

Rebellion in China.
The Chinese Empire is now the theatre of a rebellion, embracing, at present, it is believed, a majority of its three hundred millions—a number equal to one-third of the population of the globe.

Very little doubt exists that the Tartar dynasty—the present government—will be overthrown, and with it will go the barriers to a free intercourse of the Celestials with all the nations of the earth.

When once China is open to the world, changes in her whole character, policy, and religion must follow; especially under a Government desirous to introduce a religion approaching to the religion of the Bible.

The British Banner, of May, has a long article full of interest on the bearing of this "great rebellion" upon Christian missions, and its editor is inspired with great zeal, calling upon British Christians to prepare to flood China with Bibles, and to give hundreds or thousands of missionaries to teach the people the gospel of Christ.

Rev. Dr. Medhurst, of Shanghai, has transmitted a curious document (translated by him) entitled "A Religious Proclamation," issued by two leaders of the insurgent Chinese forces. It is supposed that the writer has been a member of Gutzlaff's Christian Union, though it is not thought that Gutzlaff, in his lifetime, had any share in exciting the present movement. It may be, however, that some of his pupils have not been simply observers of the preparations for a great change now being effected.—N. Y. Recorder.

PROCLAMATION.
"Yang, entitled the Eastern King, and General-in-Chief, with Seou, entitled the Western King, also General-in-Chief of Thaping, by Divine appointment Emperor of Theenkwo, the celestial dynasty, untidely issue this proclamation, to announce that they have received the commands of Heaven to slay the emps and save the people. According to the Old Testament, the great God (Shang-te) our Heavenly Father, in six days created the heavens and earth, the land and sea, men and things. The great God is a spiritual Father, a ghostly Father, omniscient, omnipotent, and omnipresent; all nations under heaven are acquainted with his great power. In tracing up the records of by-gone ages, we find that since the time of the creation of the world, the great God has frequently manifested his displeasure, and how can it be that you people of the world are still ignorant of it? The great God in the first instance displayed his anger, and sent down a great rain during forty days and forty nights, by which means the flood was produced.

"On a second occasion the great God manifested his displeasure, and came down to save Israel out of the land of Egypt. On a third occasion he displayed his awful majesty, when the Saviour of the world, the Lord Jesus, became incarnate in the land of Judea, and suffered for the redemption of mankind. In later ages he has again manifested his indignation, and in the Ting-yew year (A. D. 1837) the great God sent a celestial messenger, who was commissioned by the Lord of heaven, when he ascended on high, to put to death the fiendish king to take the lead of the empire, and save the people; from the Mowshian to the Sinhuo year (A. D. 1848-51) the great God has compassionated the calamities of the people, who have been entangled in the meshes of the Devil's net; on the third moon of the latter year the exalted Lord and great Emperor appeared; and in the ninth moon, Jesus, the Saviour of the world manifested himself, exerting innumerable acts of power, and slaughtering a great number of impish fiends in several pitched battles. For how can impish fiends expect to resist the majesty of Heaven? and how, we would ask, can the great God fail to be displeased with men for worshiping corrupt spirits, and performing corrupt actions, by which means they grievously offend against the commands of Heaven? Why do not you inhabitants of the world awake? Having been born in the present day, when you are permitted to witness the glory of God, how fortunate may you esteem yourselves! Happening upon such a time as this, when you experience the great tranquility of the days of heaven, it is time for you to awake and arouse.

