County Association Report at Maritime Winter Fair

ANNAPOLIS COUNTY.—E. C. Elliott reported for Annapolis Co., Farmers' Association as follows: As secretary of the Annapolis Co., Farmers' Association I wish to say we have entered upon our fifth year of work, and that we have made some advance as an association. Greater interest is being taken in all phases of agriculture peculiar to our district. Our farmers, as a body do not feel that they know it all, but are ready and anxious to learn more about their calling and intelligently grapple with the continual changes and various conditions that confront them. We are not solely a body of Horticulturists but are really engaged in mixed farming, dairying, beef raising, as well as orcharding. We need those who can economically support or sustain the farm. We are also interested in the source of the soil is a source of much discussion and we are seeking more knowledge as an association. We have directors interested in the discharge of their duties. We are grateful for the assistance that we have received through the Secretary of Agriculture, Principal Cummings, who the right man in the right place. We are sorry that more of our young men have not taken advantage of the Agricultural College. Our Institute work has been appreciated and a greater demand created.

Fanny Crosby Anniversary

Providence Methodist Church Celebrates Famous Hymn Writer's 88th Birthday.

Under the direction of Prof. J. H. Morse, the choir of the Providence Methodist Church, assisted by the members of the Baptist, Presbyterian and Church of England choirs of the town gave an evening of music in honor of the 88th birthday of Fanny Crosby, the famous hymn writer. The spacious church was well filled and many to whom the old hymns are dear passed an evening of rare enjoyment. A brief sketch of her interesting and useful career was given by Prof. Morse which excluded her from one of the chief avenues of usefulness and success. She would rather, like the blind Milton who gave to the world the immortal "Paradise Lost," pry that so much the more, the celestial light might shine inward and irradiate all happiness, and as a result she has given to the churches as many as eight thousand Gospel songs, many of which have won for themselves a permanent place in Christian hymnology. Tributes to the blind singer from Miss Haverall, Will Carleton and Miss Sangster were features of the evening.

SERIOUS RESULTS FOLLOW THE CONDUCT OF WEDDING GUESTS IN NEW YORK TOWN.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Mar. 19.—A Wakefield, N. Y., special says: "A quantity of rice thrown by an energetic guest at the wedding of Miss Fannie Palmer and Clifford Livingston of Fairhaven, N. Y., held here yesterday, nearly cost the bride her life. Many friends of the pair united after the ceremony in the usual practice of throwing old shoes and rice at the newly wedded couple, just as they were driving away from the bride's home. Rice frightened the horses, they started to run, the carriage was overturned and the bride, pinned beneath it, was dragged twenty feet before the groom, who held on to the reins, stopped the team. The wedding trip was abandoned and the bride painfully bruised, is under the care of a physician."

Old Age Annuities Bill

Mr. Fielding's Old Age Annuities Bill has passed the House of Commons and will probably become law. This is not an old age pension scheme. In fact, as Mr. Fielding pointed out when introducing it, the Government merely gives a high rate of interest for the money paid by the annuitant, and under the expense and responsibility of administration. The figures given by Mr. Fielding in introducing the Bill show what annuities may be expected for given payments, the figures being based on interest at four per cent. (if the annuity matures), though that rate, of course, cannot be guaranteed. Having his figures on an expected rate, however Mr. Fielding took the case of a man who begins to contribute at twenty. If he contributes twenty-five cents a week, he will be entitled at fifty-five to $57.25 a week. If he stops contributing at that age, but postpones taking the annuity till he is sixty, it will be $126 a year. If he waits till he is sixty-five, the annuity will be $189.47. If he waits until he is seventy, the annuity will be $291.71. If he contributes a dollar a week from twenty to twenty-five, he will be entitled at fifty-five, $349.02 a year. If he stops contributing, but waits until he is sixty, the annuity will be $501. If he pays $2 a month, from twenty to twenty-five, his annuity will be under the conditions already detailed: At fifty-five, $161.47; at sixty, $233.22; at sixty-five, $350.83; at seventy, $559. At fifty-eight a month, from twenty to twenty-five, the annuity works out: At fifty-five $403.67; at sixty, $582.05. If he pays $5 a quarter the annuity will be: At fifty-five, $125.29; at sixty, $195.37; at sixty-five, $294.11; at seventy, $449.23. Independent payments are permitted. A man may pay sums of $10 or more at one time, and he will be given whatever annuity the sums so paid will bring. Suppose a man at twenty pays in $100, and never pays any further sum when he is fifty-five he will get $366.00 a year. Suppose he pays a like sum every five years, the last being when he is fifty, when he is fifty-five he will get $149.28. If a man cannot keep up his contributions he will receive an annuity proportionate to the amount he pays. If a man, when he is fifty-five, pays $1000 in a lump sum, and waits till he is sixty, he will be given an annuity of $98.14. If he waits till he is sixty-five, it will be $112.65; if he waits till he is seventy, it will be $135.39; if he waits till he is seventy-five, it will be $166.19. This scheme is slightly different from that proposed by Sir Richard Cartwright last session, the age of participation having been reduced from 60 to 55. It will be readily available in all parts of the country, as it may be administered either by Postmasters or Collectors of Customs.

