following facts, which appear to me to be clearly proven.

There was in his ancestral stock a substantial, but not very strong, trace of insanity. By "not very strong" is meant the fact that no one of his direct ancestors was ever insane. As a young shild he was physically weak and puny. child he was physically weak and puny, exceedingly, nervous and abnormally wakeful. Older, he was subject to vio-

killing the dragon." "Upon my own personal observation of the conduct of Thaw, his actions and speech in the court-room, both on and off the witness stand, I have been impressed that he is now of unsound mind," says Justice Mills. "He was exceedingly nervous and very frequently interrupted his counsel with suggestions. Upon his examination it became swident, even by his own admission, that he holds his former beliefs as to the evil practices of White, just as extremely and just as strongly as ever. If those beliefs constituted delusions in his mind when he committed the homicide, they are the same now. The enlargement of Harry K. Thaw now would be dangerous to the public peace and safety, and therefore cannot be permitted."

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Aug. 12.—
The State of New York won a complete wictory over Harry K. Thaw to-day when justice Issae N. Mills decided that the slayer of Stanfred White is still insane and sent him back to the criminal in same asylum at Matteawan.
Not one of the many contentions made by Thaw during the three weeks of his recent hearing was sustained, but Justice Mills practically orders that Thaw at Matteawan be restored to the privileges he enjoyed during the first three months of his stay there, and that his mother be allowed all possible privileges when she calls to see him.

Thaw received the news with slight display of emotion, apparently expecting an adverse decision. A copy of the quurt's decision was handed to him. He read it without comment util the came to the following sentence: "If those beliefs constituted delusions in his mind when he committed the homicide the purified set was a cloud of smoke. Justice Mills draws the following conclusion." The workers are very enture in the same now."

"That's not so," he said, and marked the lines with his pencil.

Thaw was smoking a pipe and as he read he purified set with his pencil.