"Those who comply with the will of Heaven will be preserved, and those who disobey the celestial dictates will be destroyed. At the present time, the Tartar fiend, Heen-fung, originally a Manchow slave, is the perpetual enemy of our Chinese race; moreover, he has induced men to assume the form of fiends, to worship the corrupt, while they disobey the true Spirit, and thereby rebel against the great God, on whom account Heaven will not endure, and men are determined to destroy him. Alas! you assemblage of valiant men, you do not seem to know that every tree has its roots and every stream its fountain; while you appear willing to invert the order of things, coveting the smallest advantage, you turn round and serve your foes; and having been entangled in the machinations of the Evil One, you ungratefully rebel against your true Lord. You do not seem to remember that you are the virtuous scholars of the middle kingdom and honest subjects of the celestial dynasty, and thus you easily bend your steps in the road to ruin, without compassionating your own selves. Moreover, you valiant men are many of you adherents of the Triad Society, and have entered into a bloody compact that you will exert your united strength and talents to exterminate the Tartar dynasty. Who ever heard of men joining in a solemn covenant, and then turning their backs upon their foes? Now, throughout the different provinces there must be a variety of determined men, numbers of famous scholars, and of valiant heroes not a few; we desire, therefore, that you may severally elevate the lofty standard, and announce that you are determined not to live under the same heaven as the Tartars, while you earn for yourselves some merit in the service of our new king; this is what we, his generals, most fervently desire. Our army, wishing to carry out the virtuous feelings with which the great God loves to foster human life, and receives forward on its charitable embrace, has set forth on its march of benevolence, embracing all in its charitable folds. At the same time we lead forward our generals and troops, carrying to the utmost our fidelity in reconquering our country, in which we cannot refrain from displaying the same spirit to the end. These our views are now communicated to you. You ought to know, that since Heaven has sent forth the true sovereign to rule over the people, it is yours to aid the monarch in establishing his dominion. Although the devilish fiends should amount to thousands, and their artful schemes to thousands, yet how could they withstand Heaven? To kill without warning would not be agreeable to our feelings, and to sit still without saving the people, is not what a benevolent person would do; we therefore earnestly issue the special proclamation, urging you people early to repent and vigorously to awake. Worship the true Spirit, and reject corrupt spirits; become men once more, and be no longer fiends, when perhaps you may attain longevity here, and the happiness of heaven hereafter. But if you still persevere in your obstinate stupidity, both men and stones will be alike demolished; and then, when you come to gnaw your own navels, it will be too late to repent. A special proclamation."

From the wonderful movement in China within the last two or three years, in the emigration of her scores of thousands to California, New-Australia, and elsewhere, it is evident that Providence has some mighty changes to effect through and upon this great people.

Singular Discovery.
There is nothing new under the sun. The American coffin which attracted so much attention at the Great Exhibition of 1851, and which, by producing the vacuum by means of the air-pump, was thought to be an entirely new method of preserving corpses from decay, has been just proved to have been known in the middle ages. While demolishing a short time ago, the old church of the ancient Welch College at Helmsstedt, near Brunswick, a coffin made of lead, the lid of which was of glass of immense thickness, contained the body of a young girl, apparently about twelve years of age, which still preserved every appearance of youth and freshness, although the coffin bore date 1461. A private letter from a bystander tells us that—

"The face and figure of the child were perfect as in life, not a single sign of decay being visible throughout the whole person. The cheek preserved its delicate rose tint—the forehead its snowy whiteness. The hair, which was of a beautiful gold color, was parted on the brow, and fell in long ringlets over the bosom, crisp and fresh as though the child had lain down to sleep the moment before. The dress of white satin embroidered in gold flowers, the shoes of white velvet, the lace apron, all seemed bright as if newly purchased; and more astonishing still the bunch of lilies held in the hand of the corpse still looked as fresh and moist as though the dew still hung upon it. The workmen engaged in the demolition of the building were struck with awe, and immediately went in quest of the chief magistrate of the place, who soon arrived on the spot, accompanied by several of the inhabitants. Unfortunately, the worthy functionary having recently been made the victim of a practical joke in the town, and being half suspicious that the same thing was intended, would not believe in the reality, and, seizing a spade from the hand of one of the workmen who stood near, dealt a heavy blow upon the lid of the coffin, and smashed one or two of the diamond shaped panes of glass of which it was composed. In a moment, and while yet we gazed, a thin cloud of dust or vapor, like a wreath of smoke, rose up from the coffin and dimmed the sight, veiling the corpse from our view. When it had disappeared, we gazed downwards in awe; nothing remained of what had struck us with so much interest and wonder; all had vanished, and left naught behind but a heap of discolored dust, a few rays of tinsel, and one or two dry bones!"

