stars of the stage and screen, accompanied by eight maids, mothers, chaperones, etc., and 33 pieces of baggage. It was the long overdue delegation of photoplay stars which had been on the way since 6 o'clock Sunday night, tumping snowdrifts in Northern New York and Canada, on the way to the opening of Loew's Theatre.

The sunrise was completely eclipsed by this brilliant galaxy of stars. Doraldina, who brought the Hawaiian dance to America, and is probably the best barefoot dancer in the world, was the first to step off the car. She was followed by June Caprice, a William Fox star, June Elvidge, the chief centre of attraction at the New York Winter Garden for five years and for the past five years head of her own picture company. She was the creator of the "vampire" role on the screen, and is said to possess the most marvelous wardrobe of any of the film favorites.

June and Cathryn Lee, aged 6 and 9 years, comprised the juvenile section of the party. Another important member was Anne Luther, She has been featured in several serials, and is noted for her death-defying stunts. Dolores Cossendant of the party of the party. NEW THEATRE MORE THAN COMES UP TO ALL EXPECTATIONS

Magnificence Is Beyond All Dreams of Even the Most Optimistic.

The opening last night of Loew's magnificent half-million dollar theatre marks an important milestone in the history of this city. Two thousand and six theatregoers of this city witnessed the realization of a dream of many fears—the adding of a large and thoroughly up-to-date playhouse to the number of splendid ones already located here.

The public of London anxiously waited for last night when it might see for the first time the splendor, and wonders that Dame Rumour asserted

On Hand.

The following is a summary of the eports made by agricultural representatives to the Ontario department of agriculture for last week:

Fall wheat is still well protected by snow, and growers are so far optimistic regarding the prospects of the crop. About the usual number of cattle are on hand. Farmers, however, are feeding carefully, and many of the animals are thinner than usual at this time of year, and some of the beef cattle are going to market rather unfinished. veal calves in Brant are commanding from 17 to 18 cents a pound, while ordi-are selling at from $150 to $200.

Fewer Swine.

There are fewer swine on hand, both feeding hogs and brood sows. Bacon hogs in Kent are quoted at $17.25 a cwt. Peel states that brood sows are fetching from $50 to $75 at sales. One representatives states that little pigs are selling at from $8 to $10 each at auction sales, which is more than the regular selling price on the market, and adds that auctioneers state that recent live stock prices have run about 20 per cent above the figures for 1919.

Farmers seem inclined to hold on to grain for their own use, and are feeding it sparingly in order to carry stock. oran for their own use, and are leeding it sparingly in order to carry stock over to the grass. PETER BIRTWISTLE GIVES ANNUAL CHRISTMAS DINNER

Old Folks of Waterside Again Enter tained by ex-London Jeweler.

The Colne and Nelson Times of January 2, 1920. Lancashire, England, contains the following account of the annual Christmas dinner given by Peter Birtwistle, formerly a jeweler of this

"For the fiftieth year in succession, the old folks of Waterside, Colne, were given a treat in Providence school on Christmas Day, through the generosity of Mr. Peter Birtwistle of London, Onof Mr. Feter Bittation of Water-tario, Canada, and formerly of Water-side. There were about 130 people present. An excellent tea was provided present. An excellent tea was provided and during the evening a capital miscellaneous program was given. John Hartley presided over the entertainment and moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Birtwistle for his generosity, which was seconded by R. Robinson, supported by T. Shaw, and heartily carried.

"Mr. Shaw, in the course of an interesting address, spoke in eulogistic terms of Mr. Birtwistle's thoughtfulness in maintaining such a pleasant annual of Mr. Birtwistle's thoughtfulness in maintaining such a pleasant annual event. He said there was something deeper tha nthe monetary, aspect of these gatherings. He did not think Mr. Birtwistle viewed these gatherings in the light of what they cost in dollars and cents, but more in the sense of keeping alive the fraternal spirit among the old people of Waterside, by enabling them to meet together and exchange their greetings and remember old friendships. He was proud to have been born in Waterside. He had traveled extensively but he had never found a better spirit wherever he had gone, than he had found in Waterside. They were always ready to help one another in
