Dectron Inc. was founded in 1977 in Montreal, Quebec, where its head office and manufacturing facility now occupies 33 000 square feet of space. Employing a total of 60 people in the plant and head office, Dectron markets its products extensively through the United States, Canada, and to several other major world markets.

Dectron conceived and developed the concept of the "dehumidifier and water heater, closed-loop energy recycler" for indoor pools and spas. Dectron manufactures a wide range of dehumidifiers/pool water heaters which are well-known in the industry as DRY-O-TRON. The DRY-O-TRON product line covers indoor pool applications ranging from the smallest residential indoor pool to the largest of the commercial indoor wave pools.

The product line permits a variety of equipment configurations which can provide humidity control and pool water heating from the simplest of indoor pools to the most sophisticated natatorium complex.

The application of a DRY-O-TRON for an indoor pool can reduce energy costs up to 80 percent, improve user comfort and prevent the damage caused by high humidity and condensation.

Dectron products are marketed exclusively through representative companies who have the engineering capabilities and the factory training required to install the equipment and assist the architect or engineer with the overall system design.

With a total of 79 offices in the United States and 13 offices in Canada, Dectron representative companies cover all of the market regions and all of the major population centres in both countries.
