Obstructionists Discomfited. This declaration was loudly cheered by the Liberal members, and the discomfiture of the obstructionists was complete. As a matter of fact, the exchequer court bill was introduced later in the session and passed. As further indicating the irascibility of the Opposition there was a sharp clash between Mr. Foster and Mr. Jackson, of Selkirk. The former had charged Mr. Cyr, the member for Proencher, who is absent on account of ill-health, with having secured his election by fraudulent means, and when Mr. Jackson attempted to read letter from Mr. Cyr, denying the aregations in vigorous terms, the memper for North Toronto appealed to the Speaker for protection, which was granted. As the result of the truce, several bills, including the bill respecting the board of railway commissioners, and, as already stated, the exchequer court bill, were passed. POPLAR HILL BRIDGE

Was Awarded to the Petrolea Bridge Company. The Petrolea Bridge Company has been awarded the contract for the Poplar Hill bridge, at figures approximating $1,000. The question of awarding a contract for this structure created considerable discussion at the recent session of the county council. At that time it was recommended that the Petrolea Company receive the contract, but Councilor Turnbull objected on the ground that the company, could not see its way clear to complete the job before August, which meant a serious handicap to farmers desiring to use the bridge in the meantime. County Engineer Talbot was finally, instructed to communicate with the company, and as a result it was learned that the bridge could be erected by June 15.

The contract for the Guest bridge will be let the first Wednesday in June, when the county meets.