The rage and despair of Herr W., the great antiquary and savant of the place, knew no bounds. He did his best to collect the fragments that remained, and that same evening the coffin was conveyed to Brunswick, where it will no doubt form one of the greatest ornaments of the museum. There appears no doubt that the high preservation of the corpse had been produced by the abstraction of all air from the coffin; and it is supposed that the child belonged to some great Professor of the University, who had performed the experiment in secret; as it is curious that, amid all the pains and care concerning the body of the child, no means should have been taken to preserve her name from oblivion. No name is engraved upon the coffin, not even her initials—nothing but the date of the year in which she died or was buried (1461)—London Atlas.

A Hint to Farmers.
The Maine Farmer gives the following pertinent paragraph on the importance of the proper care of stock:
"We may send to England for Durham cows, or to Spain or Saxony for the choicest sheep; we may search the world over for cattle that please the eye; but unless they receive the best care and liberal feeding, they will most assuredly deteriorate, and eventually become as worthless and unworthy of propagation as any of the skeleton breeds that now haunt our rich but neglected pasture lands. We remember an anecdote in point, and will relate it by way of illustration. A farmer having purchased a cow from a country abounding in the richest pasturage, upon taking her to his own inferior pastures, found that she fell short of the yield which he was informed she was accustomed to give. He complained to the gentleman of whom he had purchased that the cow was not the one he bargained for, or, in other words, that she was not what she was 'cracked up to be.'
"Why," said the seller, "I sold you my cow, but did not sell you my pasture too."
The above, which we cut from an exchange, reminds us of the reply which a shrewd old farmer, whom we knew many years ago, made to one of his neighbors. The latter had obtained some pigs of a man residing some miles off, and who, because intelligent, particularly surpassed his neighbors in raising. Shortly after, meeting the old gentleman referred to, he says, "Well, Mr. Sweetser, I'm going to beat you in raising hogs this year; I have got some of J. M.'s breed."
"A-a-h," drawled out the old man, "you'd better get the breed of his hog trough!"

Neutralizing Offensive Odors.
The North British Agriculturist furnishes a statement of Lindsey Blyth, in relation to a very successful experiment for destroying the most offensive smell in a stable, arising from the decomposition of urine and dung. He tried the mixture of Epsom salts and plaster of Paris (gypsum); "the most wonderful effects followed; the stable keeper was delighted, previously, the stable was damp and unwholesome; and if closed for a few hours, the animal vapors were suffocating. After sprinkling the sulphates underneath the straw, and along the channel of the drain, the smell disappeared, and even the walls became drier. He recommends as an economical preparation for this purpose, and for sewers, magnesia limestone dissolved in sulphuric acid, (forming sulphate of magnesia or epsom salts,) with a portion of super-phosphate of lime, (made by dissolving bones in sulphuric acid,) these, at the same time that they retain the escaping ammonia, also add greatly by their own presence to the value of the manure.

To Cure Wounds in Fruit Trees.
The following directions were published by William Forsyth, King's Gardener in England many years ago, and have often been found valuable:—"Take one bushel of fresh cow-dung, half a bushel of lime rubbish from old buildings—that from the ceiling of rooms is preferable—half a bushel of wood ashes, and two quarts of fine sand. The three last articles to be sifted fine, and then mixed with the first, working them together until the mixture is very smooth and soft, like plaster." The tree is to be prepared by carefully removing all decayed or injured portions down to the sound, fresh wood, leaving the surface smooth, and rounding off the edge of the bark very smooth. After this, the above plaster is to be spread very carefully and smoothly over the cut surface, and somewhat beyond. The plaster should be from an eighth to half an inch thick, and smoothly and thinly finished off at the edges. After the plaster has been spread, it should be dusted over with a mixture of four parts of dry ashes to one part of fine sand, once in twenty or thirty minutes, until the moisture is all absorbed, and there is a smooth dry surface.

