HOCKEN BECOMES MAYOR MAGUIRE IS CONTROLLER FOR REMAINDER OF YEAR

Controller Church Got No Second and Withdraw in Order to Run in January— Mayor Hocken Hopes to Accomplish Results—Cont. Maguire's Choice Was on a Vote of 16 to 3.

Controller H. C. Hocken was chosen mayor of Toronto yesterday by a vote of 16 to 3. Maguire was chosen controller. Mr. Church, who formally resigned to accept the position of corporation counsel, Ald. Alf. Maguire was appointed to the board of control to fill Controller Hocken's position.

Mr. Mayor Geary did not attend the council meeting, and after reading the letter containing the mayor's resignation, City Clerk Litchfield pointed out that it was necessary to elect a chairman for the purpose of opening the proceedings. It was upon Controller Church's assuming the duties of president that nominations for the election of a new mayor were received, in accordance with Controller McCarthy's motion.

There were three names put forward by the aldermen, that of Controller Hocken by Ald. Wanless and Austin, Ald. Dunn's name by Ald. McBride and Sanderson, and Controller Church's by Ald. Dunn, but the latter had no second.

Church Withdraws

Controller Church spoke at length upon his period of office, especially during the past year. He considered that he was responsible for the despatch of business during the summer months when almost all were on their holidays, thus keeping the city's business up-to-date. But considering that his name was not given the unanimous support of the council he would withdraw it, and, as the real fight for the mayoral position did not commence until January first next, he was content to wait until then.

Ald. Sam McBride waxed eloquent when speaking of Ald. Dunn's right to the mayoral position. He stated that he had been a member of the council since 1894, and had now the utmost confidence of the civic body, that he had been chairman of committees, a successful business man, and in all properly fitted to fill the vacant position.

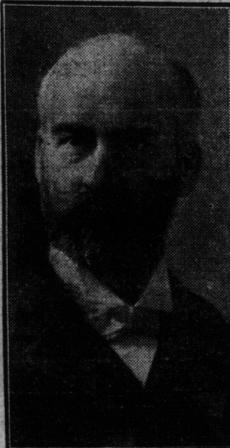

"Candidates" declared the aldermen, "Controllers Hocken and Church should start the race next January on an equal footing, and let the aldermen finish out the year. He also wanted the personnel of the board of control left as it is for the rest of the year."

Ald. Dunn stated that the position had been entirely unsolicited by him, and he had never canvassed for it, and he severely criticized an evening paper for the statement that he was going to infringe upon the dignity of the council by going to the electorate next January for alderman for Ward 5, after being elected mayor for two months. It was a source of gratification to him to know that so many members of the council who had such confidence in him, but with the permission of the mover of his name, he would be pleased to withdraw it.

"I brought forward Controller Hocken's name with a great deal of confidence," declared Alderman Wanless, "because I believe he is the man who will do a great deal of good for the City of Toronto, as he possesses the necessary qualifications. He has shown that he possesses initiative and judgment in the local transportation question."

Many were the adjectives used by the aldermen, who stated that the new mayor was "honest in the truest sense of the term. He was courageous, which he demonstrated in the manner in which he tackled the street railway problems. He was a disciplinarian."

CIVIC CAR LINES ARE AGAIN DELAYED

Special Committee Will Meet Toronto Railway Company Before Action is Taken on Commissioner Harris' Re- quest to Be Given a Free Hand.

On a question of policy Commissioner Harris' aim to facilitate the running of cars on the Gemard street section of the civic car line has been delayed again.

The commissioner, in a communication to the council, which was read at the meeting yesterday, requested that he be given the authority to purchase the equipment. He stated the authority already given him was not sufficient if they desired that the car lines should be equipped at the earliest possible date. On the contrary, it will be necessary for him to have full authority to purchase on his own initiative the land for car barn purposes, with power to erect the buildings and acquire the necessary rolling stock, generating equipment, etc., all on the credit of the city independent of a civic bylaw.

Ald. Dunn at once moved the adoption of the plan laid out by the commissioner, but by the expression of a year test a dangerous precedent be created. Ald. McBride was successful in sidetracking the question, and another nine days at least will elapse before anything more can be done by the commissioner. Controller McCarthy's motion that the letter be referred back until a special committee had conferred with the Toronto Street Railway authorities, was carried by 12 to 6. He stated that this move might be the means of procuring a better service. St. Clair Avenue Bridge.

