MOVING THEIR OFFICE.

Mr. Frank E. Waterman, Canadian representative of the Eaton-Hurlbut Paper Co., is moving his sample room from Melinda Street, Toronto, to 42 Adelaide Street West, to the building about to be occupied by McLeod & Allen. In his new quarters, Mr. Waterman will have a commodious display room where he will be pleased to show stationers, visiting the city, all the latest creations in papeteries and boxed papers, etc., of his firm.

The Christmas lines this year are of such a degree of excellence in every particular as to make a written description inadequate. There is the same beautiful designing, the same dainty packing, and the same quality of stock, that have always distinguished the Eaton-Hurlbut line, with the addition of those indefinable excellences, which come year by year and are embodied in the general result. It would delight the eye to see the charming boxes on display in Mr. Waterman's show room and it is to be hoped that many stationers will take advantage of his invitation to inspect the 1907 line.