To Preserve Eggs for One Year.—One pint quick lime, one of salt, to three gallons water; no care is needed in putting in the eggs, as they will be right end up, and will settle just below the surface, if proportioned right. This is an old and good receipt.

Holloway's PILLS.
CURE OF A DISORDERED LIVER AND BAD DIGESTION.
Copy of a Letter from Mr. R. W. Kitchin, Chemist, 7 Prescott Street, Liverpool, dated 6th June, 1851.

Dr. J. C. Holloway's Pills have stood the highest on our sale list of Proprietary Medicines for some years. A customer, to whom I can refer for any enquiries, desires me to let you know the particulars of her case. She had been troubled for years with a disordered liver, and had digestion. On the last occasion, however, the violence of the attack was so alarming, and the inflammation set in so severely, that she was entertained at her not being able to bear up under it; fortunately she was induced to try your pills, and she felt great relief. She continued to succeed in due time, and after the first, and each time she took them, she had great relief. She is now in the enjoyment of perfect health, and could have sent you many more cases, but she above, from the severity of the attack, and the speedy cure, I think, speaks more in favor of your sustaining Pills. (Signed) R. W. KITCHIN, Chemist, 7 Prescott Street, Liverpool, dated 6th June, 1851.

She continued to succeed in due time, and after the first, and each time she took them, she had great relief. She is now in the enjoyment of perfect health, and could have sent you many more cases, but she above, from the severity of the attack, and the speedy cure, I think, speaks more in favor of your sustaining Pills. AN EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF RHEUMATISM, FEVER, IN VAN DIEMEN'S LAND.
Copy of a Letter inserted in the London-Town Courier, dated 1st March, 1851, by Major J. G. Cole.
Margaret M'Connell, nineteen years of age, residing in New Town, had been suffering from a violent rheumatic fever for upwards of two months, which had entirely deprived her of the use of her limbs, and she was unable to move from the care of the most eminent medical men in Hobart Town, and by them her case was considered hopeless. A friend presented her with a box of your Holloway's Pills, which she commenced to take, and in an incredible short space of time they effected perfect cure.

CURE OF A PAIN AND TIGHTNESS IN THE CHEST AND STOMACH OF A PERSON 61 YEARS OF AGE.
From Messrs. Thom & Son, Proprietors of the Lyn Advertiser, who can vouch for the following statement.—August 2nd, 1851.
To Professor Holloway,
Sir—I desire to bear testimony to the good effects of Holloway's Pills, for some years I suffered from a pain and tightness in the stomach which was also accompanied by a shortness of breath, that prevented me from walking about. I am 61 years of age, and notwithstanding my advanced state of life, these Pills have so relieved me, that I am desirous that others should be made acquainted with their virtues. I am now rendered by their means, comparatively active, and I can take exercise without inconvenience or pain, which I could not do before. (Signed) HENRY COE, North Street, Lynn, Norfolk.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF THE GRAVEL, AND A MOST PAINFUL URIC ACID COMPLAINT.
Copy of a Letter addressed to A. K. Hopley, Esq., 84 New South Wales, dated Feb. 23rd, 1851.
Sir—A Mr. Thomas Clark, a Settler at Lake George, was for a considerable time seriously afflicted with a complaint of the Liver, together with the Gravel. His medical attendants, after trying all their skill, candidly told him that his case was hopeless, and any further efforts useless. In this situation, and when expecting every day would terminate his existence, a friend recommended him to try Holloway's Pills, which, as a further hope he did so, they gave him considerable relief. He therefore persevered in taking them according to the directions, and in no restored condition. He will feel great pleasure in confirming this statement, or even make an affidavit to the same effect, should it be required. (Signed) WILLIAM JONES, Proprietor of the Goulburn Herald, New South Wales.