HON. MR. MONK WILL RESIGN TODAY

No Announcement Followed Yesterday's Cabinet Ses- sion, But it is Definitely Understood Resignation Will Today Be in Governor-Gen- eral's Hands.

OTTAWA, Oct. 21.—(Special).—There was no announcement of any kind following this afternoon's session of the cabinet which would serve to throw additional light on the political situation. The Duke of Connaught arrived home tonight. Premier Borden and Hon. F. D. Monk drove down together to meet his royal highness.

Tomorrow Mr. Monk's resignation will be handed to the governor-general and it would not be surprising if his successor is named immediately.

NO LIBERAL IN EITHER CONTEST

Line-Up in North Waterloo of Miscellaneous Order— Neely and Sutherland in E. Middlesex.

BERLIN, Ont., Oct. 21.—(Special).—Today was nomination day in North Waterloo to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. Lakin. There were four nominations, viz., Allan Huber, independent; Chas. H. Mills, Conservative; Jas. T. Uttley, suffrage reform; Matthew Wayman, Socialist. Huber is out as a supporter of Allan Sutherland. Mills declares himself to be a Whitney Tory. Wayman represents the Socialist democratic party, and Uttley is the suffrage reform candidate.

Uttley's main plank is a larger franchise for manhood suffrage voters. He contends that the act should be so amended as to do away with the registration, leaving it to the assessors to put on the names from year to year. The collection of the poll tax would be the same as usual, and the young men of cities, towns and villages would be permitted to vote at municipal elections for municipal officers.

TWO IN MIDDLESEX.

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 21.—Returning Officer Rose of East Middlesex had two nominations before him at 2 o'clock.

The name of Mr. George W. Neely of Dorchester was presented by William Boler and Andrew Morise, and that of William Sutherland by John H. Elliott and James K. Little, well-known Liberals.

Hon. W. J. Hanna had been announced to lead the meeting, but did not care to do so unless Mr. Rowell spoke. As a result only the candidates were heard from.

"SHOE TRUST" IS FOUND ILLEGAL

Refusal to Sell Machinery to Manufacturers Held to Constitute Unlawful Combination.

OTTAWA, Oct. 21.—(Special).—That the United Shoe Machinery Co. is a combination in restraint of trade is the decision arrived at by the board appointed deal with the first case of the kind brought under the Combines Act.

The matter has been under consideration for a long time, the preliminary stages being delayed by the company challenging the jurisdiction of the board. Action was taken under the provisions of the act when Hon. Mackenzie King was minister of labor, and the enquiry as to the matter was pressed since Hon. T. W. Crothers assumed charge of the department. The decision that the company constituted a combine with the meaning of the act was made by a number of Quebec shoe manufacturers, who complained that the company, which holds the patents on modern shoe machinery, created an unlawful combination by refusing to sell its machinery, its policy being to lease it.

Police Mutiny Subsiding

LETHBRIDGE, Oct. 21.—(Gen. Press).—The Lethbridge police force are in good working shape again this afternoon. Several of the strikers have reconsidered their position and are back on duty today. Reinforcements arrived from Calgary this afternoon. Sergts. Brown and Geoghegan have been discharged.

MONK'S COURSE DUE TO PLEDGE

Favors No Vote of Any Sort, Asserts Nationalist Organ— Coderre's Claims Advanced.

MONTREAL, Oct. 21.—(Special).—The Nationalist are preparing the public for a denial on the part of the Hon. F. D. Monk that the ex-minister ever stated that he is favorable to an urgency vote and that his retirement is simply because of his pledge to the Province of Quebec.

Mr. Monk will be here tomorrow night, and this evening Le Devoir declares that the retiring minister does not favor an urgency vote or any other sort. It is understood that Mr. Monk will go south for a while.

This evening a group of St. Henri people left for Ottawa with the intention of urging the prime minister to take Louis Coderre, M.P., into the cabinet. Mayor Lavelle also has his friends, who are pushing his claims.

PREMIER SPEAKS THURSDAY NIGHT

Sir James Whitney Will Take Part in East Middlesex By- Election, Accompanied by W. J. Hanna.

Sir James Whitney and Hon. W. J. Hanna will go on the stump in support of Geo. W. Neely, the Conservative candidate, for East Middlesex. The premier and Mr. Hanna will speak to a mass meeting in Thorncliffe on Thursday night. The election takes place next Monday. Whether they will attend more than one meeting is indefinite.