Horse Show at Kentville

(Acadian Orchardist.) It was a very large and well pleased crowd that assembled in Kentville on Friday last, to witness the Horse Show held on that date under the auspices of the Kings Co., Farmers' Association and the Kentville Board of Trade. The venture proved a great success and over 70 entries were made in five different classes. Never before was a better show of horse-flesh seen in the valley. The judge was Dr. Standish, a tale of modern New Brunswick in different sections of the County on the subject of the horse. There was a delay in commencing on account of the lateness of the arrival of the train with Dr. Standish. The committee in charge were: Capt. C. O. Allen, Dr. W. B. Moore, John Redden, B. L. Cole and Rev. W. R. Turner, the latter as Secretary of the Committee, proving a most efficient help. It is estimated there were 2,000 people in Kentville on that day. The following is a list of the prize winners: Class 1, pair carriage horses—1st, A. H. Westcott, Melancon; 2nd, A. C. Strong, Brooklyn Street; 3rd, J. D. Moore, Kentville. Class 2, matched pair draft horses—1st, D. S. Collins, Fort Williams; 2nd, W. H. Waters, Kentville; 3rd, J. G. Byrnes, Kentville. Class 3, single all purpose horse—1st, A. Ellis, Billtown; 2nd, J. E. Kinnaman, Centerville; 3rd, Ross Fullerton, Grand Pre. Class 4, Cowe, Kentville; 2nd Judson Millet, Gasperau; 3rd, F. L. Gertrude, Gasperau. Class 5, Single roaster—1st, D. M. Doherty, Kentville; 2nd, S. A. Burgess, Upper Dyke; 3rd, Kenneth Morse, Newville. Dr. Standish spoke particularly of the exhibits in Class 3 and Class 5, although all were good and compared favorably with similar exhibits in Ontario. In the evening of that day Dr. Standish and others addressed a large public meeting which was held in the Court House.

Centrelea

A number of our young people plan on going to Centrelea this spring. We regret to say our much esteemed neighbor, Mr. Jackson Messersmith, is still on the sick list. Miss Blanche Brooks has returned to Centrelea. She has been spending a few weeks at her home here. On Friday last some scholars of this school went to Carlton's Corner for a spelling match. The match was not finished so we don't know which side would have been the victor. Mr. Riley Brooks has a cow that yielded 21 1/2 lbs of butter in a year. For the last few weeks he has obtained one pound of butter for six quarts of milk. Bent this if you can. Will the person or persons visiting John E. Brooks' lumber pile in his door-yard, please postpone their visit until he returns home and he will make it more pleasant for them.

Sacred Music Recital

Mrs. Ringwald, Organist of Wolfville Assists Baptist Church Choir

A musical treat was provided for those who attended the Organ Recital in the Baptist church last Friday evening. Our own justly popular artists were assisted by the talented organist, Mrs. Ringwald, from Wolfville. It was Mrs. Ringwald's first appearance before a Bridgetown audience, but from her opening solo until the end she held her hearers captive. A smooth velvety touch, brilliant execution, and a perfect and sympathetic knowledge of the instrument combined to make her every number full of enjoyment for her listeners. Mrs. Harry Ruggles was in excellent voice and rendered her selections in her usual exquisite manner, while Miss Lydia Munro was equally appreciated. It was somewhat of a disappointment that, owing to a difficulty in getting the violin to chord with the organ, Miss Munro was obliged to omit Gounod's "Ave Maria" with violin obligato, although her substituting number "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden" was beautifully and artistically rendered. Mr. W. A. Warren sang several solos in an enjoyable manner and the concluding number, a quartette by Mrs. Harry Ruggles, Mrs. Harry Bustin, Messrs. Fred Bekwith and W. A. Warren, was particularly appreciated. Another feature of the program was Mrs. Warren's reading. Her rendering of the charming little poem "Daffodils," and of Longfellow's "Reverie" with organ accompaniment, was especially pleasing. Thanks are due not only the artists taking part therein but to those who promoted the affair. Their efforts are appreciated by the music-loving public and should not fail to be awarded a liberal patronage. This is the second sacred concert of the season, the first having been given in St. James Episcopal church. May they continue!

Scribner's Magazine

Scribner's Magazine for April has a brilliant red cover and a frontispiece, also in color, showing a ship passing through the Suez Canal at night. The leading article, "How They Rattled the Desert," is by W. J. Aylward, the artist who, it will be recalled, accompanied the dry-dock "Dewey" on its long voyage. As an illustration of life at sea he is not surpassed; he also has the knack of vivid description. It is many years since Richard Harpall Davis has written a serial, and in this number readers are fortunate in having the first instalment of "Veru, the Melian," a tale of modern New York, written in Mr. Davis's most graphic manner. The story moves about the efforts of a lawyer to rob an old man by working on his credulity through a medium. Among the other characters are the District Attorney and an ingenious reporter. The story abounds in dramatic situations. In "The Westward Tide of Commerce Through Suez" Charles M. Pepper brings Davis's serial, and in this number readers are fortunate in having the first instalment of "Veru, the Melian," a tale of modern New York, written in Mr. Davis's most graphic manner.
