

Division

Members of the Liberal party who agree with me should have the courage to rise to their feet and to say to the government, "We will not accept this bill." Of course, I do not think I will see that. However, if they did that they would render a service to Parliament and to our democratic process.

Mr. Speaker: Is the House ready for the question?

Some hon. Members: Question.

Mr. Speaker: The question is on the amendment to the main motion. All those in favour of the amendment will please say yea.

Some hon. Members: Yea.

Mr. Speaker: All those opposed will please say nay.

Some hon. Members: Nay.

Mr. Speaker: In my opinion the nays have it.

And more than five members having risen:

Mr. Speaker: Call in the members.

• (1730)

The House divided on the amendment (Mr. Peters) which was negated on the following division:

(Division No. 25)
