

-
- (2) Canada's Embassies and Posts in developing countries abroad;
 - (3) the Canadian International Development Agency and other government departments; and with
 - (4) International Trade Centres across Canada.

Collectively, this network represents an integral component of Canada's international support structure for businesses pursuing IFI opportunities in developing countries.