

Hair Goods BY MAIL

A YEAR'S designing, inventing, study and research of European art added to another year's experience is all crowded into our 1901 stock. We are highly pleased with the result attained, and feel satisfied a pleasant surprise awaits those who favor us with an inspection of our line.

Transformation.

I would particularly call your attention to the style of all our goods, which we have constructed on the latest and most approved principles, specially invented and designed by us, and are more true to nature, lighter, more durable and artistic than any other goods manufactured on this continent.

LEW WALLACE

AUTHOR OF "HEN HUR" AND "PRINCE OF INDIA"

"I have tried every pen of the kind on the market, and now unhesitatingly give preference to the Post. It not only feeds itself with less care, but has the immeasurable advantage of re-applying without faking the fingers. I do all my work with it."

IRA D. SANKEY

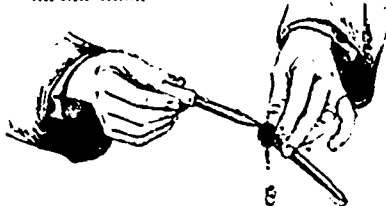

GOSPEL SINGER, DWIGHT L. MOODY'S LIFE LONG ASSOCIATE

"I have used the Post pen for some time and have had great satisfaction with its use. It never fails or gets cranky. One can at least have clean hands by using the Post, whatever the heart may be."

BISHOP J. H. VINCENT

THE EMINENT CHAUTAUQUAN PREACHER AND LECTURER

"The Post pen is almost an ideal fountain pen. I can suggest but one improvement—enlarge the barrel so as to carry a larger supply of ink though when exhausted it requires little more trouble to replenish it than to dip an ordinary pen in an ink-stand."

The Old Way.
