Bowling Granite Trotting Second Day Tourney At St. Thomas

Note and Comment

That the Leafs have struck their stride was again in evidence in the double-header yesterday, and they should have won both. Ahead 3 to 1 in the first with three innings to go and Maxwell hanging out the distress sign, he was left in with the inevitable result. True, Hughes stayed in, but he tightened up as the game progressed. Kelley was not so much of a pitcher as he was a batter, and the Leafs were pitchers galore who were used to the second, just as they would have been in the line-up, high-class pitchers working well and the team eating and holding like champions, three in a row will do for Rochester. They are playing two more today and the Leafs will be lucky again to land one of them.

That was a unique play in the fifth innings of the first game. With men on first and second and one runner on third, a Texas leaguer to right that was not an infield fly, according to the umpire, and would have been a single had the runners hustled. McConnell nearly sailed as a scorper, stayed on the base. Meyer threw over his head to second, but the runner stepped on the base, forcing Jackisch.

Jack Johnson and Jim Flynn battle to-morrow away out in Las Vegas for the championship. "Who'll win the fight?" asked a newspaperman as he chatted with Tom Sharkey, heretofore champion of Ireland and the United States navy, in his saloon on the New York Bowery.

The question started the game off ringier off on the high speed of contemplation. "Say, don't kid yourself," growled Tom in that throaty voice of his. "That ain't going to be no fight. It's going to be a joke—a rag-doll joke, see? Why Johnson kin lick that Flynn any left of the best to-day—and I guess he's got, why, say, there won't be nothin' left of Flynn."

"Who's this Flynn guy anyway? Why he's just a joke scrapper. Say, I'll lick Flynn, but he ain't just as I am now, or give the money to charity. Mebbe Flynn's a pretty good fighter, but he's the hum of a scrapper, not a fighter. He's got a scrapper in him, but he's got a joke in him, too. That's what Johnson is—the best to-day—and I guess he's got the best that ever came down the pike."

A lot of guys think Johnson's a fake in the pug, but he ain't. Because he's colored ain't no sign he can't scraggle Johnson's a machine. He's got a good general, he's got the build, and he kin hit.

"What round will Johnson win? Say, kid, that's up to him. If he wants to give the game a little run for his money, mebbe he'll let the scragger go ten or twelve rounds. If he's going to jump in an' fight, I guess he'll jump in an' fight in about four rounds."

All that joke scrap will be in some wild swings by Flynn, a few jabs by Johnson, an' a wallop under the chin at then candler a slow move to the coalheaver."

"Any chance for a frame-up, Tom?" "Naw. Not a chance. Because why, they couldn't frame it no way. Flynn can't win, an' Johnson can't lose."

Leafs Drop First in Overtime Bat Out Win in Second Fixture

Toronto Started With Lead But Hustlers Caught Them and Won Out in Eleventh 6 to 3.

After looking to have the first battle of the double-header called and stored in the cellar, the Leafs let the Hustlers catch them in the eighth box, and then Gansel's men found Maxwell weakening in the eleventh and batted out three runs, getting the decision, 6 to 3.

Maxwell was going well in the early sessions and the home squad looked to have things all their own way. Two counters in the third started them off to a nice advantage.

Bemis got on cheap when Conroy dropped his easy fly. Maxwell did the proper thing—a sacrifice. Meyer banged one into left field that netted him a base and scored Bemis. O'Hara lifted to Conroy. Shaw rolled a hot one to McMillan and it went for a single, and Meyer scored when the Rochester shortstop heaved it to the second.

Things were not so exciting for the next few sessions, and it was the seventh inning that the Leafs looked to have a one-corner knock over third. Bemis' infield sent Holly on a pug, and then Maxwell did the needful to centre, and Holly counted, but Maxwell was out trying to stretch it to double. Meyer whiffed.

This was all that Kelley's boys got for the day, and it looked as if it should have been enough to win.

For four innings Maxwell and the youth shore hand breaking their backs, and the sign of a safe connection did they get. The Leafs looked to have a one-corner knock over third. Bemis' infield sent Holly on a pug, and then Maxwell did the needful to centre, and Holly counted, but Maxwell was out trying to stretch it to double. Meyer whiffed.

Rudolph Started the Second Game, But Was Removed—Leafs Bat Out 5 to 4 Win in Ninth.

The Toronto hopes showed their worth in the second half of the double but got a five to four victory by using their bats in the last box.

Klepper was on the mound for Gansel and he did it in three innings double play he did. In three innings double play he did. In three innings double play he did.

Rudolph started for Toronto, but three innings was enough for him. He was removed and the Leafs batted out five runs in the ninth.