N. W. Rowell, K.C., leader of the opposition, will also campaign in East Middlesex, and will hold his first meeting in Aldershot tonight. On account of the friction between the Liberals and the temperance reformers over the selection of the Liberal candidate, Mr. Sutherland, the campaign will be particularly warm one. Mr. Rowell, of course, will fight in support of his "abolish the bar" policy. Whether or not James Whitney will reply to some of the remarks of the leader of the opposition on his attitude toward temperance reform is uncertain.

PROVERBS FUN FOR CHILDREN

Young Folks Have Same Equal Chance at the $5000 in Prizes as the Grown-Ups.

Contestants in The World's Proverb Contest are cautioned not to pay any attention to unscrupulous persons who are advertising and otherwise offering to sell answers to the proverb pictures. These persons have absolutely no connection with The Toronto Daily and Sunday World, and it should be understood that they are merely contestants who are competing for the prizes, and at the same time attempting to make a little money on the side.

Mothers, fathers, school teachers, don't fail to encourage the children in The Toronto World's wholesome and healthful proverb contest. The proverb illustrations, which are so plainly and humorously depicted, will prove amusing and beneficial to the young minds. Think of the fun the youngsters can have in this great game of proverbs. THREAT TO KILL ELLIS UTTERED BY LEW PORTER ON NIGHT OF SHOOTING?

T. C. Robinette, K. C., Counsel for Man Accused of Porter's Murder, Will Seek Thru Daugh- ter of Ellis' Dead Wife, To Show That Deed Was in Self-Defence.

(By a Staff Reporter.)
LINDSAY, Oct. 21.—(Special).—Inspector John Miller of the provincial police, and Edith Porter, natural child of the deceased wife of Arthur A. Ellis, accused of the murder of Lew Porter near the Village of Minden on the night of April 25 last, will be the chief witnesses in the Ellis trial, which opens at the court house here tomorrow.

T. C. Robinette, K.C., of Toronto, counsel for the defence, expects these two to corroborate Ellis' story of self-defence by showing that Porter had threatened his life on the very night of the shooting and had threatened to burn his barn a year before. Mr. Robinette told The World today that he was making every effort to have a subpoena served upon the inspector calling on him to attend at the trial and to produce a letter written by the girl to Ellis a year ago in which she warned him that Porter had threatened to burn his buildings the first chance he got and also told of hearing him admit other outrages which he said he had already committed.

Porter's Last Threat

Mr. Robinette expects to prove by this girl that on the very night of the murder she heard Porter say, as he took his gun to leave his father's house, that he would stop Ellis talking to her if he had to shoot him, and that he expected to get him that night, as it was the third night he had been looking for him, and he would "have luck" that night.

This conversation is alleged to have taken place between Porter and his mother at his father's house just before he went upon his trip to visit his traps, from which he never returned. The mother gave him his gun, and tried hard to persuade him not to go out that night.

The letter which Mr. Robinette expects to play so important a part in corroborating his client's story, was left by the girl upon the path leading to Ellis' house about a year ago. It was signed by Wesley Housell, his neighbor, to whom he first confessed to the Porter killing. A copy was made of it, and it was sent to Dr. White at Kilmont and sent on to the attorney-general's department at Toronto.

Admitted Writing Letter

Inspector Miller visited the Porter house and saw the girl at the school house nearby, where she admitted having written the letter. Mr. Robinette has a copy of the letter, which reads as follows:

"I am writing to tell you not to go away from home. I heard Lew tell grandpa he would set fire to your buildings the first chance he got. I heard him say he shot, was (Housell) cold and set fire to Russe's camp. He took everything he wanted and hid them first. It was him that broke Thomas' scales. It was grandpa that poisoned your dogs last winter. He threw it off when we came past your place. After we were in the turn he came and walked to the top of the hill to see the dog dyink. I'll tell you all when I get a chance. (Signed) Edith."

True Bill Against Ellis

A true bill was returned by the grand jury this afternoon, putting Ellis upon his trial after they had spent three hours in hearing the evidence of Inspector Reburn of the provincial police and Constable Welch of Minden, the first law officers to hear Ellis' confession; Charles Wood, a farmer, who heard shots on the night of the murder; Wesley Housell, whom Ellis told of the shooting on the night he killed Porter, but who kept his confidence; and Mrs. Ann Jane Tripp.

The crown have another twenty-two witnesses, of whom the principal ones are those above named.

Justice Clute's Charge

Mr. Justice Clute, who is presiding at the assizes, where Edward Meredith, K.C., of London, is crown prosecutor, addressed the grand jury, telling them that, although there was but one indictment to come before them, it was a very important one, involving the crime of murder. He then carefully described the legal aspect of murder, differentiating it from manslaughter and justifiable homicide.

