cables from abroad and the stimulating tween Italy and Turkey, prices for wheat gradually sagged to-day under profit-taking movement, and closed lower than last night, losses ranging tous day's close, but the strength soon waned and during most of the session motely possible that other countries may be involved, but this contingency is not being taken into account on this side, despite somewhat alarming edvices from abroad.

Traders voiced the opinion that there was litle likelihood of the Dardenelies being closed as a result of a blockade, and consequently little danger of the Black Sea shipments being held back. It was also pointed out that Italy has a great deal more wheat than she needs, and that Turkey imports but little. On this ground it was felt that the was, as a bullish factor, had worked itself out in yesterday's advance.

The Sept. option opened unchanged from yesterday, sold up 1/2 to 1851/2c, and later eased to 941/2c, with the close at that figure. Dec. wheat dropped half a point from last night, at 981/2c, and May was off to about a like extent.

Corn showed a better trend than wheat, and the distant futures scored a further small advance on predictions of unfavorable weather; and reports of a stronger demand. Oats were 1/2c to 1/4c lower; provisions, with exception of spare ribs, also lower under profit-taking.
