov. 6.—2:50 p.m.—The French official announcement, given out this afternoon says: "There was no perceptible modification during the day of yeserday, anywhere on the front. The fighting continued between Dixmude and the Lys, with the same characteristics as previously, and without any marked advance or retirement at any point. There was violent cannonading to the north of Arras, and also directed upon Arras, without result for the enemy.

CHANGING COMPOSITION. The German effort in Belgium and in the north of France continues. The Germans seem to have undertaken changes in the composition of their forces which are operating in this region, and are reinforcing their reserve corps, composed of new organizations, which have been severely tested, with active troops with the idea of undertaking a new offensive movement, or at least to mitigate the bloody checks which have been inflicted upon them.