"If the evidence," said he, "shows that the man fired the shot intending to kill without good ground or cause, then he must be put upon his trial."

Pleaded Not Guilty

Ellis was arraigned after the grand jury had found the bill against him. He pleaded not guilty in a firm voice, although his hands worked nervously. He was taken back to the Hill Jail, which stands next the court house, where he had been closeted with Mr. Robinette, his counsel, for two hours during the afternoon.

Standing Reception

His excellency was given a standing reception, with cheers, when he arose to reply to Mr. Morrison and the club. "I am no longer a stranger in Toronto," he said, "as I have had the pleasure of being among you on several occasions. The sincere feeling shown towards me has touched me deeply." He spoke of his long tour thru the length and breadth of the Dominion, in which he had traveled in three months. It had given him an insight into the life of the Dominion, and had enabled him to hear the opinions of different men.

"I feel glad that no more loyal people than Canadians exist in the British Empire," was a sentence which evoked applause.

A Democratic Age.
"Of course, Canada is a democratic country."

HEAVY FIGHTING IMMINENT AT ADRIANOPLE

Bulgarian Army Prepare to Beleaguer Important Town, and Governor Issues Warn- ing to Residents—Successes of Allies Thus Far Not of Great Moment.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 1.—(Can. Press).—It is admitted here tonight that Bulgarians are established about 12 miles from Adrianople and that a big battle is imminent. The governor of Adrianople has issued a proclamation warning the residents to husband their food owing to the possibility of an investment of the town. He recommends those able to leave to do so.

It is announced that an important concentration of the Bulgarian forces has taken place at Koesendli, in the southeast of Bulgaria, the objective of which is doubtless the Struma Valley, which is the easiest road to the heart of Macedonia.

The Turkish Government tomorrow will issue a proclamation to the people of the European provinces in the shape of a reply to King Ferdinand's manifesto, exhorting the Moslems to good behavior and assuring the Christians that they have nothing to fear provided they remain loyal.

It is asserted that in the fighting around Elassona the Greeks lost 1000 killed.

WILY TURKS LURING THEM ON

LONDON, Oct. 21.—(Can. Press).—The war news is still the story of comparatively uninteresting small engagements involving in maneuvering for position while the Turkish and Balkan forces are assembling and preparing for big events.

When the allied states declared war it may be assumed that Turkey had by no means concentrated her troops. Moreover, Turkey was still hoping to detach Greece from the confederation. Her failure to do this undoubtedly necessitated some change in the strategic plans and she still needed time to reorganize her troops to the required positions, hence the failure of the small Turkish garrisons from numerous frontier posts is of no great significance. The Serbian army is steadily advancing and now has its headquarters at Vranja, in the movement against Ustika, from which position the Turks retired to the Town of Servia, where a big battle is expected shortly.

Sig Engagement Near

According to a Constantinople report an important battle is in progress at Adrianople, meanwhile the rival fleets are both active, the Greeks blockading the island of Lemnos and the Turks bombarding Kavarna and Varna. The report of the sinking of a Bulgarian torpedo boat is discredited at Constantinople, where it is stated that the Turkish warships in the Black Sea fired at torpedo boats, but the latter took refuge in port, the warships not venturing to follow for fear of mines.

The Greek consul at Cardiff, acting under instructions from his government, is laying claim to all the Greek tonnage entering the port. Every vessel so commandeered becomes the property of the Greek Government, and the captain, an officer of the Greek navy, ship owners have requested the British foreign office to protest against this procedure.

TURKS BOMBARD VILLAGES

SOPIA, Oct. 21.—(Can. Press).—After the bombardment of Kavarna one of the Turkish warships left in the direction of Balchik. Four others cruised along the coast between Kavarna and Kasloka, bombarding the villages. According to advices received late this evening Turkish warships also bombarded the barracks and monastery of Euxinograd, near Varna, which port they bombarded several days ago.

War Play is Interesting

The war-play, "The Little Rebel," with the popular actor William Farnum at the head of an admirable cast, opened a week's engagement at the Princess Theatre last night. It is a most interesting play and pleased a large audience last night.

Thanksgiving Coming

What about your fur garments? Thanksgiving is only a few days away and it marks the time for the real arrival of cold days and colder nights. The Eileen Company would like to have your order today because it will allow more time to devote to you, and besides you have a wide choice in the fur goods. There never was a better showing of genuine furs than that at 140 Yonge Street.
